

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

I.

ORGANIZATION—ELECTIONS.

1. At the elections in the House, the voting shall be  viva voce, and the vote recorded in the journal, and only one person shall be chosen at a time. If on the first voting no one receives a majority, the person having the smallest number of votes shall not be voted for on the next trial, and so on until some one shall receive a majority of the whole vote. If the election be by joint vote of the two houses, messages shall be exchanged for each voting announcing the names of persons in nomination. A committee of three from each house shall compare the votes and ascertain and report the result.

THE SPEAKER.

2. The House of Delegates shall choose its own speaker. The speaker may call any member to the chair, who shall exercise its functions for the time; but no member, by virtue of such appointment, shall preside for a longer time than three days. During such substitution the speaker may participate in the debates. If the speaker be absent, and have named no one to act in his stead, the duties shall be performed by the chairman of one of the standing committees, taking precedence in the order in which the committees are named in Rule 16.

3. The speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the House to order, and a quorum being present, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read. Any mistakes in the entries shall, upon motion, then be corrected, and being found correct, shall be signed by the speaker and the clerk, and upon the last day of the session, the journal for that day being examined and found correct, shall be signed by the speaker and the clerk, and the said journals, when so signed, shall be the authentic record of the proceedings of the House.

4. The speaker shall have power to supervise and correct the journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall, with power, in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in such part thereof as may be appropriated to spectators, to have the same cleared. Stenographers and reporters for the press, wishing to take down the proceedings of the House, may be admitted by the speaker, who shall assign them to such places on the floor as shall not interfere with the convenience of members.

5. All acts and joint resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution shall be signed by the speaker; and all writs and warrants issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

THE CLERK.

6. A clerk shall be elected by the House, and shall be deemed to continue in office until another is chosen. He shall appoint an assistant clerk, an enrolling clerk, a journal clerk, a reading clerk, the janitors for the hall and offices, and shall, subject to the approval of the speaker, appoint the six committee clerks provided for by law. He shall be charged with the whole clerical business of the House and its committees, and shall see that the committee clerks discharge properly the duties required of them by the several committees to which they are assigned, and that, when not so employed, they render such assistance as may be required to other committees and in the business of the House. The several clerks and janitors may be removed by the clerk of the House, with the approval of the speaker, and the committee clerks shall be so removed upon the request of the committees to which they are severally assigned.

7. The clerk shall perform all the duties of his office under the direction of the speaker. He shall keep a journal of the proceedings of the House, and shall have the same in proper form to be signed as provided by Rule 3, and shall submit it daily to the speaker in time to be examined before the next assembling of the House. He shall keep at the clerk's table, during the sittings of the House, a calendar or docket so arranged as to show the condition and progress of the business of the House, which said calendar shall be printed each day and laid on the desk of each member at the opening of the session. He shall have printed and placed on the desk of each member, before the assembling of the House each day, a list of all bills offered on the preceding day, under Rule 37, with the names of the patrons, titles of the bills and the committees to which the same have been referred.

8. He shall keep accounts of the compensation of the members and officers of the House, and shall from time to time certify the same to the auditor. He shall provide the stationery required for the business of his office and of the House and for the use of the members during the session; but the amount furnished to each member shall not exceed in value five dollars a session. The claims shall be certified for payment as provided by law. He shall keep detailed accounts of all these transactions in a book to be provided for the purpose, which shall be at all times open to inspection by members of the House.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

9. A sergeant-at-arms shall be elected by the House, and shall continue in office during its pleasure. He shall have as his assistants two doorkeepers, who shall be elected by the House, and ten pages, to be appointed by the speaker, who shall receive as compensation one-half the amount provided by law for a doorkeeper.

10. He shall, with his assistants, attend upon the House during its sittings, and shall execute its commands, together with all such process, issued by its authority, as shall be directed to him by the speaker.

11. He shall, under the direction of the speaker, have charge of the police of the hall, and shall prevent any interruption of the business of the House by disorder within or without. He shall distribute among the members all papers printed for their use, and shall give such attendance upon them during the sittings of the House as will promote their comfort and facilitate the business of the House.

12. He shall procure for the members, when required, certificates for pay and mileage, and, at their request and upon their endorsement, shall collect and pay over to those entitled the money due upon such certificates.

13. He shall attend to receiving and dispatching all mail or telegraphic matter intended for or sent by members, and shall make such arrangement therefor as to promote the convenience of the members.

16. At the beginning of each regular session there shall be appointed standing committees, to consist of not less than nine nor more than thirteen members (except the committees on finance, appropriations, roads and internal navigation, and agriculture and mining, shall consist of seventeen members each), as follows:

These committees, when acting with like committees from the Senate, shall constitute the joint committee on confirmation, the "library committee," the "committee on printing," the "committee on special, private and local legislation," and the "auditing committee," provided for by law and the Constitution, but in all other respects the library committee and the committee on printing shall act as committees of the House.

20. Any committee of the House may, at their discretion, confer with a committee of the Senate having under consideration the same subject. No select committee shall be appointed to consider any subject falling properly within the province of a standing committee.

21. After the minimum number required for any committee has been appointed, the speaker may from time to time, at his discretion, fill it up to the maximum allowed by the rules, which shall in no case be exceeded.

22. Five members of any committee, or a majority, if less than five, shall constitute a quorum. Each committee shall appoint its own regular meetings; and it shall be the duty of a committee to meet on a call of any two of its members, if the chairman be absent or decline to appoint such meeting; but no committee shall sit during the sitting of the House without special leave.

23. The several standing committees shall not only consider and report upon the matters specially referred to them, but shall, whenever practicable, suggest such legislation as will provide upon general principles for all similar cases. And it shall be the duty of each committee to inquire into the condition and administration of the laws relating to the subjects which they have in charge; to investigate the conduct and look to the responsibility of all public officers and agents concerned, and to suggest such measures as will correct abuses, protect the public interests and promote the public welfare.

24. Committees shall in all cases report by bill or resolution in such form that, if passed or agreed to, it will carry into effect their recommendation. Every such bill shall be printed; but no papers returned therewith shall be printed unless the committee shall so recommend. Bills may be considered in executive session, but final vote thereon shall be in open session; notice of the time of taking such vote shall be given.

COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE.

25. When the House shall go into the committee of the whole, the speaker may vacate the chair and call some member to preside in committee; the other officers shall attend and the rules of the House shall be observed and enforced in committee, as far as applicable, except that the previous question shall not be ordered.

26. If the committee arise before the consideration of the subject referred is concluded, the same shall be reported back and have its place in order as unfinished business of the House. When it shall be again reached in order, unless it be otherwise disposed of, the House, after making such orders as it may deem proper in relation to the business before the committee, shall stand again resolved into the committee of the whole, and so on until the business therein be disposed of.

27. Nothing shall be in order in the committee of the whole except such matters as may be especially referred to it by the House.

32. Upon the roll of the House the names of the members shall in all cases be arranged and called in alphabetical order, except that the speaker shall be called last.

33. Upon a call of the House the names of the members shall be first called over by the clerk and the absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall be again called over; the doors shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made may, by order of those present, if ten in number, be taken in custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody, wherever to be found, by the sergeant-at-arms or his assistants, or by special messengers to be appointed for that purpose.

34. When a member shall be discharged from custody, and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without payment of fees and expenses.

37. Members having petitions, memorials, resolutions or bills to present may, at any time, hand them to the clerk, endorsed with their names, and the reference or disposition desired. 40. Reports of committees may be handed to the clerk at any time. He shall endorse upon them the time at which they are received, and place them upon the speaker's table, to be disposed of in the morning hour. If, in the judgment of the speaker, any report of a committee requires immediate action, he may bring it to the attention of the House at any time.

After the reading and signing of the journal, one hour, to be called the morning hour, shall be devoted to the dispatch of business upon the speaker's table and to resolutions presented under Rule 39. The business on the speaker's table shall be disposed of in such order as the speaker shall deem best, except as may be herein otherwise provided, or as the House may at any time order.

42. The annual message of the Governor shall be laid before the House as soon as it is received. It shall be printed for the use of the House, and shall be considered by the several standing committees without any special order therefor.

43. All other messages from the Governor shall, unless the House otherwise order, be referred by the speaker to the proper committees. And the same rule shall be observed as to reports and communications from other public officers.

44. Bills and joint resolutions sent from the Senate shall be referred by the speaker to the proper committees. All other messages from the Senate shall, unless the House otherwise order, be referred by the speaker to the proper committees.

45. All bills reported from committees shall be transferred at once to the calendar in the order in which they are reported. Those reported for the first time shall be numbered in the order in which they were handed to the clerk, and transferred to the calendar.

46. All other reports from committees shall be considered and disposed of in the order in which the speaker shall present them, unless the House shall in any case otherwise direct.

47. A member presenting a resolution under Rule 39 shall be allowed five minutes in which to explain his wishes in relation to it; after which the question on referring to a standing committee shall be taken without debate. If the House refuses to refer, the resolution shall be considered and disposed of.

48. Printing recommended by committees under Rule 24 shall be ordered by the speaker, unless the House shall otherwise direct. Under such order no more copies of any document shall be printed than is provided by law; nor shall more than two hundred and thirty copies be printed of any bill, resolution, petition or memorial without the special order of the House.

THE CALENDAR.

49. At the expiration of the morning hour, or sooner if the business of the morning hour has been disposed of, the House shall proceed to consider bills and joint resolutions upon the calendar, in the following order:

- 1st. House bills on their first reading.
- 2nd. Senate bills on their first reading.
- 3rd. Pending motions to reconsider, relating to business proper for the calendar.

50. It shall be the duty of the clerk to see that the printing and engrossing, when ordered, shall be done in such time that the bills, etc., may be acted upon according to their priorities upon the calendar. If, however, any bill, etc., shall not be ready when it is reached upon the calendar, it shall be passed by, and be allowed to retain its place upon the calendar.

51. When the calendar has been called through, it may be called again in order to dispose of any business that may be ready, and if there be none such the business of the morning hour shall be resumed and disposed of; but the business of the calendar shall in no case be allowed to interfere with that of the morning hour without the unanimous consent of the members present.

52. The regular order of business herein established shall not be changed, nor shall any special order be made, except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present; but a majority may postpone the calendar, not exceeding one day at a time, or may pass by any subject coming up in order, without changing its place, or may agree to a joint order with the Senate, or may postpone or discharge any special order.

V.

CONDUCT OF BUSINESS—ORDER AND DECORUM.

53. The speaker shall preserve order and decorum; may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the House. If the decision relates to a question of decorum or propriety of conduct; it shall not be debatable; if it relate to the propriety of business, or the relevancy or applicability of propositions, the appeal may be debated, but no member shall speak on it more than once, except by leave of the House.

54. When a member rises to speak he shall respectfully address, "Mr. Speaker," standing in his place; he shall confine himself strictly to the question before the House, and when he has finished he shall sit down.

55. When two or more members rise at the same time, the speaker shall name the person to speak, but in all cases the member who shall first rise and address the chair shall speak first.

56. Every motion or proposition shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the speaker or any member, and shall be delivered in at the clerk's table to be there read; and the question shall be stated by the chair before the same shall be debated. When the reading of any paper in possession of the House, and not being the precise matter upon which the House is acting, is called for, and objection is made by any member, the question shall be determined by a vote of the House without debate. Any motion or proposition may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before a decision, amendment, or other action of the body upon it, except a motion to reconsider, which shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

57. No member shall in debate use any language or gesture calculated to wound, offend or insult another member.

58. If any member, in speaking, transgress the rules of the House, the speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member called to order shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted to explain. If there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not proceed, except by leave of the House. For flagrant or repeated violations of order, especially if persisted in after the admonition of the speaker, a member shall be liable to the censure of the House.

59. If any member be called to order by another member for words spoken, the words excepted to shall be immediately taken down in writing, in order that the speaker and House may be better able to judge the matter.

60. No member shall, while the House is sitting, interrupt or hinder its business by standing up, leaving his place, moving about the hall, engaging in conversation, expressing approval or disapproval of any of the proceedings, or by any other conduct tending to disorder and confusion.

61. In any one debate upon the same question, no member shall speak more than once till all others have spoken who desire to do so, nor more than twice, without the consent of a majority of the members present.

ASCERTAINING THE QUESTION.

62. If the question for decision include several distinct propositions, any member may have the same divided; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be so divided; nor shall a motion to strike out, being lost, preclude either amendment or a motion to strike out and insert. In filling blanks, the question shall be put first upon the largest sum and the longest time. No motion or proposition, or subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

63. When a question is before the House, no motion shall be received unless specially provided for, except to adjourn, to pass by, to lay upon the table, to postpone for a specified time or purpose, to commit or amend, to dismiss; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. If the motion to pass by, or to lay upon the table, or to postpone, shall prevail, a motion to print shall be in order before proceeding to the consideration of another subject, but shall be decided without debate.

64. Upon the motion to pass by, the mover shall be allowed two minutes to state the reason for his motion, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to object. The motion to lay upon the table, for the previous question, and for the pending question, shall not be debated; nor shall debate be allowed on a motion to take up a subject from the table, or to reconsider any question which was not debatable. When a question not debatable is before the House, all incidental questions arising, after it is stated to the House, shall be decided and settled, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate; and the same rule shall apply to incidental questions arising after any question is put to the House.

PENDING AND PREVIOUS QUESTIONS.

65. Pending a debate, any member who obtains the floor for that purpose only, and submits no other motion or remark, may move for the "previous question" or the "pending question," and in either case the motion shall be forthwith put to the House. Two-thirds of the members present shall be required to order the main question; but a majority may require an immediate vote upon the pending question, whatever it may be.

66. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question now be put?" If carried, its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if pending; then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. If upon the motion for the previous question, the main question be not ordered, debate may continue as if the motion had not been made.

TAKING THE VOTE.

67. The speaker shall rise to put the question, but may state it sitting. Questions shall be distinctly put in the following form, viz.: "As many as agree that, etc. (as the question may be), say Aye;" and after the affirmative vote is given, "Those opposed say No." If the speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the House shall divide, those in the affirmative of the question rising first from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative. If required, the speaker shall cause the result to be ascertained by a count.

68. The yeas and nays on any question may be called for at any time before proceeding to another question or proposition, but being once refused, they shall not be again demanded on the same question; and any member shall have a right to vote at any time before the decision is announced by the chair.

69. Upon a division of the House on any question, a member who is present and fails to vote shall, on the demand of any member, be counted on the negative of the question; and when the yeas and nays are taken shall, in addition, be entered on the journal as present and not voting. But no member who has an immediate and special personal interest in the result of the question shall either vote or be counted upon it.

RECONSIDERATION.

70. When a question has been decided, it may be reconsidered on the motion of any member who voted with the prevailing side; provided, it be made on the same day or within the next two days of actual session. The motion may be entered as a matter of privilege, and shall take precedence of everything except special orders and other questions of privilege, and be disposed of in the morning hours or with the calendar, as the case may be. All motions to reconsider shall be decided by a majority of the votes of the members present.

BILLS, ETC.

71. Every bill shall be read at length on three different calendar days in the House previous to its being passed, and it shall be distinctly announced at each reading whether it is the first, second or third time.

72. The first reading of a bill shall be for information merely, and it shall go to second reading without a question.

73. Upon the second reading of a bill, it shall be open to amendment or commitment, or to any of the motions provided for in Rule 63, and the final question shall be, "Whether it shall be engrossed and read a third time?"

74. A bill ordered to be engrossed shall not have its third reading until the engrossment is actually and properly done; but, in the case of a Senate bill, the engrossment shall only apply to such amendments as may have been made in the House.

75. No amendment to a House bill shall be received upon its third reading by way of rider or otherwise; and no amendment involving an additional appropriation shall be added to the general appropriation bill, unless to carry into effect an existing law, or unless it receives the vote required to pass the bill itself. But a bill may at any time before its passage be committed or recommitted, and when reported back shall be placed on the calendar, and if amended shall, whether on its second or third reading, be engrossed, as may be necessary.

76. On the third reading of a bill, the question shall be, "Shall the bill pass?"

77. The title of a bill, and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by the proposed amendments, shall be entered upon the journal.

WITHDRAWAL OF EXHIBITS.

78. Original papers filed as exhibits with any bill or petition may be withdrawn by the patron, or upon his order, on his leaving attested copies, for which he shall pay the clerk at the rate provided by law for other copies made by him.

MESSAGES.

79. It shall be the duty of the clerk, without any special order therefor, to communicate to the Senate any action of the House upon business coming from the Senate, or upon matters requiring the concurrence of that body; but no such communication shall be made in relation to any action of the House while it remains open for consideration.

MANUAL AND RULES.

80. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the rules of the House, and such joint rules as are, or may from time to time be established by the two houses of the General Assembly.

81. The rules of the House may be suspended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by an actual division of the House, except as prohibited by the Constitution; provided, that a motion to discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill shall require a majority of those voting, which shall include two-fifths of the members elected to the House, the vote thereon to be taken by yeas and nays, and recorded in the journal, and provided further, that a motion to dispense with the printing and reading of a bill, or either, shall not be entertained, except as provided by the Constitution. But a proposition to change a rule of the House shall be submitted in writing and forthwith printed. In its printed form it shall lie upon the speaker's table for five days and be read to the House during the morning hour of each day during that time. At the expiration of five days it shall be ready for consideration, and may be adopted or rejected by a majority vote of the members present; provided, that as to all resolutions or bills which involve an appropriation or expenditure of money by the Commonwealth, or which may create a charge upon the treasury, the rules of the House shall not be changed or suspended, save by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by an actual division of the House. Upon a motion to suspend a rule of the House the mover shall be allowed two minutes to state the reasons for his motion, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to object.

Whereas, a custom has prevailed to introduce identical legislation simultaneously in each House; and,

Whereas, such custom entails an unwarranted waste of legislative time and energy as well as an unnecessary waste of money in duplicate printing; and,

Whereas, the records show that it frequently happens that both houses are working at the same time on the same bills, and do actually pass their respective identical bills on the same day, which bills cross each other in the communications from one house to the other, thus creating confusion, and unless discovered in time for the houses themselves to prevent the duplication, the Governor is put to the necessity of detecting this duplication and vetoing one or the other of the bills to save the Acts of Assembly from containing duplicate legislation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring). That the members of both houses are earnestly requested and urged not to encumber the records and not to congest the calendars by the introduction of identical bills in both houses at the same time; which was agreed to.

Ordered that Mr. GORDON carry the joint resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

Whereas, during the past few months the State of Virginia has lost by death two eminent and beloved statesmen in the persons of Hon. Thos. S. Martin and Hon. Walter A. Watson; and,

Whereas, their services to the State were of such a distinguished character that their loss will be sorely felt; therefore, be it

Resolved, That when the House adjourns to-day it adjourn out of respect to these two illustrious statesmen whose loss we deeply deplore and whose memory we revere.

“If matter, mute and inanimate, though changed by the forces of nature into a multitude of forms, can never die, will the imperial spirit of man suffer annihilation after it has paid a brief visit, like a royal guest, to this tenement of clay? Rather let us believe that He who in His apparent prodigality wastes not the raindrop, the blade of grass, or the evening’s sighing zephyr, but makes them all to carry out His eternal plan, has given immortality to the mortal and gathered to Himself the generous spirit of our friend. Instead of mourning, let us look up and address him in the words of the poet:

“Thy day has come, not gone;
Thy sun has risen, not set;
Thy life is now beyond
The reach of death or change,
Not ended, but begun. Oh, gentle heart!
Hail and farewell.”

The hour of 10:20 o’clock A. M. having arrived, ordered that MR. STEPHENSON inform the Senate that the House is ready on its part to proceed to the execution of the joint resolution.

THE AMERICAN LEGION,
DEPARTMENT OF VIRGINIA EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,
RICHMOND, VA.

Resolved by the executive committee of the Virginia State Department of the American Legion, in session assembled:

1. That, while thoroughly appreciative of the motives influencing those members of the General Assembly of Virginia who are advocating an appropriation for the presentation of medals to those Virginians who served in the world war, it is the sense of this committee that the project does not appeal to the ex-service men sufficiently to justify the expense involved.

2. That this committee expresses its sincere thanks to those who by their advocacy of this measure have made known their desire to recognize the services of the men and women of Virginia in the world war.

8. That the secretary send a copy of these resolutions to the General Assembly of Virginia, now in session.-

MR. PRICE offered the following resolution:

Whereas, thrift and systematic saving are elements that contribute directly to the increase of individual prosperity and to a higher citizenship, and

Whereas, it is believed that the practice of thrift and systematic saving, coupled with economy, will go far toward solving the problem incident to the present high cost of living and that one of the most effective means of impressing our citizenship with the paramount importance of these matters is through our public school system, and

Whereas, the United States government is seeking to build on the foundation laid under the stress of war, when the American people demonstrated the value and the power developed by the practice of thrift and investment in government securities, by carrying on a nation-wide educational campaign for the further encouragement of this practice and the desirability of wise spending and wise saving through investment in war savings stamps, thrift stamps and other government securities, therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, that we urge upon the public schools of the State of Virginia the wisdom of teaching children of the public schools the practical lessons of thrift and economy; that we commend them for what has already been accomplished in this direction, both during and since the war; that we endorse the plans of the Federal government in its national thrift campaign for the establishment of saving and investment as a permanent habit of the American people, and that we urge upon the citizens of Virginia to make the practice of thrift an object in daily life, and to that end to co-operate actively with the War Loan Organization of the Treasury Department, operating through the Federal Reserve Bank of the Fifth District, in promoting and carrying forward this important public service; which was agreed to.

Ordered that MR. PRICE carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate, by MR. HOLT, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the resolution.

MR. FULLER of Richmond presented the following report :

To the General Assembly of Virginia :

Pursuant to a joint Senate resolution, adopted at the extra session, the following commission was appointed, to consider and to recommend to this General Assembly a suitable State memorial to the soldiers and sailors of Virginia who lost their lives in the world war: Senators Addison and Drewry, and Delegates Fuller, Dodson and Hunter.

The following report is respectfully submitted:

First—The commission recommends that the General Assembly shall heartily endorse the national movement having in view the erection of a brotherhood monument on Fort Wool (Rip Raps) in Hampton Roads.

Second—(a) For a State memorial the committee recommends the erection of a State library building, to be designated and known as the Memorial Library, adequately equipped, to be located in the city of Richmond and to be in lieu of and to answer the library purposes of the building now used as a State library, and that an adequate appropriation be made accordingly.

(b) In the design of this building adequate provision should be made for the placing of separate bronze tablets, upon which the names of soldiers and sailors from each county and city may be inscribed, according to the duly expressed directions of the authorities of such cities and counties.

(c) But in presenting this recommendation the commission recognizes that the larger and more immediate beneficiaries of the proposed memorial library will be citizens of Richmond; and therefore it occurs to the commission, and it is respectfully urged as a condition precedent to the adoption of this plan, that the city of Richmond donate to the State as a contribution for such memorial and as the site thereof, the parcel of land, owned by the city, and known as the Ford lot, located adjacent to the Capitol grounds, between Capitol and Broad streets.

In the event that these or similar recommendations are approved by the General Assembly, this commission ventures to suggest the appointment of a like commission charged with the duty of putting into effect the general purpose.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 24, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

In accordance with the provisions of the act approved September 5, 1919 (Acts of Assembly, 1919, Extra Session, chapter 31, section 11, pages 58-59),

I herewith submit to your honorable body the first report, with recommendations, of the State Highway Commission for such action as may be had.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION,
December 27, 1919.

His Excellency WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor of Virginia,

SIR:—

Pursuant to section 4, chapter 31, Acts of 1919, we, the State Highway Commission, have the honor to submit our first report and recommendations:

The Commission met November 1, 1919, with all of the members present, namely: Wade H. Massie, Henry P. Beck, Frank W. Davie, James A. Mundy, Jr., and H. Hardaway, and organized by electing Wade H. Massie as Chairman and Henry P. Beck as Secretary.

The commission, after proper notice, held its first public hearings upon the allocation of funds and proposed changes in the State Highway System, commencing with December 15th and continuing intermittently until the 27th.

In regard to proposed changes in routes and additions thereto, your Commission recommends as follows:

Route 1. (a) That from this route the word "Lorton" be eliminated so that the commission can consider and pass upon certain suggested changes in the route between Washington and Dumfries.

(b) Your commission heard extensive arguments for and against changes in Route 1 between Solomon's Store and a point where the Telegraph Road intersects the Richmond-Washington Highway south of Fredericksburg, and also from Solomon's Store to the Gum Tree, and thence via the Ridge Road to the same point, but we cannot recommend any immediate changes from the route as located, as there are no funds available at present for new construction: such funds as are allocated to this route between the points designated being required for maintenance so as to keep this route open for traffic. When the State has provided sufficient funds for the construction of this route, by a bond issue or otherwise, your commission proposes to go over the present location and the suggested changes and make such recommendations as the conditions justify.

(c) That the word "Warfield" be eliminated from this route so that the commission can consider and pass upon a certain suggested change from Dinwiddie to Lawrenceville.

Route 8. That the word "Mathews" be stricken out and "Twiggs Ferry" substituted in its stead; as this commission recommends a change in Route 9 which takes the place of the present location.

Route 9. (a) After the word "Williamsburg" in line 1, insert the words "Providence Forge." This change is recommended as it is the shorter and better route, in the judgment of the commission, and is necessary since the Highway Commissioner has designated the route through Charles City and spent some funds thereon.

(b) After the words "Gloucester Court House," line 5, insert "Mathews Court House and from Gloucester Court House" as a substitute for the section in Route 8 from Mathews Court House to Twiggs Ferry, which we have recommended be eliminated.

Route 11. After the word "Clintwood," line 5, strike out the words "to Grundy" and insert "Freemont, and from Grundy to Raven," to give Buchanan an outlet to the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Route 16. Strike out the word "Stanley" and in lieu thereof insert the word "Sperryville," as this commission believes this change will best serve the interests of the State.

Aside from the changes hereinbefore recommended, we do not believe that any further additions to the State Highway System should be made at this time; as the available funds are sadly inadequate to construct and maintain the mileage already adopted.

We recommend that the State Highway Commissioner be authorized to take over for maintenance the entire State Highway System, and that the necessary funds be appropriated therefor.

We recommend that necessary study should be made leading to the systematic elimination of all possible grade crossings.

The commission cannot too strongly recommend that sufficient funds be provided promptly to complete the State Highway System and furnish adequate funds for its maintenance, including additions thereto, and urge that these funds be secured in whole or in part by a bond issue.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) WADE H. MASSIE, Chairman.

THE AMERICAN LEGION, POST No. 36,
STATE OF VIRGINIA, CITY OF NORFOLK,
NORFOLK, VA.

A RESOLUTION.

Whereas, the American Legion, Norfolk, Virginia, Post No. 36, is thoroughly in accord with the sentiment expressed by the executive committee of the Virginia State Department of the American Legion in the following resolution:

First. That, while thoroughly appreciative of the motives influencing those members of the General Assembly of Virginia who are advocating an appropriation for the presentation of medals to those Virginians who served in the world war, it is the sense of this committee that the project does not appeal to the ex-service men sufficiently to justify the expense involved.

Second. That this committee expresses its sincere thanks to those who by their advocacy of this measure have shown their desire to recognize the services of the men and women of Virginia in the world war.

Third. That the secretary send a copy of these resolutions to the General Assembly of Virginia, now in session.

Therefore, be it resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed to the General Assembly of Virginia now in session informing them of the sentiment of this Post.

MR. WILLIAMS moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolution was agreed to, which was rejected.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House, House joint resolution proposing an amendment to section 117 of article 8 of the Constitution of Virginia, as follows:

Whereas, the proposed amendment to section one hundred and seventeen of article eight of the Constitution of Virginia, herein-after fully set forth, was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the two houses of the General Assembly at its session of nineteen hundred and eighteen, and referred to this, the next General Assembly, and published for three months, as required by the Constitution of Virginia, and as shown by report of such publication by the clerk of the House of Delegates; now, therefore,

Resolved, by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is, hereby proposed in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six of article fifteen of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and seventeen, which is in the words and figures following, to-wit:

Sec. 117. General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the General Assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house; and except also in the case of cities having more than fifty thousand inhabitants, as hereinafter provided. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this amendment a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the General Assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended so as to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

Notwithstanding, however, anything in this article contained, the General Assembly may, by general law or by special act (passed as prescribed in article four of this Constitution), depart in any respect (except as otherwise in this section expressly provided) from the form of organization and government prescribed by this article for cities and towns, and may provide, from time to time, for the various cities and towns of the Commonwealth such form or forms of municipal government as the General Assembly may deem best; but no form or forms of government authorized by the second paragraph of this section shall become operative except as to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of its qualified electors at an election to be held as may be prescribed therefor by law. All the limitations on the powers of the councils of cities and towns imposed by this article shall apply in like manner to the principal legislative authority under any form of government which may be authorized hereunder. The term "council" as used in sections one hundred and twenty-five and one hundred and twenty-seven of this Constitution shall be construed to include the body which, under any form of municipal government, shall be vested with the principal legislative authority of such municipality.

The General Assembly, for the purpose of this article, may classify cities according to their population, but the maximum population prescribed for any class shall exceed the minimum population for the same class by at least ten thousand. The General Assembly, at the request, made in manner which may be prescribed by law, of any city having a population of over fifty thousand inhabitants, may grant a special form of government for such city.

Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurer and city sergeants.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 117. (a) General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the General Assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this Constitution a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the General Assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

(b) The General Assembly may, by general law or by special act (passed in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution), provide for the organization and government of cities and towns without regard to, and unaffected by any of the provisions of this article, except those of sections one hundred and twenty-four, one hundred and twenty-five, (except so far as the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-five recognize the office of mayor and the power of veto) one hundred and twenty-six, one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight of this article, and except those mentioned in sub-section (d) of this section. The term "council" as used in any of said sections shall include the body exercising legislative authority for the city or town, and all ordinances enacted and resolutions adopted by such body shall have the same force and effect for all purposes, as if enacted or adopted in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-three of this article. But such organization and government shall apply only to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of those qualified voters of any such city or town voting in an election to be held for the purpose, as may be provided by law.

(c) The General Assembly, at the request of any city or town made in manner provided by law, may grant to it any special form of organization and government authorized by sub-section (b) of this section, and subject to all of the provisions of that sub-section, except that it shall not be necessary for such city or town to hereafter adopt the same.

(d) Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurers and city sergeants.

(e) Any form of organization and government authorized by any provision of this section which may have been adopted heretofore by any city or town pursuant to any act of the General Assembly enacted before such provision became effective, and which is now in operation, is hereby declared legal and valid ab initio, and shall have the same force and effect as if it had been authorized by this Constitution at the time of its adoption.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Governor relative to the need for a State office building at Richmond.

February 18, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I respectfully submit herewith to your honorable body a copy of the report prepared in connection with the budget and the administrative studies, which were conducted under my supervision during 1918 and 1919, as required by the Virginia budget law, relative to the need for a State office building at Richmond.

It had been my desire and hope to be able to include a request for a suitable appropriation for a State office building in the budget submitted to your honorable body on January 14, 1920, but I found, in view of the high cost of labor and building materials, that the available revenues of the State, as reported to me at that time by the Auditor of Public Accounts, would not justify the inclusion of such an item in the budget for the ensuing biennium.

I have thought that the information contained in this report should be placed before the General Assembly, and I earnestly urge that this question of providing a special appropriation for the much needed State office building at Richmond be given most careful consideration by your honorable body at this session.

Governor.

February 18, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

This study was exhaustive, and I deem it expedient that the information contained in the report, which has been prepared on this subject, should be placed at the disposal of the General Assembly. I, therefore, respectfully submit herewith a copy of this report to your honorable body.

MR. NORRIS offered the following resolution:

Whereas, the reports from our American Committee, incorporated by Act of Congress, August 6, 1919, in the Near East, state that conditions in Armenia, Syria and Persia are critical and that indescribable suffering and loss of 250,000 children's lives will result unless immediate and generous aid is forthcoming from America;

Whereas, the Near East Relief is the only relief organization functioning in these countries, the Red Cross having given over this specific work to the American Committee;

Whereas, Herbert Hoover, former American Food Administrator, says that, "In the Near East is the most desperate situation in the world;"

Whereas, our President says that, "Men, women and children are thrown into a common grave, so imperfectly covered up that here and there is a pitiful arm stretched out to Heaven; but, is there no pity in the world?"

Whereas, the Near East Committee has endorsement of President Wilson, Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy; Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War; Hon. Wm. H. Taft, Herbert Hoover, William Jennings Bryan and other prominent public spirited men;

Therefore, be it resolved, That the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, endorse the activities of the Near East Relief campaign that is now being conducted nationally. We also pledge our assistance to the committee in the State of Virginia, headed by Hon. Oliver J. Sands, State chairman; Waller Holladay, State treasurer, and Claude W. Hopper, State director. Be it further resolved, that we call upon the Christian people of Virginia to rally to the call from the stricken countries of the Near East and help our American Committee give immediate relief; which was agreed to.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
OFFICE OF STATE COMMISSIONER OF PROHIBITION.
RICHMOND, VA., February 24, 1920.

HON. RICHARD L. BREWER, JR.,
Speaker of the House of Delegates,
Richmond, Va.

HONORABLE AND DEAR SIR:

In response to a resolution of the House of Delegates adopted February 16, 1920, of which I was notified by mail on the 17th of February, requesting a memorandum of the amount of intoxicating liquors delivered by the Commissioner of Prohibition to physicians and druggists, from March 1, 1918, to the date of the adoption of the resolution, giving the names of the physicians, the amount delivered to each, together with the prices paid by them, the following memoranda is respectfully submitted:

This information would have been furnished immediately but for the labor involved of examining every transaction in ardent spirits since the law requiring this department to dispose of the same became effective, classifying between druggists and physicians and eliminating hospitals, manufacturers of flavoring extracts, eleemosynary institutions, etc. These eliminations do not amount to a great many items, but are eliminated to comply with the resolutions, and will be promptly furnished also if desired.

While your resolution merely calls for the prices paid, we do not understand whether you mean the prices per gallon or a total amount of the invoice, therefore, we have given both, but your attention is called to the fact that in the amount of the invoice, there is sometimes included, when necessary, the cost of transportation permits and prohibition revenue stamps, purchased in the same transaction; thus the small excess in the amount paid to the department above the amount of the ardent spirits is for permits and stamps purchased at the same time.

The aggregate quantity sold to the above two classes covered by this memorandum is 15,739 $\frac{3}{4}$  gallons.

The amount of every memorandum listed hereunder has been received by this department, and all amounts received up to February 1, 1920, have been accounted for and settled with the Auditor of Public Accounts.

You will note that in several memoranda disbursements were made by local officials, sometimes a chief health officer, sometimes a mayor, Commonwealth's attorney or a judge. These were urgent cases during the emergency created by the epidemic of influenza, when these officials kindly represented the department in local distribution among physicians.

Respectfully submitted,

J. SIDNEY PETERS,
Commissioner of Prohibition.

Printed as House Document No. 10.

The addresses to the joint assembly were as follows:

BY THE SPEAKER:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly, ladies and gentlemen: It affords me much pleasure to present to you on this occasion one of Virginia's most distinguished sons, a man who represents the very highest type of Virginia citizenship, a distinguished statesman and scholar, and a gentleman: a man who is temperamentally as gentle as a woman, yet in the affairs of State is as firm as the rocks of Gibraltar; a man who is eminently qualified to fill any position that he may be called upon to fill by the citizens of this Commonwealth.

I present to you the Hon. B. F. Buchanan, Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia.

BY MR. BUCHANAN:

Governor Davis, Mr. Speaker. Gentlemen of the General Assembly of Virginia: I am honored by the commission assigned me. We have as our guest of honor today the Commander-in-Chief of the American forces. He has received a cordial welcome from the city of Richmond and today we desire to extend that welcome and make it Statewide by the generous greeting of representatives from every city, county and town within the confines of our old Commonwealth.

General Pershing needs no eulogy; his achievements are his eulogy, and they are written on the hearts of a grateful world. He needs no introduction; his name is a household word and is on the lips of every loyal American.

Assuring him of our high appreciation of his presence in our legislative halls and of the pleasure we have in hearing him, I now present to you General John J. Pershing.

By GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING:

Your Excellency, Gentlemen of the General Assembly of Virginia, ladies and gentlemen: You have conferred upon me a great honor. I am proud to be permitted to address the members of the General Assembly of the great State of Virginia, the birthplace of a long line of great Americans from the incomparable Washington to the illustrious Lee; a State which in the great war just closed made such an enviable record for service and patriotism. This occasion also gives me the opportunity of expressing to you and through you the army's appreciation.

The State of Virginia can take its full share of credit for the success which came to American arms in the campaigns of Chateau-Thierry, Saint Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne. Your sons in France, endowed as they were by aggressive and patriotic spirit, soon reached the standard of our best trained troops. They appeared on every battlefield and the memory of their unfailing courage and heroism fills me with the greatest admiration. Their loyalty, gallantry and sacrifice and the aggressive spirit with which they served our cause fully maintained every standard set by the noted men of your State in the past.

The impulse of armies springs from the people, and the high morale that fired your men to great achievement was founded upon the aggressiveness of the people at home. Ours was a crusade for the right, which inspired our soldiers with an unselfish and zealous devotion to the cause.

The high moral standing made by our men has never been equalled by any army in the world. No body of men, engaged in war in far distant fields beyond the influence of home, were ever inspired by more patriotic ideals. It is a great pleasure for me to make this report to you and to bear witness of the success achieved by the men who represented you so splendidly.

The support of the armies abroad involved tremendous labors and activities at home. You were especially fortunate in your war governors, who with unfailing toil, gave direction and impetus to the patriotic efforts of your people. In all war work the people of this State did more than the share allotted to them.

Special homage must be paid to the women of America who with heroic courage bore their part of the burden. The women of Virginia and the South displayed a type of patriotism and courage which could not have been excelled. Wherever the presence of woman was needed there the American woman was found; in hospitals tenderly caring for their brothers, in the canteens and billets serving and cheering them and administering to their comfort, and on the actual field of battle, there she labored with a courage that filled us all with admiration.

Our people hope for some wise adjustment of international affairs that will reduce the probability of war. With the achievement of victory, the spirit of co-operation for a single cause which inspires every community in the country, has temporarily ceased to be with us. There is unrest and dissatisfaction among certain elements in our country. Largely through ignorance of the meaning and value of our institutions, certain of their number are endeavoring to incite class antagonism. Let us not forget the great lessons of the war which taught cordial understanding and co-operation for the greatest good of all. Patriotic men and women should continue actively to oppose these forces of evil. Anarchy and Bolshevism cannot live in this country if our patriotic people realize the danger, and act accordingly, as they did during the war.

You will not find among these dangerous elements any who wore the uniform. They have returned to civil life better men morally, mentally and physically. They are able and eager to assume their full share in the duties of citizenship. I am as confident that they will become leaders in the fight for good government and Americanism as I was certain that they would drive back the enemy when ordered into battle.

Another important lesson of the war is that some system of giving all young men military training is the only course of wisdom. No other means for national defense is feasible from an economic or democratic standpoint.

While preparing our young men for their obligations under the Constitution as citizens to serve their country in time of war, a brief course of military training would bring other benefits which our government should hasten to provide for the common good. It would develop physical vigor and manliness and would sharpen the mentality of our youth. It would encourage initiative and self-confidence.

In closing please permit me to thank you for this great honor I have had in being permitted to address you and for the cordial reception accorded me by the State and city. These honors I accept, not for myself, but in the name of those brave sons of Virginia who represented you abroad and who brought back the victory.

On motion of Mr. HOLT, the joint assembly adjourned sine die.

A message was received from the Senate, by Mr. CANNON, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to Senate joint resolution as follows:

Whereas, pursuant to a joint resolution of the General Assembly, approved February 8, 1915, a commission of five members was appointed by the Governor, charged with the duty of formulating a general and comprehensive plan for the control of tuberculosis in Virginia, and

Whereas, on the 20th day of December, 1915, the commission made its report to the Governor, who in turn submitted it to the General Assembly under date of December 30, 1915, and

Whereas, since that time it has been demonstrated elsewhere that it is possible to eradicate tuberculosis from the body politic, and

Whereas, it is the earnest desire of the General Assembly that this beneficial result may be accomplished in this Commonwealth;

Therefore, be it resolved, by the Senate, the House of Delegates concurring, That a joint committee of five members, two of whom shall be appointed by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House of Delegates, be and it is hereby constituted, whose duty it shall be to investigate the laws of other jurisdictions and to report to the next session of the General Assembly a plan for the eradication of tuberculosis from this Commonwealth, which plan shall be accomplished by the necessary bill or bills to carry the same into effect. A message was received from the Senate, by MR. OLIVER, who informed the House that the Senate had amended, in accordance with the recommendation of the Governor, Senate bill entitled an act to amend and re-enact section 3435 of the Code of Virginia, No. 272.

THE SPEAKER laid the bill before the House with the recommendation of the Governor as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

RICHMOND, February 25, 1920.

To the Senate of Virginia:

Senate Bill Number 272: I approve the general purposes of this bill, but am returning it with the recommendation that the salary of the Auditor of Public Accounts be fixed at an amount not to exceed $5,000 per annum, which is the amount fixed for the salary of the Auditor of Public Accounts by the Senate Finance Committee and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Delegates sitting jointly to consider the budget; and, for the further reason, that I do not think under the existing provisions of the Constitution of Virginia, that the salary of any State officer should be increased to an amount greater than $5,000 per annum.

I recommend, therefore, that this bill be amended as follows:

Sec. 3435—At the end of line 3 strike out the word "two", and at the beginning of line 4 strike out the words "hundred and fifty". In line 7, after the word "proper", insert comma and the words "not in conflict with law."

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

The House proceeded to reconsider the same. The question being "Shall the House amend the bill in accordance with the recommendation of the Governor?" was put and decided in the affirmative—yeas, 72; nays, 0.

A communication from the Governor was received as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
OFFICE OF STATE TAX BOARD,
RICHMOND, March 8, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

Virginia pilots, who enjoy enormous incomes through special privileges granted by the laws of this State, pay but fifty dollars as a license fee per year each. The State of Virginia is in need of revenue and these men who profit by such special privileges should contribute their fair share to the support of the State government.

I transmit herewith a proposed bill which provides a license tax upon pilots, and which we estimate will produce for the State revenue approximating $75,000 to $100,000 per year. There are about thirty licensed Virginia pilots.

This is a revenue measure and the State Tax Board unanimously recommends its prompt passage.

By WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Chairman.

Whereas, Honorable Thomas Staples Martin, the senior United

Whereas, for more than twenty-five years of unsurpassed assiduity and matchless achievement in the service of Virginia,

“A tower of strength,

He stood four square to every wind that blew,” and

Whereas, through his absolute frankness, enduring fidelity, profound wisdom, unerring foresight, indomitable will and Spartan courage, in the discharge of his duties to his country, to his State and to his fellow men he set an inspiring example to every worthy son of his beloved Virginia, and brought a lustre to his native State more than commensurate with the honors he received at her hands, and

Whereas, he virtually sacrificed his life in the service of his State and of his country, for as Democratic floor leader of the Senate during the whole of the world war he was in charge of practically all the war measures before Congress, and thus the bounds and limitation of physical endurance were broken by the strain of prodigious mental activity and exhausted nature at last felt prone upon her shield, and

Whereas, it was through the action of the General Assembly of Virginia that he was first elected to the high position he filled with such marked distinction, the only office he ever held. it is meet that this body, at this time, render some token of respect and devotion to the memory of this illustrious man; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Delegates concurring:

First. As has been so well said by one of his colleagues, that, in the death of Thomas Staples Martin, the nation has lost one of its ablest and most influential statesmen; his native State, which he served with such marked distinction and patriotic fidelity for more than a quarter of a century, one of its most beloved citizens and its best beloved public official; his friends, who enjoyed his confidence and the intimacy of his fellowship, a friend always loyal, and in whom there was no guile or deception; and his people a representative who dealt with them with such absolute frankness and sincerity that he won their confidence, admiration and esteem.

Second. That the General Assembly as the representatives of the people of Virginia deplore the loss of the great services which he so generously and unselfishly rendered his State and nation.

Third. That the sincere sympathy of the General Assembly be extended to the family of the deceased in their great bereavement.

Fourth. That the Clerk of the Senate send a copy of this preamble and resolution to the members of his family.

Fifth. As a further mark of esteem and respect, we direct that when the two Houses of the General Assembly adjourn today it be entered on both journals that they adjourned in honor of the memory of Hon. Thomas Staples Martin of Albemarle county.

MR. BOSMAN offered the following House joint resolution providing for the appointment of a legislative committee on self-insurance for State property:

Whereas, the State of Virginia is the owner of a large amount of property, real and personal, upon which it carries insurance, and

Whereas, it is the practice of many business concerns owning a large amount of property or conducting an enterprise that necessitates the carrying of heavy insurance to act as self-insurers, and

Whereas, self-insurance has proven to be very beneficial and has resulted in a great saving to those large business interests that have so protected themselves, and

Whereas, the State of Virginia should seek the cheapest insurance commensurate with safety and protection,

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, that a legislative committee be appointed consisting of three members, two to be appointed by THE SPEAKER of the House and one by the President of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to investigate the advisability of the State of Virginia becoming a self-insurer, and to prepare such legislation as they may deem advisable to this end, reporting back to the next regular session of the General Assembly; which was agreed to.

Ordered that MR. BOSMAN carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following House joint resolution relative to the education of our youth for service in the American merchant marine, as follows:

Whereas, the growth and development of the American merchant marine during the earlier years of the republic was without parallel in the history of commerce, and the United States became mistress of the seas, manning her peerless clipper ships with her own sons and carrying more than ninety per centum of all national exports and imports in her own bottoms, and only lost this pre-eminence when other concerns diverted its vigilance from the maintenance of adequate sea power; and

Whereas, the events of the past few years have clearly proved that when national necessity sounded the clarion call to the sea, our country, notwithstanding fifty dormant years, still retained the maritime genius and abundant natural resources necessary to found and maintain a great merchant marine; and

Whereas, history is emphatic in its teachings that no nation can ever hope to retain and successfully operate a great merchant marine without a virile national maritime spirit back of it, and a native seafaring population to man its ships; and

Whereas, the history of American seamanship is a glowing record of patriotism, courage and achievement unsurpassed by any people anywhere, and no calling demands a higher mental and physical standard in the men employed; and

Whereas, the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation has established at Newport News, on Hampton Roads, a sea training station to train young men in seamanship, and the supervisor of said training station has invited each member of the General Assembly to designate annually two worthy young men residing in this State for sea training at said station; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, That we respectfully urge upon our State board of education and the various educational institutions in the State to arrange for special courses in the history of the early development of the American merchant marine, and the causes of its decay, that the minds of our young men may perceive the importance of maintaining adequate sea power, and be informed of the means by which their ancestors successfully adopted to this end an information essential to awaken their interest in foreign trade and inspire a genuine appreciation of our unlimited opportunities upon the seven seas; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the clerk of the House to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who shall transmit a copy thereof to the president of the University of Virginia, to the presidents of all Virginia colleges, and to the presidents or executives of all secondary or preparatory schools in Virginia; and be it further training, United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, to designate annually two young men from Virginia to engage in sea training at the sea training station located at Newport News. Which was agreed to.

Resolved, That each member of the General Assembly of Virginia hereby accepts the invitation of the general supervisor of sea

Ordered that MR. WILKINS carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate, by MR. HOLT, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the joint resolution.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House, House joint resolution concerning a State office building.

The amendments proposed by the Senate to the resolution as follows: Strike out "one by the President and two"—Strike out "two" by Governor and add "one"; were agreed to.

Ordered that MR. HALL inform the Senate.

A proposed measure so initiated shall be recited in full in the petition and there may be incorporated, at the option of the petitioners, any amendment or amendments thereto introduced in the legislature. Upon the petition of seven thousand (7,000) legal voters filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth not less than four months before the next general election such proposed measure shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

(b) Referendum.—The second power is the referendum and it may be ordered either by a petition signed by not more than seven thousand (7,000) legal voters or by the General Assembly as other bills are enacted. Laws making appropriations for the maintenance of the State government, or existing State institutions, not exceeding the next previous appropriations for such purpose, shall not be subject to referendum petitions. The increase only in any such appropriation shall take effect as other laws and such increase or any part or item thereof shall be submitted to the people upon referendum petition. The filing of a referendum petition against one or more items, sections or parts of any measure shall not delay the remainder in becoming operative. Referendum petitions against any measure passed by the General Assembly shall be filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth not later than ninety days after the final adjournment of the session at which such measure was passed.

(c) Emergency.—If it shall be necessary for any immediate purpose that a measure become effective without delay the facts constituting such necessity shall be stated in a separate section, and, if, upon a ye and nay vote and entered upon their respective journals four-fifths (4-5) of the members elected to each house shall vote in favor thereof such measure shall become operative at the time specified therein; provided, that an emergency shall not be declared upon any franchise or act alienating any property of the State. If a referendum petition be filed against an emergency measure such measure shall be operative until it is voted upon, and if then rejected by a majority of the electors voting thereon it shall be thereby repealed.

(d) Municipal and local.—The initiative and referendum powers of the people are hereby further reserved to the legal voters of each municipality, county and district in and for their respective municipalities, counties and districts, and they may provide for the initiative and referendum as to their local legislation. Not more than ten (10) per centum of the legal voters may be required to order the referendum nor more than fifteen (15) per centum to propose any measure by initiative petition in any municipality, county or district.

(e) General provisions.—The word “measure” as used herein means any law, bill, resolution, ordinance, charter or constitutional amendment, or any other legislative measure. All elections on general, local or any special measure referred to the people of the State or any locality shall be held at the regular election except when the General Assembly or the Governor shall order a special election; but counties, cities and towns may provide for special elections on local legislation. Any measure submitted to the people, as herein provided, shall take effect and become law when approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon and not otherwise. Such measure shall be in operation on and after the thirtieth day after the election at which it is approved. The veto power of the governor or mayor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people. If conflicting measures submitted to the people shall be approved by a majority of the voters severally cast for and against the same, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall thereby become law. No measure approved by a vote of the people shall be amended or repealed by the General Assembly or any city council except by a yea and nay vote upon roll call of three-fourths ( $\frac{3}{4}$ ) of all the members elected. The whole number of votes cast for Governor at the last preceding general election shall be the basis upon which the number of legal voters necessary to sign petitions shall be computed, except that in municipalities it shall be computed upon the vote cast for mayor. Petitions may be circulated and presented in parts, but each part of any petition shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the person circulating the same that all the signatures thereon were made in the presence of the affiant and to the best of the affiant's knowledge and belief each signature is genuine and that the person signing is an elector, and no other affidavit or verification shall be required. The sufficiency of all petitions shall be decided by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or corresponding local officer, as the case may be, subject to review by courts of records which shall give precedence over all other cases in the adjudication of the same. If the Secretary of the Commonwealth or such local officer shall decide any petition to be insufficient he shall without delay notify the sponsors of the petition and permit at least twenty (20) days for correction or amendment. In the event of legal proceedings in any court to prevent giving effect to any petition upon any grounds the burden of proof shall be upon the person or persons attacking the validity of the petition.

This section shall not be construed to deprive any member of the General Assembly or a city council of the right to introduce any measure. The style of all initiated bills shall be, “Be it enacted by the people of the” (Commonwealth of Virginia, municipality or county, as the case may be). All measures of any kind submitted to a vote of the people shall be published as may hereafter be required by law. In submitting measures to the people the Secretary of the Commonwealth and all other officials shall be guided by the general laws until additional legislation shall be provided therefor.

In all initiative and referendum elections, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall print and distribute to each voter in the State entitled to vote on the measures to be submitted, not less than three months previous to the time of voting, a pamphlet containing the titles of the measures to be voted upon as they will appear upon the official ballot, together with the full text of the measures to be submitted; and also arguments for and against the measures submitted, according to details which shall be provided by law.

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall certify to the keeper of the rolls all measures upon which the initiative has been invoked, together with the result of the referendum thereon, and the keeper of the rolls shall record same in a separate book; and, in the publication of the Acts of Assembly, the keeper of the rolls shall publish in the volume next succeeding, the result of a referendum had on measures previously enacted by the General Assembly; also, any act initiated by the people and approved under the referendum.

This amendment shall be self-executing, but the General Assembly may enact laws to facilitate its operation. No legislation shall be enacted to impair or hamper the exercise of the rights herein reserved to the people.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

OFFICE OF STATE TAX BOARD,
RICHMOND, March 10, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

The attention of the State Tax Board has been directed to the committee substitute for Senate Bill Number 378, which is pending your action. The board is advised that the purpose of this bill is to reduce the present tax rate on bonds, notes and other evidences of debt, the due date of which is ten years or less from the date of execution.

The Tax Board estimates that approximately $100,000,000 worth of this class of property is assessed annually by the State, which, at the present tax rate of 80c. on the hundred dollars of the assessed value, yields the State approximately $800,000 revenue annually. This amount is distributed as follows: $550,000 for the maintenance of the State government, $140,000 for schools, $100,000 for roads and $10,000 for tuberculosis. The committee substitute for Senate Bill Number 378 proposes to change the State tax rate from 80c. on the hundred dollars to 45c. on the hundred dollars. If the rate as proposed in the bill is adopted and no additional property is reported for taxation, the total annual revenue collected by the State from this class of property will be approximately $450,000, which will be distributed as follows: $300,000 for the maintenance of the State government, $100,000 for schools, $50,000 for roads and nothing for tuberculosis. This would mean an annual loss in revenue of $250,000 for the maintenance of the State government, $40,000 for schools, $50,000 for roads and $10,000 for tuberculosis, or a total annual loss of revenue to the State of $350,000. All of these figures are approximations, but the Board believes that they reflect the situation with reasonable accuracy.

The Board is advised that proponents of the bill are of the opinion that the increase in the amount of the property reported for taxation under the bill will be sufficiently great to cover the loss of revenue which will result from the proposed decrease in rate. To accomplish this result, it will be necessary for the State to tax annually $80,000,000 more of this class of property than is now being reported for taxation, or a total of $180,000,000 annually. Any estimate of the amount of increase which would result from the decreased rate would necessarily be mere speculation, but the Tax Board believes that such increase would be far too small to make up the loss of revenue.

The State, at the present time, is entering upon an extensive program for the improvement of elementary schools and roads, and is appropriating large sums for other purposes. It needs, therefore, every dollar available.

Under these circumstances, the Tax Board is convinced that, however desirable a reduction in the tax rate may be, it would be a grave mistake to hazard an experiment at the present time which might jeopardize the interests of the Commonwealth. The Board, therefore, recommends that the committee substitute for Senate Bill Number 378 should not be passed.

This action was taken at a full meeting of the Board, but Honorable C. Lee Moore, the Auditor of Public Accounts, not concurring in the recommendation or the views herein expressed requested to be so recorded.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE TAX BOARD,
WESTMORELAND DAVIS, Chairman.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Governor:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.
RICHMOND, March 11, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

The budget which was submitted to you provided for appropriations for the two years of the 1920-1922 biennium amounting to $22,143,546.70, therein making most generous provision for roads and schools without additional taxation. The appropriation bill (House Bill No. 318) as passed by the General Assembly makes appropriations for the ensuing two years amounting to a total of $22,495,642.30.

The Auditor of Public Accounts has submitted an increased estimate of State revenue, including the unappropriated balance in the treasury on March 1, 1920, for the 1920-1922 biennial period, amounting to a total of $22,838,883.92 which greatly increases the estimate had of him upon which the budget, in its preparation, was based. Accepting this new estimate of revenue, your appropriation bill of $22,495,642.30 is within the estimated revenues of the State for the next two years.

In 1918 I insisted upon a reduction of the appropriations made by the General Assembly because they exceeded the estimated revenues of the State by $1,238,286 and this action of mine was justified, as the actual balance in the treasury on October 1, 1919, after having reduced the proposed appropriation bill at that time by $1,017,000, was $212,728.91. Without such reduction there would have been a large deficit, because the emergency appropriations made at the extra session in August, 1919, could not be paid until the revenues for this year were collected.

In view of the fact that the appropriation bill which has just come to me from you, is within the revenue of the State, as now estimated by the Auditor of Public Accounts, I feel that I should accept it, although I am frank to say that I am not in accord with many of the increases made therein over my budget recommendations. I have, however, notwithstanding my objections, approved House Bill No. 318.

After deducting the amount of your appropriation bill, there will remain, according to the estimate of the Auditor of Public Accounts, subject to special appropriation at this session of the General Assembly, without taking into consideration the fact that a reasonable working balance should be maintained in the treasury, the sum of $343,241.62—all that will be available for the ensuing two years.

In considering further appropriations for special purposes I must request that you bear in mind the fact that there will be a very small balance in the treasury after providing for the appropriation bill, and that legislation carrying appropriations may be so ordered and restrained that proposed expenditures will not exceed the estimated revenue of the State.

You are to be congratulated that through untiring effort you have successfully inaugurated the budget system in Virginia and have placed the affairs of the Commonwealth upon a business basis. I am deeply appreciative of the spirit of co-operation that has characterized your work with me in this great undertaking, now happily concluded.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

MR. GIBSON moved to reconsider the vote by which the conference report was agreed to, which was rejected.

Ordered that MR. GIBSON inform the Senate that the House had agreed to the report of the Committee of Conference.

A message was received from the Senate, by MR. GUNN, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the report of the Committee of Conference.

MR. FULLER from the committee appointed to investigate the Department of Prohibition presented the following report:

To the General Assembly of Virginia:

We, the undersigned joint committee of the two Houses of the General Assembly appointed pursuant to the House joint resolution adopted on the 2nd day of March, 1920, to investigate the Department of Prohibition beg leave to submit the following report:

1. That pursuant to said resolution the undersigned committee met on the 5th day of March and organized by electing Senator Morgan R. Mills chairman, and as directed by the third paragraph of the joint resolution instructed the State Accountant to make a complete audit of the accounts of the Prohibition Department covering the period to March 1st, 1920. A report of the organization of the committee was transmitted to both branches of the General Assembly jointly announcing that the committee would hold a public hearing in the Corporation Court Room, Capitol Building, on Monday night, March 8, 1920, at eight o'clock P. M., at which time and place members of the General Assembly, and all citizens would be given an opportunity to prefer charges against the Prohibition Department.

2. The committee met at the appointed place and time, all members being present.

3. A statement was presented to the committee by HON. W. L. JOYCE, of Patrick county, and WILBUR C. HALL, of Loudoun, two of the patrons of the resolution, asking for the investigation of the department, which stated to the effect that the joint resolution upon which the committee was acting had been delayed so long in the Senate, that its object had in part been accomplished by the selection of a Prohibition Commissioner, and that they had no desire to appear before the committee. Statement accompanies report.

4. SENATOR DEAL, of Norfolk city, filed by request, with the committee, a petition signed by certain Norfolk citizens, and to this petition there was attached a newspaper clipping which stated that a negro man had been placed under arrest in Richmond charged with transporting liquor, and that in his defense the negro had presented a permit from the Office of the Commissioner of Prohibition, and that the police justice of the city of Richmond had dismissed the case. SENATOR DEAL stated that he had no charges to prefer and explained that he was submitting the petition to the committee by the request of the signers.

5. HON. T. L. FELTS, a member of the House of Delegates, from the county of Carroll, appeared and filed certain affidavits criticising the department for not co-operating with the local officials of the town of Pocahontas and for not co-operating with an employee of his who had also qualified as a deputy sheriff of the county of Tazewell and located at Pocahontas, and of alleged misconduct of two of the inspectors of the Department of Prohibition, while making certain investigations in the town of Pocahontas. MR. FELTS stated that it was not his purpose to make charges against the Prohibition Department, but in a manner of criticism he might help the department. MR. FELTS suggested that the annual report of the department had failed to give proper credit to the officers of the localities in the totals published in the report of arrests made, convictions and fines collected. MR. FELTS disclaimed making any charges against the department whatever, stating that he came to criticize and to help. MR. FELTS also criticized the department for not differentiating in its annual report between arrests made, convictions had and fines collected by local officers and officers of the Prohibition Department.

6. After having fully heard the complaints above enumerated, the committee again called for such other charges or complaints as any one present might desire to make against the department or against the Prohibition Commissioner, and no further complaints being made and no charges being preferred, the committee then called on Dr. J. Sidney Peters, Commissioner of Prohibition, for a statement in relation to the newspaper article appearing in the Norfolk paper, and also the statement of MR. FELTS. Dr. Peters stated as follows: That the permit referred to in the newspaper article attached to the petition presented by SENATOR DEAL had been issued by the department to a highly reputable citizen of Richmond city, under full authority of law, for the purpose of bringing to the city whiskey for medicinal purposes for his son, who was suffering with tuberculosis, and that the negro was the messenger of said citizen who had been sent after the whiskey. Dr. Peters further stated that there was strong suspicion that the negro had abused the privilege of the permit, but that after investigation he was unable to obtain sufficient evidence to prove this.

Prior to this the negro had been investigated by the police justice of the city of Richmond, before whom he was arraigned by police officers and dismissed.

The Commissioner of Prohibition in reply to criticisms of DELEGATE FELTS stated that it was the almost invariable rule of the department to co-operate with local officers, but that in the Pocahontas instance he had not done this for the reason that he had been requested by some local citizens to investigate the conduct of some of the local officers themselves, for which purpose he had sent to the town of Pocahontas two of his most reliable inspectors, said inspectors while making these investigations and before making any arrests, as a result thereof, were in turn arrested by the local officers on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, which charge was dismissed after their identity and official position was disclosed, thereby hindering them in the further discharge of their duties at that place. One of these inspectors was Mr. E. H. Staley, who is now in the employ of the United State Revenue Department, who was not present. The other inspector was Mr. S. L. Chase, who was at the committee meeting and who substantiated the statement of the Commissioner, and indignantly denied any allegation of improper conduct on the part of himself and associate inspector, Mr. Staley.

Commissioner Peters further explained in reply to the criticisms of DELEGATE FELTS that the report did not differentiate between the activities of local and department officials, that the law did not require such differentiation and that it would be unwise to attempt to make it and that in many instances arrests and convictions would be the result of the joint action of local officers and representatives of his department and that an effort to divide the credit for arrests, convictions and fines would have resulted in confusion and jealousies injurious to the enforcement of the law.

SENATOR G. WALTER MAPP made a statement before the committee giving in detail the history of the investigating resolution from the time it appeared in the Senate, in which he stated that on the 23rd day of February the resolution was referred to the committee of which he was chairman, he called a special meeting of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare for the following day to consider it, giving notice in person to DELEGATE NORRIS, first patron appearing on the resolution, with directions for him to notify the others, which he was advised by DELEGATE NORRIS had been done.

That before a largely attended meeting of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare, the resolution at this special meeting, called solely for this purpose, was fully and carefully considered and that after hearing the statement of DELEGATE NORRIS, the first patron on the resolution, who stated he had no charges to prefer and no reasons other than those contained in the preamble of the resolution, and after hearing statements from the State Auditor, Hon. C. Lee Moore, and the State Accountant, Hon. W. F. Smyth, both of whom had been invited by SENATOR MAPP to be present at the said special meeting, that on his (Mapp's) motion, the resolution had been referred back to the Senate with the recommendation that it do not pass. The vote on this recommendation being six to four; that it went at once on the calendar and that no effort was made to call it up until Monday, March 1st, when the Senator from Page asked to have it advanced, to which SENATOR MAPP made no objection, but when asked if he would object to a suspension of the Constitutional reading of the resolution stated that in the absence of many of the "dry" Senators, who wished to vote on the resolution that he would, but gave notice of his intention to call it up on the following morning; that on the following morning he did call up the resolution and that over opposition on the part of certain Senators, opposed to prohibition, succeeded in having special order postponed long enough to have it considered that without having changed his personal or representative view in regard to the necessity for an investigation he had stated that at the request of the Commissioner of Prohibition he was willing to withdraw his opposition to the resolution and on his (SENATOR MAPP's) motion the resolution had been adopted by unanimous vote.

Hon. W. F. Smyth, State Accountant, reported to the committee that he had made a complete audit of the Prohibition Department, and that the method of accounting for the sale of ardent spirits had been approved by him and that the method of accounting for the appropriations to the department had been devised and approved by him; and that he had examined all of the vouchers and that the accounts of the department checked out with absolute accuracy.

7. Your committee therefore reports their findings as follows:

(a) That the accounts of the department have been accurately kept according to the methods devised and approved by the State Accountant.

(b) That the law does not require the department to keep a separate account of the arrests, convictions and fines instigated by local officers and by the officers of the Department of Prohibition.

(c) That no charges were preferred against the Prohibition Department before the committee.

(d) That the criticisms of the department that were presented have been satisfactorily answered.

(e) That no charge or criticism was made before the committee affecting the personal integrity, business capacity or Christian character of the head of the Department of Prohibition, Dr. J. Sidney Peters.

Respectfully submitted this the eleventh day of March, 1920.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES,
 RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, March 8, 1920.

SENATORS FERGUSON AND MILLS, AND DELEGATES FULLER AND HENLEY,
Corporation Commission Court Room, State Capitol, Richmond, Va.

GENTLEMEN:

As two of the patrons of the resolution calling for an investigation of the State Prohibition Department, under which you have been appointed, we desire to advise that after an informal conference with the patrons of this resolution, that we are of the decided opinion, that any investigation at this late day in the session cannot be as thorough as we would desire, and that therefore we shall not appear before your committee.

Frankly, the resolution was held up in the Senate, and passed during the dying days of the session when it was too late to conduct the thorough and complete investigation for which it provided. Briefly, the facts are these: The resolution, carrying the names of twenty-eight patrons, passed the House and was transmitted to the Senate on February 20th. There it remained buried until it was finally resurrected and passed with amendments on March 2nd. It was then transmitted to the House and on the following day this body agreed to the Senate amendments. In view of the fact that more than two weeks have passed since the passage of this resolution by the House, during the greater portion of which time it was held up in the Senate by friends of the department, and especially in view of the fact that only five days remain within which to conduct and make a report of the investigation, we feel that it is impossible to conduct the thorough investigation for which the resolution provided. We feel that we have been vindicated to some extent through the nomination by the caucus of another than the present head of the department, and not desiring to further press the matter under such conditions it shall be closed as far as our appearance before your committee is concerned.

Sincerely yours,

W. L. JOYCE,

Sec. 170. The General Assembly may levy a tax on incomes in excess of six hundred dollars per annum; may levy a license tax upon any business which cannot be reached by the ad valorem system; and may impose State franchise taxes, and in imposing a franchise tax, may, in its discretion, make the same in lieu of taxes upon other property, in whole or in part, of a transportation, industrial, or commercial corporation. Sec. 170. The General Assembly may levy a tax on incomes in excess of six hundred dollars per annum; may levy a license tax upon any business which cannot be reached by the ad valorem system and may impose State franchise taxes, and in imposing a franchise tax, may, in its discretion, make the same in lieu of taxes upon other property, in whole or in part, of a transportation, industrial or commercial corporation. No city or town shall impose any tax or assessment upon abutting land owners for public local improvements, except for paving streets, curbs, gutters, walkways and alleys, and for the construction of sewers, other than main outlets, and the same, when imposed upon the abutting land owners on each side thereof, shall not exceed one-fourth of the cost of such local public improvements. But no taxes or assessments for such local public improvements other than for making and improving the walkways upon then existing streets, and improving and paving then existing alleys, and for the construction of sewers other than main outlets, shall be imposed on abutting land owners except in such cities and towns as by a majority of the qualified voters voting shall favor the adoption by and for such city or town of the policy of levying such taxes or assessments, at an election in which that question shall be submitted to the qualified voters thereof by an ordinance duly adopted by the council or other governing body, and such body may by a similar ordinance submit to such voters the question of repealing such policy to be determined by a majority of the qualified voters voting at a subsequent election. No tax or assessment for such undertakings as are mentioned in section 127-B of this Constitution shall in any case be imposed on abutting land owners. Except in cities and towns, and counties having a population greater than three hundred inhabitants per square mile, as shown by the United States census, no taxes or assessments, for local public improvements, shall be imposed on abutting land owners. COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES,

RICHMOND, VA., April 29, 1919.

HON. JOHN R. SAUNDERS, Attorney General,
Richmond, Va.

DEAR SIR:

Chapters 436 and 437 of the Acts of Assembly 1918, pages 788-790, are identical. They propose amendments to section 136 of the Constitution. In publication of the proposed amendments, is it necessary that these identical amendments shall both be published or shall I publish only one?

The expense of the publication of proposed amendments to the Constitution is quite heavy, and I would thank you to advise me what course to pursue. If only one of the resolutions is to be published. I suggest that the last one agreed to be selected.

The authority for the publication of proposed amendments to the Constitution is found in the Acts of Assembly 1908, chapter 13, page 22.

Yours very truly,

JNO. W. WILLIAMS,
Clerk of the House of Delegates.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,

RICHMOND, VA., May 1, 1919.

HON. JNO. W. WILLIAMS, Clerk, House of Delegates,
Richmond, Va.

DEAR SIR:

I beg leave to acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 29, in which you call my attention to the fact that the last legislature, in proposing an amendment to section 136 of the Constitution, passed two resolutions, one signed on March 6, 1918, and the other on March 7, 1918. I notice that both of the resolutions are identical.

You ask if it is necessary to publish both of these resolutions. In reply, I will state that I do not think it will be necessary to publish both of the resolutions. If you publish the one signed on March 7, 1918, that will be all that is necessary.

Yours very truly,

JNO. R. SAUNDERS,
Attorney General.

The proposed amendment to section 136 of the Constitution was not published for the reasons set forth in following correspondence, and the matter is referred to the General Assembly for such action as it may deem proper to take.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES,

RICHMOND, VA., April 29, 1919.

HON. JOHN R. SAUNDERS, Attorney General,
Richmond, Va.

DEAR SIR:

I desire to call your attention to an error in the passage of the resolution proposing amendment to section 186 of the Constitution, chapter 434, Acts 1918, page 787.

In the proposed amendment after the words "State Treasurer," there should have been a period and following the same a new sentence should have begun. The following words are there omitted: "No money shall be paid out of the State Treasury." I have examined the original draft of the resolution offered, also the enrolled resolution, and the words mentioned are omitted in each case.

In the present form of the resolution it is meaningless and will not accomplish its purpose because proceedings cannot be had at the next session of the General Assembly as required by section 196 of the Constitution. The purpose of my letter is to inquire whether I shall proceed with the publication of the inoperative section with its attendant expense, or whether I shall withhold the publication and make report to the next General Assembly?

Yours very truly,

JNO. W. WILLIAMS,
Clerk of the House of Delegates.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,

RICHMOND, VA., May 1, 1919.

HON. JNO. W. WILLIAMS, Clerk, House of Delegates, City.

DEAR SIR:

I beg leave to acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 29, concerning a resolution passed by the General Assembly at its session of 1918, which said resolution was signed on March 4, 1918. This resolution proposed an amendment to section 186 of the Constitution of Virginia.

You call my attention also to the fact that in the passage of this resolution, a part of the section of the Constitution was left out. You further ask that inasmuch as a part of this section was omitted, should you proceed to publish the same as is required by law.

In reply, I will state that a publication of this, in my judgment, would amount to practically nothing and the only thing to do is to refer it to the next legislature and have it properly passed. It would be a useless expenditure of money to publish this in its present form.

Yours very truly,

JNO. R. SAUNDERS,

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 117 of article 8 of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for publishing said amendment and certifying the same to the next General Assembly.

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Delegates concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same is hereby proposed, and referred to the General Assembly to be chosen at the next general election of Senators and members of the House of Delegates, for its concurrence, in conformity to the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen, of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and seventeen, which is in the words and figures following, to-wit:

Section 117. General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the General Assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house; and except also in the case of cities having more than fifty thousand inhabitants, as hereinafter provided. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this amendment a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the General Assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended so as to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

Notwithstanding, however, anything in this article contained the General Assembly may, by general law or by special act (passed as prescribed in article four of this Constitution), depart in any respect (except as otherwise in this section expressly provided) from the form of organization and government prescribed by this article for cities and towns, and may provide, from time to time, for the various cities and towns of the Commonwealth such form or forms of municipal government as the General Assembly may deem best; but no form or forms of government authorized by the second paragraph of this section shall become operative except as to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of its qualified electors at an election to be held as may be prescribed therefor by law. All the limitations on the powers of the councils of cities and towns imposed by this article shall apply in like manner to the principal legislative authority under any form of government which may be authorized hereunder. The term "council" as used in sections one hundred and twenty-five and one hundred and twenty-seven of this Constitution shall be construed to include the body which, under any form of municipal government, shall be vested with the principal legislative authority of such municipality.

The General Assembly, for the purpose of this article, may classify cities according to their population, but the maximum population prescribed for any class shall exceed the minimum population for the same class by at least ten thousand. The General Assembly, at the request, made in manner which may be prescribed by law, of any city having a population of over fifty thousand inhabitants, may grant a special form of government for such city.

Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurer and city sergeants.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 117. (a) General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the General Assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this Constitution a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the General Assembly: provided, that every such charter is hereby amended to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

(b) The General Assembly may, by general law or by special act (passed in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution), provide for the organization and government of cities and towns without regard to, and unaffected by any of the provisions of this article, except those of sections one hundred and twenty-four, one hundred and twenty-five (except so far as the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-five recognize the office of mayor and the power of veto), one hundred and twenty-six, one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight of this article and except those mentioned in sub-section (d) of this section. The term "Council" as used in any of said sections shall include the body exercising legislative authority for the city or town, and all ordinances enacted and resolutions adopted by such body shall have the same force and effect for all purposes, as if enacted or adopted in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-three of this article. But such organization and government shall apply only to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of those qualified voters of any such city or town voting in an election to be held for the purpose, as may be provided by law.

(c) The General Assembly, at the request of any city or town made in manner provided by law, may grant to it any special form of organization and government authorized by sub-section (b) of this section, and subject to all of the provisions of that sub-section, except that it shall not be necessary for such city or town to thereafter adopt the same.

(d) Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurers and city sergeants.

(e) Any form of organization and government authorized by any provision of this section which may have been adopted heretofore by any city or town pursuant to any act of the General Assembly enacted before such provision became effective; and which is now in operation, is hereby declared legal and valid ab initio, and shall have the same force and effect as if it had been authorized by this Constitution at the time of its adoption.

A RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 133 of article 9 of the Constitution of Virginia.

Resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring (the majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to section one hundred and thirty-three, article nine, of the Constitution of Virginia, be and is hereby proposed and referred to the General Assembly at the first regular session held after the next general election of members of the House of Delegates for its concurrence in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six, of article fifteen of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and thirty-three of article nine, which is in the following words:

Section 133. Each magisterial district shall constitute a separate school district, unless otherwise provided by law. In each school district there be three trustees selected, in the manner and for the term of office prescribed by law.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 133. Each magisterial district shall constitute a separate school district, unless otherwise provided by law. In each school district there shall be not more than three trustees selected, in the manner and for the term of office prescribed by law.

Men and women may serve as school trustees in said districts, and in cities and in towns forming separate school districts.

REPORT

OF THE

Code Revision Commission

To the General Assembly of Virginia:

Both the annotated and unannotated editions of the Code of Virginia provided for by the act approved March 8, 1918, have been published to the extent hereinafter stated. Five thousand copies of each edition were required by said act to be printed and bound. All of the copies have been printed, but on account of the excessive cost of binding and the insufficiency of the appropriation, the revisors contracted for the binding of only one thousand copies of each edition. These copies have been distributed to those entitled thereto, and the remainder delivered to the Secretary of the Commonwealth for sale in accordance with the act. There was considerable delay in getting the press work done and the binding of the two thousand copies mentioned. The revisors used every means at their command to facilitate the work, but the contractors stated that it was physically impossible further to hasten the work to completion because of conditions during and following the late war, which prevented them from securing the necessary labor. The war conditions made it very difficult to secure paper and other necessary supplies, and the expense exceeded by far any estimate made by the revisors and the Superintendent of Public Printing. Because of such extra expense the prices fixed by statute for the Codes will not reimburse the Commonwealth for the cost of publication. It is estimated that in order to provide for the completion of the publication, binding and distribution of the Code under the act approved March 8, 1918, it will be necessary to expend approximately $65,000.00 in addition to the sums heretofore paid out on account of the revision. This sum will be necessary to pay the contractors for printing the Code the balance that may be found by the revisors and the Superintendent of Public Printing to be due them for their work, and also to pay for the cost of storage, hauling, and completing the binding and distribution of the Code in the manner specified in the act aforesaid. The revisors, therefore, recommend that a sufficient appropriation be made for the purposes set out.

In the preparation of the revisors' notes and annotations, and because of the passage of certain acts at the session of the General Assembly in 1918, certain amendments to the Code were found desirable to be made, and for the reasons hereinafter referred to or specifically mentioned, the following sections are recommended for amendment, bills therefor having been prepared by the revisors:

Sec. 42. The reasons for this bill are stated in the revisors' note in the annotated Code.

Sec. 59. The reasons for this bill are stated in the revisors' note in the annotated Code.

Sec. 122. The reasons for this bill are stated in the revisors' note in the annotated Code.

Sec. 1636. The object of this bill is simply to insert a line which was dropped out by the printers.

Sec. 2094. This bill removes a conflict between section 2094 and section 2095 by striking out the latter part of the first paragraph of section 2094.

Sec. 2449. This bill inserts a line which was dropped out by the printers.

Sec. 2466. This bill repeals section 2466 because it is a duplication of the last paragraph of section 2465.

Sec. 3009. This bill repeals this section because covered by and in conflict with section 2987.

Sec. 3485. The fifth item of this section as it appears in the new Code was to have been omitted, as the change made in the fourth item covers it fully. After the item numbered (2) in the section there was omitted the following important item: "If when a bill or answer is filed, there be filed at the same time any exhibit, on which the clerk endorses the name of the case and the day it is filed, for every such exhibit . . . 05." The section is therefore amended to cure this omission.

Sec. 3852. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note to the section in the annotated Code.

Sec. 3897. The reference in the body of this section as it appears in the new Code should be to 3899 and not 3900. The bill simply makes this correction.

Sec. 3935. This bill simply inserts a line which was dropped out by the printers.

Sec. 4125. This bill simply inserts a line which was dropped out by the printers.

Sec. 4180. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note to the section in the annotated Code.

Sec. 4354. The object of this bill is to correct an omission made in setting up the section by the printers. See line 22 on page 1758 of the annotated Code.

Sec. 4813. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note in the annotated Code.

Sec. 4896. The reason for this bill is stated in the last paragraph of the revisors' note in the annotated Code. The bill simply restores the substance of section 4029 of the Code of 1887.

Sec. 5388 and Sec. 5389. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note to section 5388 in the annotated Code.

Sec. 5787. This bill inserts the words "and grandchildren" in line 3 from the bottom of page 2536 of the annotated Code. Of this the revisors say in their note: "The words 'and grandchildren' should have been inserted in line four from the bottom of this section. The omission was inadvertent, but it is believed not to be material in view of the provisions of the next section."

This bill also inserts the following new sentence: "Nothing shall be apportioned to be deferred class until the preferred class has been exhausted, but between members of the same class the jury shall have absolute discretion as to whom shall receive the whole or any part of the recovery."

The above insertions do not change the existing law, but simply makes it statutory and clears up the use of "and" before children and before grandchildren.

Sec. 5790. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note in the annotated Code.

Sections 5986, 5987, 5988, 5989, 5990. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note in the annotated Code (section 5986). The date mentioned in section 5986 has been changed from the first day of January to the first day of February, and in section 5988 from the fifteenth day of January to the fifteenth day of February. The object of these changes is to permit action under the sections this year (1920), otherwise the administration of justice will be seriously impaired. The provision in the bill relating to Newport News is taken from the act of 1918 referred to in the revisors' note to section 5986.

Sec. 6105. The reason for this bill is stated in the revisors' note to the section in the annotated Code.

Sec. 6298. The object of this bill is to change the word "deed" (last word in section) to "instrument." The error thus corrected was inadvertent.

Sec. 6441. This bill repeals this section, and the reason for the repeal will be found in the revisors' note to the section in the annotated Code.

A bill providing when an action of account may be maintained. This bill simply restores section 3294 of the Code of 1887, which section was omitted in the revision through oversight of the result of the omission. The cases of Early v. Friend, 16 Grat. 21, and Watts v. Watts' Ex'r, 104 Va. 269, show the importance of this statute which is of ancient origin.

The printing of the Code did not require the use of all paper which was bought for the purpose, and a considerable quantity remains on hand. This the Superintendent of Public Printing will dispose of, and have the proceeds placed to the credit of the Code fund.

The revisors, having given to it their best efforts, submit their completed work with the hope that it will meet the approval of those who need to have recourse to the statute law of the Commonwealth.

NOTE.—The attention of the Senate Finance Committee, and of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Delegates, is called to the fact that after the budget estimates of the judiciary were filed with the Governor by the Auditor of Public Accounts, in accordance with law, and they had been printed, it was found by the Auditor of Public Accounts that sec. 4988 of the Code of Virginia (1919) changes the law as to the payment of salaries of trial justices by placing the full amount upon the counties (see "Revisors' Note" p. 2060, vol. 2, Code of Virginia, 1919).

It is provided by section 2 of the budget law, however, that the Governor shall include the budget estimates for the judiciary, as furnished by the Auditor of Public Accounts, in the Budget without revision. It being too late for the Auditor of Public Accounts to revise his estimates, in view of the fact that they had been printed before the change in the Code was discovered, it is suggested that this total appropriation for justices' courts be reduced to $2,500, and the allowance for the salary of the trial justice in Alexandria county be omitted from the appropriation bill in conformity with the provisions of sec. 4988 of the Code of Virginia (1919).

NOTE.—The attention of the Senate Finance Committee, and of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Delegates, is called to the fact that after the budget estimates of the judiciary were filed with the Governor by the Auditor of Public Accounts, in accordance with law, and they had been printed, it was found by the Auditor of Public Accounts that sec. 4988 of the Code of Virginia (1919) changes the law as to the payment of salaries of trial justices by placing the full amount upon the counties (see "Revisors' Note" p. 2060, vol. 2, Code of Virginia, 1919).

It is provided by section 2 of the budget law, however, that the Governor shall include the budget estimates for the judiciary, as furnished by the Auditor of Public Accounts, in the Budget without revision. It being too late for the Auditor of Public Accounts to revise his estimates, in view of the fact that they had been printed before the change in the Code was discovered, it is suggested that this total appropriation for justices' courts be reduced to $2,500, and the allowance for the salary of the trial justice in Alexandria county be omitted from the appropriation bill in conformity with the provisions of sec. 4988 of the Code of Virginia (1919).

Commission on Preventable Diseases

RICHMOND, VA., January 5, 1920.

To the General Assembly of Virginia:

On February 8, 1918, see House Journal 1918, page 396, paragraph 1, your Honorable Body passed the following resolution:

"Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That a commission to be known as the Commission on Preventable Diseases, to consist of five members to be appointed by the Governor, whose duty it shall be to investigate the various kinds of preventable diseases, the modes of preventing such diseases in vogue in other States, and report to the General Assembly at its next session the results of such investigation, with recommendations as to how such diseases may be prevented in this State, together with such bills as in their judgment will carry out such recommendations. Members of said commission shall serve without compensation, and the Superintendent of Public Printing shall print their said report for distribution among members of the next General Assembly."

Having been appointed by His Excellency, Governor Westmoreland Davis, members of the above commission, we submit the following report:

The following indicates the amount of money appropriated to the State Board of Health for maintenance in several of the more important States, exclusive of the operation of sanatoria.

In addition to the appropriation made by the State legislatures, some State Boards of Health, including Virginia, receive financial assistance from outside sources, as for example, the International Health Board and the Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

FUNCTIONS OF THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The Health Department is engaged in the practice of preventive or community medicine, which has for its object improvement of the public health and prolongation of human life through the eradication of those diseases known to be "preventable," all of which are a serious handicap to the individual and his family, as well as a great economic burden to the community and the State.

In the practice of preventive medicine, there are four great principles involved:

1. The collection of vital statistics.
2. Epidemiological study.
3. Application of preventive measures.
4. Public health education.

The first is of great importance, because it is not possible to take action against any disease until it is known when and where it is occurring.

The second is of great importance because preventive measures cannot be applied logically until it is known just what are the conditions and circumstances under which the disease occurs, prevails or spreads.

The great value of the third is obvious.

Of the fourth it may be said that when all persons have a thorough knowledge of public health each will be a health officer, and the eradication of disease will be much easier.

PREVENTABLE DISEASES.

Preventable diseases may be placed in five groups:

1. Those due to disease producing organisms.
2. Those due to occupation or nature of industry.
3. Those due to dietary deficiencies.
4. Those due to heredity.
5. Those due to faulty environment or faulty habits.

1. The first group includes all those communicable diseases which are dependent for their continued presence upon a previous case of the same disease; that is to say, they spread from one person to another either by direct or indirect means. As examples, one might cite:

(a) Typhoid fever .....	{ So-called "filth" diseases, spread by discharges from the intestines, through polluted water, soil, milk and flies.
Dysentery.....
Infantile diarrhoea.....
Hookworm and other intestinal parasites .....

Individually and collectively, these diseases are the cause of much disability and many deaths in the State of Virginia as well as in other sections of the United States.

The methods of control are definite and certain in their action. Proper disposal of human fecal matter, a pure water supply, elimination of fly-breeding and a pure milk supply will result in reducing the incidence of the "filth" borne diseases to a negligible quantity.

(b) Malaria..... A disease carried by mosquitoes.

This disease is a serious handicap in certain parts of the State.

The methods of control are also definite and certain. No anopheles mosquitoes—no malaria.

(c) Tuberculosis .....	} Diseases which are spread by discharges from the mouth and nose.
Pneumonia .....
Cerebro-spinal fever .....
Influenza .....
Measles .....
Whooping cough .....
Scarlet fever .....
Diphtheria .....
Smallpox .....

These diseases are the cause of much disability and many deaths in all parts of the United States, including Virginia. However, their epidemiology is not so well understood as in the diseases spread by intestinal discharges. Sneezing and coughing play a large part in disseminating infection, but the ways open for the transference of discharges from mouth to mouth are so devious and sundry that preventive measures taken on the part of the health officer are pretty much confined to isolation of a known case of the disease and education of the public so that each individual may in time know how to protect himself. This education should begin in the schools.

Exceptions to the above remarks may be made in the case of smallpox and diphtheria where the health officer has a sure means of prevention, i. e., immunization by the use of a vaccine or a serum. A well vaccinated population need not fear smallpox.

(d) Venereal diseases..... { Spread by direct and immediate contact between persons.

2. The second group includes the industrial injuries, both diseases and accidents. As examples, one may cite poisoning by arsenic, phosphorus, brass, etc., by inhalation of irritating dust, as in mines, marble works, potteries, wood-working plants, cotton mills, etc.; accidents from burning, explosion, asphyxiation, cutting, etc.

3. The third group contains pellagra, an important cause of disability and death in some sections of the South.

4. Among the fourth group are pre-eminently the mental diseases and deficiencies. Persons afflicted are often a menace to themselves as well as to others and require institutional care.

5. The fifth group overlaps the other groups and includes those diseases and disabilities associated with polluted water supply, improper disposal of sewage, disease carrying insects, faulty lighting, bad housing conditions, faulty posture, etc.

Many of the preventive measures directed towards the elimination, or at least the limitation, of these various hazards of life and health must be applied from time to time throughout the life of the citizen; others are applied only during certain age periods. For the purpose of public health administration these periods, with their corresponding specific public health activities, are as follows:

1. The period of preconception—eugenics
2. Intrauterine period—prenatal nursing.
3. Period of birth—obstetrical nursing....
4. Period of infancy—infant welfare.....
5. School age—health supervision of schools .....
6. Productive and reproductive age—industrial hygiene .....
7. Old age—prevention of cancer and organic diseases .....

Through all periods. Vital statistics, epidemiological studies, prevention of communicable diseases. Public health education.

ORGANIZATION OF A HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

In order that the principles of preventive medicine may be applied in a business like manner, a logical subdivision of the Health Department suggests itself. The following outline is a composite of many health departments, some of which are effectively and some poorly organized, but all have the same object in view:

1. The State Health Commissioner.

- (a) The administrative and executive office.
- (b) The office of the chief clerk.

2. Bureau of Vital Statistics.

This bureau is concerned principally with the following:

- (a) Collection and study of reports of deaths.
- (b) Collection and study of reports of births.
- (c) Collection and study of reports of diseases.
- (d) Collection and study of reports of marriages.

In this bureau are placed the statisticians of the department.

3. Bureau of Communicable Diseases.

This bureau is concerned principally with the following:

- (a) Epidemiological studies of communicable diseases .....
- (b) Application of preventive measures .....
- (c) Control of field, county or district units .....
- (d) Operation of dispensaries.....
- (e) Operation of isolation hospitals and sanatoria .....
- (f) Diagnostic laboratory .....

This bureau contains most of the physicians of the Health Department and among other things the administration of anti-T. B. work, anti-venereal disease clinics, etc.

4. Bureau of Public Health Engineering.

This bureau is concerned principally with the following:

- (a) Control of water supplies.....
- (b) Control of sewerage systems.....
- (c) Control of garbage disposal systems .....
- (d) Control of trade wastes.....
- (e) Elimination of mosquito breeding centers .....
- (f) Water and sewage analyses.....

In this bureau are placed the sanitary engineers of the Health Department.

5. Bureau of Public Health Nursing.

This bureau is concerned principally with the following:

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| (a) Prenatal nursing .....  | } In this department are placedthe public health nurses ofthe Health Department. |
| (b) Obstetrical nursing .....   |  |
| (c) Infant welfare .....  |  |
| (d) Health supervision of schools....   |  |
| (e) Regulation of practice of mid-wifery .....  |  |
| (f) And in addition, such publichealth nursing as may benecessary for other bureaus,for instance, in anti-tubercu-losis work..... |  |

6. Bureau of Industrial Hygiene.

7. Bureau of Public Health Education.

The above may be regarded as an ideal organization, but will often have to be modified to suit local conditions or funds available.

No matter what the scheme of organization may be, the successful administration of the department demands the closest co-operation between all bureaus. Many of the department's activities require the combined efforts of doctors, engineers, nurses and statisticians; as, for instance, in rural sanitation, in anti-malarial measures, or measures directed against typhoid fever. Doctors, nurses and statisticians must work together in combatting tuberculosis, etc.

Again, much of the success attending the work of the State depends upon the co-operation which it receives from the locality, and this in turn implies the organization of an efficient local health department, which will carry on the work after the State has pointed out or demonstrated the way to do it. In other words, the funds of a State Board of Health can never be large enough to supply the needs of all communities, rural and urban, but the State health officials must always be ready to point out the way and to find the way if necessary; to advise, supervise and investigate. Each county and each incorporated town is under an obligation to care for the health of its citizens and should appropriate money for that purpose. The larger cities realize this important duty, the rural districts are far from a realization of it.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE ACTIVITIES OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

VITAL STATISTICS.

The State of Virginia is in the registration area of the United States for both births and deaths, meaning that 90 per cent or more of the births and deaths occurring within the State are reported to the State Registrar.

On the other hand, the reporting of diseases is not satisfactory, a statement which would apply equally as well to all States. To improve this requires constant efforts on the part of the Health Department directed more especially toward the education of physicians in this respect.

All statistics have an immediate as well as a future value. The immediate value is to inform the health officer, from day to day, or week to week, of the prevalence of disease in the various communities. With such knowledge he is enabled to anticipate a possible epidemic by taking preventive measures promptly and early.

Statistics are also valuable when worked up at the end of the year, for it is only by a study of statistics that one is able to make comparison with past years and thus determine the full effect of preventive measures.

It is suggested that punching and sorting machines would be a great aid to the compilation of statistics in the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

EPIDEMIOLOGICAL STUDIES.

Investigations into outbreaks of the common communicable diseases of the respiratory type (measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc.), are made from time to time as requested or required, and the State Board of Health has promulgated regulations for the guidance of local health officers in the control of these diseases. The State Board of Health also maintains a laboratory in which bacteriological tests are made for the health officers or practicing physicians of the State, for diagnostic purposes or release from isolation or quarantine. In addition, education of the people, relative to the ways in which diseases are spread, is carried on by various means. Except in emergencies, this is about all that can be expected from a State Board of Health in the control of the common diseases of the respiratory type.

Anti-tuberculosis activities are carried on by the Virginia Tuberculosis Association, on the board of directors of which are several members of the State Board of Health and the State Health Commission. The work consists principally of visits by a public health nurse or social worker to a county or local community with the object of arousing interest and enthusiasm in the subject of tuberculosis control, which will lead to the employment locally of visiting nurses. At the same time, a clinic is opened for the examination of citizens of the locality who may have, or who are believed to have, tuberculosis. Proper instruction to the patient is furnished. The work is largely educational and expenses are paid out of funds raised by the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. Sanatoria are maintained by State appropriations for the isolation and treatment of the tuberculous. These sanatoria are under the supervision of the State Board of Health. In many States they are under the supervision of the State Board of Control.

Activities along the lines of child welfare are largely carried on by the Bureau of Public Health Nursing of the State Board of Health. Such activities include field investigations among the people and in the schools of rural localities especially. The information obtained is then placed before the officials and other citizens of the community as an argument favoring the employment of a public health nurse for the county, who can then continue the work instituted by the State. She has no assistants.

In addition to the above, there is a Bureau of Child Welfare and School Hygiene which proposes to work along similar lines. The chief of the bureau is a physician. She has no assistants. So far her work has been largely among the pupils of the normal schools, educating them in school hygiene so that when they become teachers they will be in a position to apply the principles of preventive medicine to the children of the schools.

Here, it may be pointed out, the Bureau of Nursing and the Bureau of Child Welfare and School Hygiene are working in fields that are similar if not the same. The nurse is, or should be, the important part of the field force. This is also true of anti-tuberculosis activities. All are closely co-related and the work should be centralized in order to prevent an overlapping of functions and a duplication of effort. According to modern views, the activities of a public health nurse should not be limited to one phase of the work only.

The State Board of Health has deemed it advisable to concentrate, more or less, its efforts in the control of those diseases spread by intestinal discharges. It is well known that preventive measures directed against these diseases produce more certain and quicker results. In the control of such diseases, typhoid fever is usually taken as the index of success. A reduction in typhoid fever means also a reduction in hookworm and dysentery, for instance, as both are disseminated in the same way as typhoid fever.

These diseases are being attacked by three agencies, each operating over different territory.

1. The State sanitary engineer exercises effective supervision over the water supplies and sewerage systems of incorporated cities and towns.

2. The State Board of Health, in co-operation with the International Health Board, organizes a health unit which consists of a doctor, a nurse and a sanitary inspector, and which is placed in a county where it operates not only with the idea of suppressing the "filth" borne disease, but along other lines of public health work as well, including school hygiene and infant welfare. Thus the county is provided with the nucleus of a county health department capable of demonstrating its value and which in time will be replaced by health officials paid wholly by the county. At the present, they are borne one-half by the county, one-quarter by the State and one-quarter by the International Health Board. Six counties are now being covered.

3. The United States Public Health Service is also working in certain counties of Virginia to improve rural conditions, but its work is almost entirely directed towards the elimination of typhoid fever and kindred diseases by establishing in the homes and schools safe methods for the disposal of human excrement. An inspector or demonstrator is placed in each county, the counties are grouped into districts and a physician placed in charge of each district. At present the work is going on in three districts, comprised of eleven counties. The cost is $2,000.00 per county, one-half being paid by the county, and one-half by the United States Public Health Service and the State.

In addition to the above, the State Board of Health, in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service and the Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board, is engaged in the activities directed towards the control of venereal diseases. This work was inaugurated during the war and should be continued. It is partly educational, but clinics have been established for the cure of venereal diseases and these diseases have been added to the list of reportable diseases.

THE STATE HEALTH OFFICER.

It is thought that a system of administration whereby the Commissioner of Health is placed in control of the Health Department and is responsible directly to the Governor is superior to the older system where a board of health is in control, the health officer acting as secretary of the board.

In the first instance, the Commissioner should be given an advisory board upon which he can call for advice before adopting new policies. It is well to have such a board composed of experts along various lines of public health work. A meeting of the whole board is then not necessary, as consultation with the special expert is all that is required. If the board must be a controlling board, the fewer members the better, not more than five, composed of business men, an engineer and doctors.

RE TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIA.

The suppression of tuberculosis is a stupendous undertaking. Sanatorium isolation and early treatment are valuable aids in its suppression. Many beds are needed. In Virginia, more than 3,000 people die every year of pulmonary tuberculosis. Basing a calculation on the number of deaths from this disease that occurred during 1918, namely, 3,560, it may be assumed that not less than 2,850 beds are necessary. It is obviously out of the question for the State to assume the entire financial burden, and the hope lies in a multiplicity of institutions, i. e., an institution in each county and principal city, the expenses to be borne by the counties and cities with State aid. Proper laws should be enacted to encourage the localities to assume this obligation. Adjoining counties, up to three, which are poor or sparsely settled, should be permitted to pool their resources and erect a sanatorium to be used in common. An additional reason for county sanatoria is that patients may be isolated under proper conditions and yet remain near their homes.

The State should also maintain sanatoria, but it is not fair to charge the expenses of maintenance against the funds of the State Health Department unless it is clearly understood that appropriations on this account, which are necessarily large, will not interfere with appropriations badly needed for other purposes.

Considering the limited funds available the State Board of Health has done some very satisfactory work with reference to the eradication of malaria, the incidence of which is high in certain localities in the State.

COMMENT.

In all States the public health problems are more or less alike, but differ in magnitude. A large problem in one may be of minor importance in another. In all of its activities, the State Board of Health of Virginia is working along modern lines and the methods used in disease prevention are similar to those recognized as effective in other leading States. The regulations of the board are up to date.

An especially large problem in the State of Virginia is that of rural sanitation. This is being attacked as vigorously as limited funds will permit. An improvement in rural conditions means a reduction in the amount of typhoid fever and other filth-borne diseases, including hookworm. Elimination of these diseases will indirectly decrease the numbers of cases of other maladies like tuberculosis, by improvement in the physical condition of the people. The educational propaganda carried on will also be of great benefit.

Work directed against venereal diseases is the same as in all States and is governed by regulations used in common by all. The reports made by the draft boards show the great need for such work. The figures published for Virginia are very striking and indicate clearly much must be done in the future if this plague is to be controlled. There is great need for isolation hospitals in which to place those who are infected with a venereal disease until a cure is effected. This is a matter which is up to the cities. As in the case of tuberculosis, the State cannot carry the whole burden. Every city should have an isolation hospital in which to isolate communicable diseases, including venereal disease.

Normal growth of the Health Department is not possible until more money is appropriated for its maintenance. Its activities are restricted not from want of knowledge or desire, but from lack of money to employ the necessary personnel.

PUBLIC POLICY.

It is well recognized that a State cannot be superior to the people who compose it. The development of the body and mind of its citizens is, therefore, a necessity if the State itself would rise to the height of its possibilities. There is, then, a compelling State reason for promoting public health. The work naturally divides itself into preventive and curative processes. The latter field has already received under private initiative much attention because of the individuals directly affected, in order to remedy their diseases and save their lives, have employed physicians and supplied themselves with medicines. Of this branch of the work only the poorest have been compelled to ask public aid and private charity.

While it is admitted that provision for curative treatment is not as thorough and efficient as one might wish, it is so much in advance of preventive treatment that the State can well afford to leave untouched this side of the problem except in certain special directions that will be pointed out later. It may be truly said, too, that when the State has made proper and adequate effort to eliminate preventable diseases, there will be far less need for curative treatment than at present.

The prevention of disease is a science which may be said to be practically in its introductory stage and therefore its most efficient methods can hardly be said to be thoroughly perfected and for this reason it would, in our opinion, be inadvisable to prescribe by law too strictly the methods of the State Health Department. Better results may be expected from a policy of leaving it a liberal amount of initiative in performing its duties.

Health work may properly be regarded as an important part of the State's educational efforts. The same reasons that justify the operation of public schools will sustain the proposition that the State should do what may be possible to preserve the public health. Health and school work go hand in hand and there should be the closest co-operation possible between them. Of what avail is it to try to develop the mind of a child whose constitution is seriously impaired by hookworm and other parasitical afflictions? Or a child whose blood is filled with the germs of malaria? Surely it is folly to spend money to educate children under conditions that so weaken their vitality that they are both mentally and physically subnormal. It is peculiarly.

then, the duty of the State to do whatever may be necessary to make effective its efforts to promote good citizenship. If, however, the higher though more recondite reasons for such efforts by the State are waived and only the material results are considered, the health and education of the people are all important because they are essential elements of efficient production. The public welfare, the happiness of the people and the material development of the resources of the State alike depend upon these things.

The major task of the State Health Department is educational. Its chief aim should be to create a health consciousness in the people, to teach them a philosophy of right living that would insure their full and intelligent co-operation in the effort to bring about proper sanitation so that the pest-holes, squalid abodes and disease-breeding centers, in which degenerative and death-dealing causes lurk, may be rendered innocuous. This educational work, this development of health consciousness in the public, may be best understood by comparing the act of ignorant mothers sending their children into certain infectious and contagious diseases in order that they might contract them while young with the more intelligent mother who seeks by segregation to protect them from such diseases. Even so will the public, when properly educated, do its part to prevent the introduction and spread of disease. Typhoid fever, spread chiefly from human excrement, will then become a reflection on any neighborhood or family where it is permitted to develop, and smallpox will be a badge of ignorant neglect. The malarial mosquito will then be generally recognized as the deadly enemy that he is and unceasing and unrelenting warfare will be made upon him.

TUBERCULOSIS.

Tuberculosis, of all preventable diseases, is the most widespread and the most difficult to overcome. At one time not very remote it was placed in the incurable class. Once affected, the patient need hope for nothing better than to learn to die philosophically. Among the laity at least it was regarded as a visitation of that strange providence that takes to the other world those who do not trouble themselves to learn how to live in this. This conception in another sense still remains true. Of all diseases, tuberculosis is perhaps most attributable to a multitude of causes that are remediable. Since science has not as yet discovered any means of eradication of the bacillus of tuberculosis prior to its inception in the human body, the treatment must be largely remedial with the objective of creating an environment unfavorable to the development of the germ. One cannot with any assurance designate any single cause which when removed will destroy tuberculosis. The cure of the afflicted, however desirable in itself, can only be regarded as a short step in the process of eliminating this scourge which claims a larger death toll from the human family than any other single disease and entails a material loss upon society so large that to state it would excite both wonder and incredulity.

It has now been demonstrated that this disease is both preventable and curable. Materia medica, however, so far as we are advised, contains no sovereign remedy for these cases. If medication is useful at all, it is only in a limited way. The contributory causes of the disease are legion, including those of economic, industrial and social relation. In fact, anything that militates against physical efficiency, anything that lowers human vitality, may be considered a predisposing cause of active tuberculosis. It is claimed that a large proportion of civilized humanity—for tuberculosis is distinctly a disease of civilized peoples—takes in the bacilli of this disease in childhood and there they may remain, the sly, lurking enemies waiting to make the insidious and deadly attack whenever the individual from any cause suffers a diminution of vital force. None is safe, either from becoming a repository of the germ, or from the malignant development of it when once it has found lodgment in the system. Plainly it becomes a duty to apprise mankind of this constant danger and to teach all the most approved methods of both prevention and cure.

Ignorance is the bulwark of this disease and the most effective cause of its spread. Once give the public from the youngest to the oldest the idea that tuberculosis can and must be eradicated and teach them the methods of prevention and cure, and satisfactory diminution in the death rate will no doubt follow.

Public opinion is the most powerful agency known to man for accomplishing any social purpose. The first line of attack on tuberculosis should be the endeavor to educate all classes of the people to appreciate the advantages and necessity of conquering it. It may be observed, too, that the most effective method will perhaps be found in first educating the otherwise more intelligent part of our population so that the leaders in all classes may recognize the urgency of the need and thus become the strongest supporters of the State's health organization. Such a course will likely produce highly beneficial results, too, in the improvement of factory and housing conditions, as well as in furnishing the people necessary food and clothing by inducing more efficient production and equitable methods of distribution.

The objective for which all should strive is thorough co-operation to promote health consciousness and to devise efficient methods to eliminate all preventable diseases. It no longer admits of doubt that the desired result can be accomplished, but to do so two things are indispensable, namely, money and the efficient expenditure of it. Public health can be bought. The amount we get of it will depend upon the amount we pay, not only in money but in the effective use of it. For the first, we must rely upon the taxing power, and for the second upon a proper organization of the health departments, State and local, and the selection of capable, qualified men and women to do the work.

In the present state of the work, the greater burden must be carried by our State health authorities, but it may with reasonable safety be predicted that as the education of the public proceeds, localities will organize both for support and work in health activities in co-ordination and co-operation with the State organization.

Perhaps our most serious need today is for public vision to lay the foundations for a highly developed and efficient system for the prevention and cure of disease. Study of the history of the development of health work in Virginia, dating back less than twenty years, will convince one that even the small beginning we have made may be regarded as a seed planted, from which is now springing a protecting and healing tree, under whose shadows our people may in the near future rest in security.

We realize, however, that in matters dependent upon legislative action it is necessary to proceed in company with public opinion and, therefore, our recommendations and suggestions are made as we think in accord with the present ability of the State, viewed in the light of existing public opinion.

VENEREAL DISEASES.

When the late effects of syphilis on the heart and blood-vessels, the brain and spinal cord, are included with the number of prenatal deaths (abortions and miscarriages) and the deaths in the first year of life, it has been said to cause more deaths than any other disease. It is responsible for about one-fifth of all the insane in our asylums, and all cases of locomotor ataxia are due to it. More than half of all miscarriages and twenty-eight per cent of all deaths in the first year of life are caused by syphilis. Insanity and deaths in infancy are increasing, while the general death rate is decreasing.

Gonorrhea is much more prevalent than syphilis. It is responsible for twenty-five to thirty per cent of the blindness in all our blind institutions, about one-half of all sterility, and more than half of the operations on the generative organs of women.

Three per cent of the first million draftees in the United States, and 5.4 per cent of the second million were infected with a venereal disease when they reached camp; 8.45 per cent of Virginia's quota to the first million and 6.91 per cent for her quota to the second million were so infected.

The program for the control of these diseases in Virginia consists in:

- (a) Treatment.
- (b) Repression of prostitution.
- (c) Education.

(a) Syphilis is one of the most curable of all diseases, yet because of the cost of treatment, the time required to effect a cure, and the remarkable effect that even a little of the proper remedies have in causing the obvious signs of the disease to disappear, a very large percentage of its victims discontinue treatment long before they should and are never cured.

The widespread belief that gonorrhea is a very simple matter—"no worse than a bad cold"—is responsible for many men stopping treatment when the disease is still in a communicable stage. In females, in whom the ravages of the disease are frequently most serious, the nature of the infection is often not suspected by the victims.

Clinics for those who cannot or will not pay for adequate treatment have been established at eleven places in Virginia. These should do much to prevent the further spread of these diseases by making the period of infectivity in a large number of ignorant and vicious persons much shorter than it would be without such facilities for proper treatment. The cost of these clinics is borne by appropriations from the Federal, State and local government, and in most cases, by aid from other sources.

(b) The very great majority of all prostitutes, whether "public" or "private," are naturally infected with venereal diseases, but the menace to the public health which they and their male procurers constitute has only recently been realized. A trained investigator has been employed to in-investigate suspected sources of infection and to assist police departments in securing evidence for their detection and apprehension. Irresponsible carriers of venereal disease, whether male or female, are isolated and treated whenever it is possible to do so.

(c) Education is recognized as the keynote of success in the control of venereal diseases, as it is in the control of all others.

This is done by distribution of pamphlets, by lectures, newspaper publicity, placards and motion pictures.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT BY A MILL TAX.

1. The State, including the one-tenth of a mill tax, is appropriating $413,950.00 per annum for the support of its health activities. We suggest in lieu of the present method that the mill tax be increased to one-half mill to cover all health expenditures. We estimate that this tax would yield approximately $650,000.00 per annum.

In view of the large expenditures for public roads and the urgent need for better support of the school system, the State will need all of its present revenue for these and other purposes, and the imposition of this tax for health work will relieve the general funds to that extent. The mill tax principle of support is highly advisable, since it would furnish steady uniform support that would enable the health department to exercise more prevision and better judgment in planning its work than would be possible under a system which gives it no adequate knowledge of the amount that it may receive for its future support.

Of course, the General Assembly in appropriating this revenue could place such limitations as its judgment might indicate as to the amounts that could be expended by the health authorities in the different departments of its work. The employment of the mill tax principle of itself neither increases nor decreases the State's expenditure for this particular work. The regulation of the rate would effect this purpose, and is subject at all times to the will of the General Assembly.

DEVELOPMENT OF SANATORIA.

2. Private initiative has signally failed to keep pace with the need for sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis. As already pointed out, the need is urgent and of such proportion that it will require the best efforts of both the State and localities to meet it. We therefore suggest the adequate development of the existing State sanatoria and liberal State aid to the development of local sanatoria.

LOCAL SANATORIA.

3. We believe that great impetus could be given to local action if the State by a special appropriation would create a fund of $50,000.00 per annum to assist local authorities in developing local sanatoria. We are of the opinion that this appropriation should be made from the general funds of the State and segregated entirely from the regular funds devoted to the State's health activities. We think, too, that the State's aid should be cor fined to the building and equipment of local sanatoria, leaving care and maintenance of the same to the localities. It should be provided that all local sanatoria participating in this fund should come under the regulatory supervision of the State health authorities. Due provision should be made to permit co-operation of adjacent localities in building and maintenance of sanatoria for mutual service. State aid to local sanatoria should be confined to such as would receive the approval of the State health authorities.

DETENTION HOMES.

4. If the program for the control of venereal diseases is to be carried out fully, it is necessary that a detention home or farm with available hospital facilities, be established for infected women of any age. At present there are but few hospitals or other institutions in the State which admit known cases of venereal disease, and the two institutions for the reformation of moral delinquents are limited to girls under eighteen years of age. If a woman above this age is known to be afflicted with a venereal disease it is difficult for her to get work by which she can earn a living and almost impossible for her to get institutional treatment without money or friends. It is not surprising that she should feel vindictive toward a State and society responsible for such conditions, and that she should continue to obtain a living by the only means she knows, at whatever price to the public.

It is believed that a proper detention home with facilities for the treatment, and, so far as possible, the rehabilitation of this class of women would be a good investment for the State, and it would be a great beneficence rather than punishment for the women themselves.

CHANGE IN THE ORGANIZATION OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

5. The law at present provides that the State Board of Health shall consist of twelve members appointed by the Governor who shall be members of the State Medical Society, one of whom shall be chosen from each congressional district, and two from the city of Richmond, and in addition there shall be appointed two residents from the State at large, one of whom shall be a member of the State Dental Association. It will be observed that twelve of the fourteen members of this board must necessarily be doctors.

While we are deeply appreciative of the public spirit and great usefulness of the medical profession in this regard, we are at the same time impressed that the health work of the State is now assuming such proportions, involving intricate questions of policy and executive management, that it is highly desirable that a reasonable number of business men should be members of the board in order to give the benefit of their experience and judgment in methods of business policy and management. We, therefore, suggest that the limitation now placed on the Governor's appointing power be changed so that he would only be required to name as many as five members of the board who were members of the State Medical Association.

It will be observed that this recommendation, if accepted, will not debair the Governor from continuing the present policy if his judgment approves, but it does leave him free to vary it if it may appear desirable to do so.

We wish to express our appreciation of and obligation for the splendid co-operation and great assistance rendered us in this work by the Honorable Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury; Dr. Carroll Fox, of the United States Public Health Service, and Dr. Ennlon G. Williams, State Health Commissioner.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT

OF THE

Committee to Investigate the Causes of High Cost of Living

---

RICHMOND, VA., December 3, 1919.

To the General Assembly of Virginia:

Your committee appointed by the last special session of the General Assembly of Virginia, to inquire into the causes of the high cost of living and to suggest remedial legislation, has had several meetings and hearings and endeavored to go into this matter very thoroughly. Information on this subject was requested of every State in the Union, and replies were received from the following States:

Alabama.	Maryland.	Ohio.
Arizona.	Michigan.	Oklahoma.
Arkansas.	Minnesota.	Oregon.
California.	New Mexico.	Pennsylvania.
Colorado.	Mississippi.	Rhode Island.
Connecticut.	Missouri.	South Dakota.
Florida.	Montana.	Tennessee.
Georgia.	Nebraska.	Texas.
Illinois.	Nevada.	Utah.
Indiana.	New Hampshire.	Vermont.
Iowa.	New Jersey.	West Virginia.
Kentucky.	New York.	Wisconsin.
Louisiana.	North Carolina.	Wyoming.
Maine.	North Dakota.

These replies indicated that this subject has been canvassed in one way or another in almost all of them. In several States, committees have been appointed to look into the subject, and in one case, that of Arkansas, a special session of the legislature was called for the specific purpose of making an effort to reduce the high cost of living; however, after thoroughly canvassing the subject it was decided that the causes were economic and no legislative action was taken. There have been special sessions in various States called during the last twelve months, and in nearly every case this subject was considered. In fact, so far as all of our correspondence shows, no States with the exception of Montana and New Hampshire have taken any legislative action on this subject. In Montana an act was passed creating the Montana Trade Commission for regulating prices and charges on commodities, food stuffs, articles of merchandise, farm implements, etc., and New Hampshire enacted a law making it a misdemeanor to increase unreasonably the price of any necessity of life.

The consensus of opinion and the decision reached by almost everybody who has considered the question appears to indicate that the national government is the one controlling power in this crisis, and that the State legislatures are more or less impotent to deal with the situation, unless they would take the initiative and disturb almost every sound principle of business.

Your committee has had before it representatives of labor, Commonwealth's attorneys, State officers and representatives of other organizations in an effort to secure some helpful suggestions. They have also watched with interest the operation of the anti-trust law passed by the special session of the legislature, and other legislation which it was hoped would be remedial. Grand jury investigations have been held in some instances, but we have been unable to secure many suggestions of value.

In presenting this report to the General Assembly, the subject is treated under two headings: First, the Causes of the present situation, and secondly, Suggestions and Remedies, which latter, we feel, will be helpful in a general way as a contribution to results which, in our opinion, must eventually come through sound economic adjustments.

CAUSES.

There is not that uniformity of opinion as to the real causes of the high cost of living that we could wish. There is a universal agreement, however, that such a condition does exist, and that its continued existence is a grave menace to the peace and happiness of our people, and that it threatens the security of the government itself.

The generally accepted theory that cheap money or too great a volume of circulating currency causes a rise in prices, and that it is axiomatic that prices ascend as the volume of currency increases, stands out as one of the most conspicuous causes of our inflated prices. With the finances of the country and the world strained as never before it was inevitable that there should be inflation of the circulating medium, and just as inevitable that as we increased that volume we would invite high prices. All Europe today suffers from currency-inflation, and as this inflation seems to increase rather than decrease the world's financial and economic problems become more intense and more acute. So far as our country is concerned, it would seem that the pathway of safety lies along the avenue of currency contraction, and this should be followed with all speed consistent with safety. It is also apparent that the great increase in the volume of cheap money issued by European countries has adversely affected prices in our own country, and thus the question of inflated currency and high prices becomes an international question challenging the wisest efforts of the world's greatest statesmen. We are inextricably entangled with Europe's financial and economic problems, and any political eye that does not see this needs the aid of the strongest microscopic lenses. With Europe owing us billions of dollars, and with the easy facilities offered our banks for an increase in currency, the question of inflation becomes a paramount political, financial and economic question. Those of us who remember the terrible consequences that followed undue currency inflation during the Civil War shudder at the prospect of financial collapse unless the warning to stop inflation is immediately heeded.

Another most potent cause of high prices is extravagant living. Our people have been proverbial for reckless expenditures, but never have these even approximated what we have seen in the last few years and are seeing daily at the present time. The unfortunate conditions that made it seem necessary for the national government to put a premium upon extravagance, and to offer a bonus to the contractor who was most successful in increasing expenditures and squandering public money, have brought us to the very top notch of governmental extravagance, which has been closely followed by individual extravagance. Men who never had a surplus penny found themselves drawing fabulous wages. These came easy and went easy. Profitteering was cultivated and invited. It became the fashion to boast of prodigal expenditures, and the laborer who had the hardihood and good sense to practice his usual economy lost cast with his fellows, who now had no greater ambition than to spend with reckless hand the wages that came with so little effort. The plethora of money and the inducements to contractors to spend all they could brought about a perfect saturnalia of extravagance. The massive pedal extremities of the lustiest Senegambian must be encased in silk, and nothing short of that soft and clinging texture would suffice for a nether garment to cover his odorous body. Cotton socks were found only on the feet of those unfortunates whose fortunes were being confiscated in order to attempt to satisfy the demands of those whose greed had kept pace with their extravagant desires and reckless expenditure, or were of use in protecting the war-weary feet of those of our soldiers who had offered their lives to protect their country. Whole communities were inebriated by extravagance with the result that the ordinary man, intoxicated by his new found pleasure, does not wish to descend from the pinnacle of high prices.

It is a strange psychological truth that those who have needed money most are those who appreciate it least when it is suddenly thrust upon them. This mental attitude has much to do with our present unfortunate predicament. False standards of living, false ideals, and a desire to outstrip one's neighbor in every way have followed the excited and inflamed condition of the public mind brought about by war engendered strain. Psychological faults are not easily cured by statutory enactments. A long process of education is needed and this takes time.

With the coming of easy money, there came also the disposition to shirk work, to loaf, and to take things as they came. Production was diminished, because fewer men were working and shorter hours were demanded. The forces of destruction had for four years been working overtime to destroy both producer and product. Millions of the very best of the world's producers were killed, other millions incapacitated, and the material products of every country destroyed as never before. We are confronted with the problem of filling the world's greatest demands for manufactured products with a greatly diminished working force. There is, therefore, a scarcity of labor and a scarcity of products, and here is another great factor in the equation we are called upon to solve.

There may be other contributing causes to the present high prices, but these are basic and most easily discerned.

A contraction of the circulating medium as rapid as safety will allow, strict public and private economy, every possible encouragement to maximum productive activity, will do more to restore the equilibrium of the country's living basis than all other suggested legislation that has come under our purview.

We need to impress all Americans with the fact that it is as unpatriotic to refuse to produce as it is to refuse to fight when the country's good demands it. That zeal in the shop, in the factory, or on the farm, is as much a needed characteristic of good citizenship as is courage on the battlefield. When gaunt want threatens the homes of Americans, no loyal citizen should hesitate, but each, as opportunity offers, should do his best. This does not imply that fair prices should not be given, but it does mean that reason and patriotism should go hand in hand.

It is not to be denied that there has been profiteering, but this has been made possible very largely by the practical and psychological facts which we have enumerated. Economical habits, a refusal to pay exorbitant prices, a willingness to do without rather than to suffer imposition, these are the simple remedies for profiteering that are always at hand ready to be applied by all who have the courage and the good sense to use them.

Suggestions as to remedial legislation are proposed in great numbers. Very few have either preventive or curative virtues and some are not even palliative. Price fixing, arbitrary price fixing, is a remedy so extreme that even the most radical hesitates to name it, but drastic means may become necessary. This committee hopes such heroic methods can be avoided.

SUGGESTIONS AND REMEDIES.

Your committee believes that the most effective way of reaching this troublesome problem is by educational means, and we would respectfully suggest a joint resolution on the part of the General Assembly of Virginia, calling upon the public school system of the State to inaugurate an educational campaign for the encouragement of thrift and the practice of wise spending and wise saving among the school children of the State. We believe that it is the duty of the citizenship of the State of Virginia to assist the national government in the program which it has mapped out under the direction of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, the results of which, we believe, will go far towards overcoming the psychological conditions growing out of the late war.

We would further suggest for the consideration of the General Assembly of Virginia at this time the following legislation:

- (1) The standardization of the loaf of bread.
- (2) A statute to prevent waste—that is to say, making it unlawful to accumulate and hold in storage or by other means food stuffs for the purpose of maintaining certain market prices, or in any way depleting the food supply of the country.
- (3) A statute providing for the sale by weight, so far as their physical nature will permit of all food stuffs.
- (4) A statute preventing resales which will result in a higher market price to the wholesaler, retailer or consumers.
- (5) The amendment of the present cold storage act, so as to prevent the evasions of the law which are possible in its present form.

Your committee would also recommend the enactment of any other legislation which would be in line of co-operation with certain legislation now pending before the Congress of the United States, having to do with these same general problems, which has not had the special attention of your committee, for the reason that at the time this report is written this proposed legislation has not been enacted into law.

Your committee will prepare and submit to the General Assembly of Virginia such legislation as will cover these various suggestions, unless such measures shall be introduced by other representatives.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES H. PRICE,
JULIEN GUNN,
C. T. JORDAN,

COMMUNICATION

FROM THE

Governor transmitting the Report of the Director of the Extension Division of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

RICHMOND, February 19, 1920.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I transmit herewith report of the director of the Extension Division concerning the Co-operative Extension Work in Agriculture and Home Economics in Virginia for the year ending June 30, 1919, which has been made in accordance with the Federal Smith-Lever Act.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

Co-operative Extension Work in Agriculture and Home Economics

BLACKSBURG, VA., December 23, 1919.

HON. WESTMORELAND DAVIS,

Richmond, Virginia.

DEAR GOVERNOR DAVIS:

I have the pleasure of transmitting herewith, a report of co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics in Virginia from July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919. This report is made in accordance with the section of the Smith-Lever Act which reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of said colleges annually on or before the first day of January to make to the governor of the State in which it is located a full and detailed report of its operations in the direction of extension work as defined in this act, including detailed statements of receipts and expenditures from all sources for this purpose, a copy of which shall be sent to the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States."

This report should have been made by Mr. Jesse M. Jones, who was director of the extension division in Virginia until July 1, 1919, but on account of Mr. Jones' resignation taking place before complete data on the year's work could be obtained, it was impossible for him to do so. I am making it as best I can from the data which has been collected.

I hope that you will find time to read this report in detail as we would like very much for you to be familiar with all the activities of the extension division. I have made the report in greater detail than they are usually made in order to show you just how the work is carried on in this State. The extension division has a wide field of usefulness, and demands for its service are growing each day. The greatest trouble that we are having at the present time is the employment of efficient men and women for the salaries which we are able to pay. The enclosed report shows that the extension division is running on practically $100,000.00 less this year than for the past fiscal year. This cut was made in Federal funds when the emergency food production fund was discontinued on July 1, 1919. However, we hope, by the aid of close economy, and additional assistance from the State, to carry on the activities of the division successfully.

With best wishes,

Yours very truly,

JNO. R. HUTCHESON,

Report of Extension Division of Virginia, 1918-1919

The purpose of the extension division is to disseminate information gained first through research and investigations by agricultural colleges and experiment stations and the United States Department of Agriculture, and second from results obtained by the best farmers and home keepers to individual farmers and home keepers of the State that their farms and homes may be efficiently organized to best suit their sections and surrounding, and that their problems may be successfully met in soils and crops, horticulture, dairying, livestock, poultry, agricultural engineering, home economics, marketing and community development.

This information is imparted by personal visits, meetings, newspaper articles and correspondence of county farm and home demonstration agents and specialists, through boys' and girls' and women's club work, cow testing, pure bred livestock, and other associations and organizations and the distribution of bulletins, circulars, etc. The scope of the work is so broad that there are few farms or home problems which the division cannot help solve, and the service is free, honest and impartial to all people within the State.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING.

All work carried on under the Smith-Lever Act in Virginia is conducted under a memorandum of understanding between the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute and the United States Department of Agriculture. In this memorandum the college agrees:

(1) To organize and maintain a definite and distinct administrative and all funds it has or hereafter may receive for such work from appropriate and home economics, with a responsible leader selected by the college, satisfactory to the Department of Agriculture.

(2) To administer through such extension division thus organized any and all funds it has or hereafter may receive for such work from appropriations made by Congress or the State legislature by allotment from its board of trustees or from any other source.

The United States Department of Agriculture agrees:

(1) To organize and maintain in the Department of Agriculture a States Relations Committee, pending the authorization by Congress of a States Relation Service, which shall represent the department in the general supervision of all co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics which the department shall participate in in the State of Virginia, and shall have charge of the department's business connected with administration of Federal funds granted to the States under the Smith-Lever Act.

(2) To carry on in co-operation with the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute all demonstrations and other forms of extension work in agriculture and home economics which the department is authorized by Congress to conduct in the State of Virginia.

This co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics is to be planned under the joint supervision of the director of extension work of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, subject to the approval of the President and the chief, Office of Extension Work South, States Relation Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

All agents appointed to conduct this extension work in Virginia involving the use of funds appropriated to the department of agriculture are joint representatives of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the Department of Agriculture, unless otherwise expressly provided in the project agreement.

This memorandum was signed by the president of the college with the approval of the board of visitors, and the Secretary of Agriculture on June 30, 1914, and a general agreement or plan of work was entered into "to co-ordinate and administer all extension work in agriculture and home economics provided for under the general memorandum of understanding, dated June 30, 1914." This plan of work is known as the general organization project and makes the following provisions:

METHOD OF PROCEDURE.

1. This project contemplates the placing of county agricultural and home demonstration agents in each county as rapidly as conditions will warrant and funds permit. They are to work directly with the farmers and their families and to co-operate with all agricultural interests that have for their purpose the building up of agricultural and rural life. Their work shall consist of the following:

(a) Personal visits, instruction and advice, and field and farmers' club meetings.

(b) By conducting carefully planned demonstrations to illustrate the best methods of farm practices and management in all lines of agriculture.

(c) By organizing and conducting boys' and girls' clubs and organizing farmers and farm women in the clubs and co-operative societies.

These agents shall be representatives of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute and the United States Department of Agriculture, and shall co-operate with other agricultural activities under such approved plans as may be furnished by the director of the extension division.

2. This general outline also contemplates other forms of extension work such as specialists and assistant specialists who are trained in the various branches of agriculture and home economics. These are to be located at the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute and in connection with the lines of work already in existence at the State college, or directly and administratively under the direction of extension division. Their duties shall be to work through county agents or home demonstration agents as the case may be, in their work of instruction, demonstration and organization of farmers and their families, and in any county where there is no agent of the extension division they shall work directly with the farmers under such plans as may be approved by the director. They shall assist in the technical instruction of county agents and help them to carry information to the farmers and their families. They shall also assist in movable schools when required, and perform such other duties as may be required of them.

ORGANIZATION.

That a clear understanding may be obtained of the plan of organization of the Virginia extension division, the following diagram is produced. This sets forth clearly the plan of organization as provided for in the memorandum of understanding and the general organization project between the college and the United States Department of Agriculture.

	Board of Visitors.
	President of the College.
Experiment Station Director.	Extension Division Director.	Department of Agricul- tural Instruction. Dean.

Dairying, Home Dairy- ing and Cheese Mak- ing. Forestry. Home Economics. Horticulture. Plant Pathology.	County Home Demon- stration Agents, in- cluding girls' home economic club work.

ADMINISTRATION, 1918-19.

Project 1-A.

The director of the extension division is a representative of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute and the United States Department of Agriculture. He is selected by the college and must be satisfactory to the United States Department of Agriculture. He has direct charge of the work and reports directly to and is responsible to the president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute for the proper conduct of his work.

Associated with the director are an assistant director and an assistant director in charge of home demonstration work.

For a part of the last fiscal year there was an assistant to the director. There was also an assistant State agent in home demonstration work, and assistant State agent in girls' club work and an assistant State agent in boys' club work.

The assistant director, as the name would indicate, assists the director in the general administration of extension work. His special duties are to give general supervision to the work of the district and county agents in farm demonstration. The district agents have charge of the general administration work of county agents in groups of counties as may be agreed upon. Under the assistant director come the State agent in boys' club work and his assistant.

The assistant director in charge of home demonstration work has charge of all extension work in home economics, including the girls' canning and poultry clubs. She has supervision over District agents, specialists and county home demonstration agents engaged in this work.

Under the director there are field specialists in agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, poultry husbandry, farm engineering, plant pathology, entomology, etc. These specialists work with and through the county agents and help to carry the farmer the latest information in their respective lines. A county agent can not be a specialist along all lines and for this reason, at certain times, he needs special help.

During the period of the war the work of the extension division was greatly enlarged in order to meet conditions. A special emergency appropriation was made by Congress, which allowed the division to do more work than ever before. The money received from this appropriation was used in employing emergency county farm and home demonstration agents, club agents and specialists, who worked along the same lines as the regular agents of the extension division. The following table shows the changes in the extension organization between July 1, 1918, May 15, 1919, and June 30, 1919.

A number of changes were made throughout the year on account of employees resigning to enter other lines of work. The changes in the personnel of the employees will be given under each project in this report.

CHANGES IN RELATIONS.

All relationships with other departments in the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and with the various State departments and other agencies and organizations have remained unchanged throughout the year.

College.—The relation of the extension division with the experiment station and college are such that the members of the staffs of these departments make frequent trips for the extension division to assist county agents in their work, attend various farmers' meetings, advise regarding practical farm problems and help solve difficulties which may arise on farms in various sections of the State. The extension pays the travel of these men and in 1918 and 1919 $2,590.00 was budgeted for this purpose. All specialists of the extension division except the poultry husbandman have offices in connection with the departments of the college most nearly related to the project carried on. All subject matter advanced by the specialists is expected to be in accord with that taught by the subject matter department of the college and based on careful research of the experiment station.

The extension division has co-operated with the engineering department in the purchase of a blue print machine. These departments assisted with technical advice in conducting the farm tractor school in February, 1919.

State Department of Agriculture.—There is no written basis for co-operative relations between the State Department of Agriculture and extension division. However, the extension division has co-operated with the division of markets of this department along the following lines: Investigation of conditions surrounding the marketing of wheat, promoting direct marketing among farmers, developing farmers' co-operative organizations, furnishing lists of community fairs, consignment sales and furnishing names of livestock breeders.

State Department of Education.—There is a verbal co-operative agreement with the State Department of Education in carrying out several lines of work, particularly negro home makers' club work, under the guidance negro women supervisors. These supervisors are employed for nine months in school work and for the other three months are on the pay roll of the extension division doing special demonstration work with women and girls.

The department has made provision whereby rural high schools, other than Smith-Hughes schools, located in counties with demonstration agents may introduce a course of study in agriculture dividing the year's work into three parts. The fall, or first term, is devoted to a general course in agriculture. For the second term the principal of the school, in consultation with the teacher and county agent, selects for the class four sets of lessons in boys' and girls' club work. Each pupil selects one club demonstration to carry out during the third term or summer months. A minimum of twenty lessons has been prepared by the extension division on each club demonstration. The pupils doing this work are members of the boys' and girls' agricultural and home economics club. One unit of credit is allowed for satisfactory work in a school room. An additional unit of credit is given for satisfactory work on the club demonstration during the summer.

During 1918 John R. Hutcheson, assistant director, assisted in outlining a course of study for the ten agricultural high schools of the State and recommended methods of conducting them and the policies to be pursued.

Educational Institutions.—The Farmville, Fredericksburg, Harrisonburg and Radford normal schools, the University of Virginia, Hampden-Sidney College, Richmond College, William and Mary College, Hollins College, Sweet Briar College, Blackstone Female College, Averett College and Randolph-Macon School for Boys have all co-operated by opening their dormitories and laboratories to the county agents for holding their short courses.

Hampton Institute, Petersburg Industrial and Normal School, Christiansburg and St. Paul Academy have co-operated in the negro work.

Farmers' Unions.—Many agents have found the unions a helpful means for advancing, strengthening and guiding their work. Delegates to the annual meeting of the Farmers' Union have for three years passed resolutions endorsing the work of the extension division and have asked the legislature to appropriate funds for the continued support of this work. Members of the extension division serve on committees at the State meeting of the union and assist in outlining plans and policies.

Virginia Bankers' Association.—That this organization is in thorough accord with the work being done by the extension division is shown by its appropriating $500.00 annually towards the support of the boys' and girls' State short course. During 1918 one hundred and sixty-six banks contributed prizes and donations to club work to the amount of $4,599.00. Representatives of the extension division are always invited to appear on the programs of the State and district bankers' meetings.

Fairs.—Each year an educational exhibit is made at the Virginia State Fair, Richmond, Virginia, by the extension division. Wide attention is directed to these exhibits and the various lessons taught are illustrated by charts, specimens of grain, fruit, livestock, canned goods, etc. The expenses of preparing and erecting this exhibit is borne jointly by the fair association and the extension division.

In practically every county where an agent is employed a fair has been made possible through the agent's interest therein. These fairs are becoming more and more agricultural with side shows and other objectionable features removed. In 1918 the extension division worked up a model prize list for each department of county fairs, which was very widely adopted. At most of the county fairs during 1918 exhibits were put on to show the necessity of conserving food and using food substitutes.

State Farmers' Association.—Assistance is given directly to all the State associations of farmers in working up and conducting the programs for the annual meeting of these associations and also encouraging farmers to join them. The associations helped during the past year were the State Corn Growers' Association, State Dairymen's Association, the State Horticultural Society and the State Farmers' Institute. The State Farmers' Institute held its annual meeting at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and was more largely attended than any other session in its history.

THE SOURCES OF EXTENSION REVENUE.

The extension division is financed by appropriations made (1) directly to the United States Department of Agriculture and Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work; (2) appropriations for co-operative extension work in accordance with the terms of the Federal Smith-Lever Act; (3) direct appropriations from the General Assembly of Virginia; (4) by appropriations and contributions by counties and cities; (5) appropriations by farmers' associations, boards of trade and chambers of commerce.

From April, 1917, through 1918 and the first half of 1919 the extension division was also supported by a direct appropriation to the Department of Agriculture "to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products and for other purposes." This was known as the Emergency Act, and the extension division of Virginia received $162,000.00 from this source during the past fiscal year. This appropriation enabled the extension division to greatly enlarge its work. Quite a number of additional county farm demonstration agents were appointed, and a vast amount of publicity work in regard to food production and conservation was carried on throughout the year.

However, this appropriation was withdrawn July 1, 1919, and unless the General Assembly, at its next session, will see fit to make an appropriation from the State funds to take its place the extension work will necessarily be curtailed and the work dropped along several lines.

An act of the General Assembly passed at the same time that the United Board of Agriculture was created, limited the appropriations that might be spent by boards of supervisors in demonstration work. However, a later General Assembly removed this limit, and the law now authorizes and empowers the boards of supervisors to appropriate any sums of money for the furtherance of this work that, in their wisdom, they may see fit to appropriate. Below is an itemized statement of the funds appropriated for extension work in agriculture and home economics in Virginia from July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919.

FINANCES.

Total.....	$433,594.19

All funds from the United States Department of Agriculture are appropriated and paid directly from that department. Federal Smith-Lever funds and funds appropriated by the General Assembly are kept by the treasurer, Mr. C. I. Wade, in the Bank of Christiansburg, Virginia, and are deposited as special accounts with special check books, and register where they draw interest at 3 per cent. All bills received in the central office of the extension division are classified and approved by the director, then forwarded by the accountant to the treasurer for payment. No travel is paid without authorization of the director and no travel accounts are paid until a field report of the work accomplished is on file.

CHANGES TO MEET POST-WAR CONDITIONS.

During the period of the war the main effort of the extension workers of Virginia was to increase production and to conserve food and feed crops. Since the signing of the armistice the chief effort has been to help farm men and women to become adjusted to the rapidly changing conditions. During the war farmers were advised in some cases to interfere with established rotations and to grow crops which in ordinary times were not the most profitable. This was done in order to meet the needs for certain classes of foods.

At the present time perhaps the greatest problem confronting the farmers in this State is the shortage of labor. In order to meet this the extension workers are advising farmers to grow normal acreages of staple crops on their best land, and to use improved machinery wherever possible. Many demonstrations have been given throughout the State showing the use of improved machinery and labor saving devices for the farm and home.

Another line of work which is receiving a great deal of attention from the extension workers since the close of the war is the organization of farmers for the standardization and marketing of their products. Local farmers' unions, farmers' clubs, breeders' associations, farmers' warehouses, wool pools and co-operative sales are being organized in every section of the State. The farmers are not being organized to fight any other class of people, but for their own protection.

In order to increase the efficiency of the extension workers a great deal of work was done by the State and district agents, and extension specialists last fall in preparing a project book which outlines the various projects to be undertaken by county agents and specialists. This project book contains in a concise form all the information necessary for the trained worker to have in getting started in his work. It has been pronounced by officials of the States Relations Service in Washington to be the best work of its kind compiled by extension officials in any State in the South. With the help of this project book, all the district agents and county farm and home demonstration agents in Virginia last fall, outlined a definite plan of work to be followed throughout the year. In many cases it has been very hard to follow these plans, but having a definite plan has done much to increase the efficiency of the work done by extension agents. The extension specialists have also made out definite plans for their work and submitted these to the director of extension and the field agent of the States Relations Service in Washington. Every project undertaken by the specialists is undertaken with and through the county agent.

PUBLICATIONS.

The extension division of Virginia maintains a distinct publicity department. The purpose of this department is to furnish the people of the State with information about what the extension division is doing and what it is prepared to do. This campaign is carried on through the daily and weekly newspapers throughout the State, and through certain magazines that are published in Virginia, and through our own publications of the Extension Division News, The Agricultural Club Letter and extracts from county agents reports.

The scope of this plan has been so widened within the last year that practically all the daily and weekly newspapers of Virginia co-operate by giving space to matters sent out from the central office. An attempt is made to furnish the papers in every section with the kind of copy that is particularly suited to the needs of the locality in which they are published. During the year covered by this report an average of six articles per month were furnished to the daily newspapers and an average of three articles per month to the county newspapers.

EXTENSION DIVISION NEWS.

The Extension Division News issued each month from November, 1918, to July, 1919. The mailing list of this publication carries the names and addresses of about 7,000 representative men and women in Virginia.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS LETTER.

The Agricultural News Letter issued each month from July, 1918, to July, 1919. Twelve thousand copies of each issue were sent out to those interested in club work.

EXTRACTS FROM COUNTY AGENTS' REPORTS.

Issued each month from July, 1918, to July, 1919. These are contributed by county agents and specialists and from extracts selections are made from time to time and sent out to the daily and weekly newspapers.

Plans for securing, revising and editing material.—All bulletins, circulars, etc., gotten out by the extension division are written in popular style. Everyone who writes for the extension division publications is urged to keep in mind the needs and demands of the people whom they are trying to reach. After an article has been written by an extension worker it is first referred to his or her particular department for subject matter approval. It is then referred to the agricultural editor for editing and revision. It is lastly referred to the director for final approval. This is done in order to insure that every publication is as nearly correct as possible, and meets some real need.

Methods used in distribution.—Bulletins, printed circulars and leaflets are distributed in various ways. An occasional bulletin, where the subject is of general interest, is sent to the entire mailing list. The same is true of printed circulars. As a general rule, however, all bulletins, printed circulars and leaflets are distributed according to the subject matter contained therein. That is, a bulletin or circular on horticulture is sent to the horticultural mailing list, one on livestock to the livestock mailing list, etc. At present, no plate material is used by the extension division as it has been found much more advantageous to furnish the newspapers of the State with original matter, prepared here in this office, and distributed according to the zone system. Mimeographed circulars are prepared for agents and distributed by them.

How mailing list is organized and revised.—The card index system in use in the Washington office of the United States Department of Agriculture is in use in the extension division office. No duplicates appear on the general mailing list carrying at the present some 7,000 names. Individual mailing lists for livestock, horticulture, poultry and other departments are prepared from lists furnished by specialists in their departments. All mailing lists are revised daily; that is, whenever a letter is returned marked undelivered an effort is made to find out why, and if investigation furnishes no results the card and stencil carrying that name are at once destroyed, both on the general and individual mailing list.

PROJECTS.

The various lines of work carried on by the extension division are conducted under definite project agreements. These projects outline just what problems are to be attacked, who is to carry on the work, and what method of procedure is to be followed. In order to give a definite idea of the work accomplished during the year of 1918-1919 by the extension division a list of the projects is given below, with a short account of what has been accomplished under each. They are as follows:

ADMINISTRATION.

The object of the administration project is the co-ordination and administration of the demonstration work in agriculture and home economics provided for under the general memorandum of understanding dated June 30, 1914, between the Agricultural and Mechanical College and Polytechnic Institute and the United States Department of Agriculture and co-operating with such other State and local institutions as may arrange for work under this project.

The director of extension is the leader of this project and has associated with him such assistants, clerks, stenographers, etc., as are necessary to carry on the work. During 1918-1919 the following people were engaged in the administration project:

Jesse M. Jones.....	Director.
H. E. Allanson.....	Assistant to Director.
Chas. I. Wade.....	Treasurer.
Pemberton Thacker .....	Accountant.
Olive Funkhouser .....	Secretary to Director.
Kathleen Denny .....	Artist Draftsman.
A. C. Hawley .....	Assistant to Treasurer.
Anna B. Burton .....	Stenographer.
Lucy Butler .....	Stenographer.
Minnie Davidson .....	Stenographer.
Mary D. Rowan .....	Stenographer.
Liz Otey Hoge .....	Stenographer.
Ora Palmer .....	Stenographer.
Agnes Pettigrew .....	Stenographer.
Margaret Stevens .....	Stenographer.
Pearl Swecker .....	Stenographer.
Margaret Walker .....	Stenographer.
Mrs. Anna Faulkner.....	Filing Clerk.
Mary Reynolds .....	Mimeograph Clerk.
J. S. Schaeffer .....	Mail Clerk.
Carrie Schaeffer .....	Clerk.
J. A. Barbour .....	Janitor.

There were a few other stenographers and clerks employed at odd times throughout the year. The large amount of stenographic help outlined above was necessary on account of having a central office system, all stenographic work for the division being done in this office. All letters, bulletins, circulars, etc., written by the specialists, and all circular letters, gotten out by county agents were handled from the main office. All methods employed in administering the work are given earlier in this report under the general head of administration.

For ease and convenience in budgeting the funds many other expenses than those incidental to directing and co-ordinating the various lines of extension work are included in this project, such as salary and travel of director, salary of the assistant to director, editor, treasurer, assistant treasurer, accountant, purchasing agent, stenographers for several of the projects, special clerks and janitors; travel of college men and others while on extension work. To this project are also charged such expenses as the purchase of books, subscriptions to magazines, repairs and remodeling of building, heat, light and drayage, telephone and telegraph charges, etc. Surplus funds later to be distributed to other and new projects during the year of 1918-1919. The amount budgeted for this year under this head was $42,272.00.

Mr. Jesse M. Jones, who was director of extension work in Virginia for the past three years, resigned in the spring of 1919, his resignation taking effect July 1, 1919. John R. Hutcheson, who had been assistant director for the past two years, was appointed as director in Mr. Jones' place.

PRINTING.

Project 2.

The organization of this project, the problems attacked and the results obtained, have already been given in this report under the head of publications. The amount of money budgeted for printing during the past year was $5,095.14. On account of the great amount of publicity occasioned by the war it was necessary for additional funds to be shifted to this project.

COUNTY FARM DEMONSTRATION WORK.

Project 3.

The county farm demonstration agent is the key man in carrying out all lines of work undertaken by the extension division. He is on the ground, does the follow-up work, brings the farmers the latest and best information from the experiment stations and practical farmers of the State; sees that the work started by the specialists with farmers is successfully carried out; helps the farmers to locate their problems and organize to overcome them. As a proof of having succeeded, the United States Government greatly increased the appropriations for the support of this work at the outbreak of the war.

With the increased demand for county agent work and with the increased appropriation from the emergency fund work in this State was greatly enlarged at the beginning of the war. On July 1, 1916, the force consisted of one State agent, three district agents and forty-five county agents. On July 1, 1918, there was one State agent, five district agents and sixty-nine county agents. In two years' time there was an increase in the total number of workers under this project from fifty-three to seventy-five, or nearly fifty per cent.

During the war considerable difficulty was experienced in getting properly trained men for county agent positions, and in keeping the agents from resigning. During this time about twenty men resigned from the county agent force and enlisted in the army or navy. Some of these men returned to the work on being discharged, but the majority of them have gone into other business on account of the comparatively small salaries that the county agent positions pay.

It is worthy of note here that the counties in Mississippi pay about $1,800.00 per county locally, while the counties in Virginia pay only about $800.00 per county locally for the support of farm demonstration work. If good agents are to be kept more money must be secured from the county and State sources. The following list shows the personnel and location of the county agents during the past year:

FARM PROBLEMS ATTACKED DURING 1918-1919.

The scope of the work of county agents during the fiscal year of 1918 and 1919 continued to be greatly widened on account of the participation of the United States in the World War. County agents are largely agricultural agents and do most of their work by conducting definite demonstrations, yet they were called upon to assist in every line of war work conducted in their counties. They responded as far as possible to all of these calls and accomplished a wonderful work. They acted as a connecting link between the United States Government and the farmer in all lines of work; they helped tremendously in "putting over" Red Cross, Thrift Stamp, Liberty Loan, Victory Loan, Y. M. C. A. and other campaigns. No greater service was rendered during the war by any body of Virginians than that rendered by these county agents. In the beginning the farmers knew little as to why the nation entered the war, what kind of an enemy we were fighting and what had to be done in order to win. Much pro-german propaganda was being carried on throughout the country districts. The county agents combatted this by early informing themselves on true war conditions and at every meeting and in every conversation did their utmost to pass facts on to the farmers.

Campaigns.—In addition to the war work done during the past year the county agents put on several intensive campaigns for increased food production and conservation.

Wheat.—During the fall of 1918 a second great campaign was put on for an increased wheat production. The agents gave instructions as to the preparation of the soil, time of seeding, kinds of fertilizers and sources of clean seed. Together with a campaign for increased production a campaign was conducted to prevent waste in harvesting and threshing of small grains.

Much land was planted to wheat which had never been in this crop before. In some sections of the State pastures were plowed up that had not been turned under in fifty years and rotations were changed in order to produce wheat for our armies and our allies.

Seed Corn.—One of the most helpful campaigns put on through the county agents was a campaign in the spring of 1918 for a testing of seed corn. In most sections of Virginia, farmers do not have much trouble with bad seed corn but in the fall of 1917 an early frost and severe winter following caused a serious seed corn situation. The result of hundreds of tests by the county agents in the western and northern parts of the State showed that a large part of the seed corn tested around fifty per cent germination and in some sections as low as five per cent. In no counties in the State was there good seed corn throughout the entire county.

The county agents kept the daily and weekly papers filled with information in regard to this situation, distributing thousands of bulletins on seed corn testing. They visited schools, used banks, commercial organizations and every other means to get farmers to test their seed corn. As a direct result 4,242 farmers tested a part of their seed corn and 2,678 tested all of it. In some sections where it was impracticable to secure good seed corn from corn in the neighborhood the county agents located good seed and brought it in from other counties. Records show 20,000 bushels were located; this planted at least a hundred thousand acres and the amount of money saved to Virginia by this one thing would pay the entire cost of farm demonstration work for a number of years. Some members of the board of supervisors stated the work done by the county agent in this line was worth more than his entire salary for ten years.

Livestock.—Several campaigns were put on to bring about increased production of livestock and livestock products. Special emphasis was laid on the increased production of pork as this was one of the foodstuffs which was essential for the success of the army. Due to the agents' influence, 417 pure bred boars and 814 pure bred sows were brought into the counties where they were working. In addition to this several thousand head of pure bred and grade sows were saved from slaughter and bred. Several campaigns were put on in sheep raising sections for saving ewe lambs from slaughter. This helped to increase the world's mutton production. In the dairy sections every effort was used to prevent farmers from selling their herds and where herds were sold special effort was made to keep the animals in the State.

OTHER PROBLEMS.

Besides special campaigns put on for increased food production the agents continued to give demonstrations and instructions in soil building, handling of fertilizers and lime, production of forage crops, use of farm machinery, prevention of livestock diseases, etc.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In the early stage of demonstration work county agents were instructed to work largely with individuals, the idea being that if one farmer in a community would grow a crop successfully the other farmers would see and follow his example. However, the work has grown and expanded so rapidly in the recent years and the county agent has been called upon to do so many things that he is finding it necessary to have some organization in the county to back his work and help him through to a successful completion of the many activities which he undertakes.

The number of local organizations and associations rapidly increased during the last few years and at the present time every agent has some organization through which he works. An effort is being made to pick out from these organizations a number of strong men who with the members of the board of supervisors will make an advisory board.

Advisory Board.—The members of the advisory board are elected by their fellow citizens from the several farmers' organizations or appointed by the board of supervisors. They assist the county agent in making an analysis of the agricultural needs of the county and aid in providing ways and means by which he may be able to apply direct remedies for existing ills. In several instances careful surveys of conditions of the counties have been made and these have been submitted to the advisory board, who, with the county agent and the district agent, have made out plans of work for the year. In this way definite activities have been decided upon which enable the county agent to get more concrete results than when the activities were spread over a great many lines.

At this time about thirty white and twenty negro agents have advisory boards. This phase of the work is becoming more important each year and is receiving much attention. Whether an advisory board is formed or not, every agent prepares a plan of work together with his district agent for his guidance throughout the year. This plan of work is based on the needs of the county as seen by the county and district agents and the best farmers of the county.

Meetings.—The white and colored agents in 1918 addressed 4,269 meetings with an estimated attendance of 291,168 people, wrote 55,731 official letters, and sent out 47,570 copies of circular letters. This gives an idea of the number of people influenced by these agents.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

The county agents conduct definite demonstrations which they supervise closely and make a report on. Farmers who carry out this kind of work are known as demonstrators. The agents always advise with certain farmers as to how crops and livestock shall be handled but do not attempt to get their farmers to make accurate reports; such farmers are called co-operators. Work is done by demonstrators and co-operators with practically every crop and form of livestock produced in Virginia, but on account of limited space only statistical results with the main crops and livestock will be given in this report.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN GENERAL FARM WORK.

Crop	No. of Demonstrators and Co-operators	Acres Planted	Average Yield
Corn .....	7,960	74,615	45.04 bus.
Wheat .....	4,370	39,245	17.02 bus.
Alfalfa .....	1,332	8,999	3.02 tons
Mixed grass and clover.....	2,028	15,604	1.06 tons
Soy beans and cow peas.....	2,736	14,043

The above figures show that in the five main food and feed crops grown in the State the county agents worked with 18,426 demonstrators and co-operators and that these farmers cultivated 152,506 acres in the crops named. The yields of 45.04 bushels of corn, 17.02 bushels of wheat, 3.02 tons of alfalfa and 1.06 tons of mixed grass and clover per acre are much above the average and show the results of farmers following the methods advocated by county agents.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN LIVESTOCK.

Kind	Pure Bred Sires Brought In	Pure Bred Dams Brought In	Breeders' Associa- tions Organized
Horses and Mules.....	32	52	1
Dairy Cattle .....	56	301	13
Beef Cattle .....	228	379	17
Hogs .....	417	814	2
Sheep .....	144	227	1

It can be seen that a wonderful work has been done in improving the livestock in the State in the last year. Special attention is called to the number of breeders' associations formed. These breeders' associations and bull clubs improve the livestock more rapidly than any other agency which we have used.

Wherever community breeders' associations or bull clubs can be formed calf clubs, co-operative sales, cow testing associations, etc., follow. The pure bred sales work in Virginia is increasing so rapidly that we do not have force enough to give it proper supervision. The Tazewell County Pure Bred Shorthorn Association is an example of what can be accomplished by breeders' associations. This association was organized in the fall of 1916 with 225 members and a capital stock of $8,000.00. In the spring of 1917 thirty-eight pure bred Shorthorn bulls were purchased and placed in districts throughout the county. The following summer these bulls served 1,400 cows. Calves dropped from this mating in the spring of 1918 and sold for $10.00 more per head than those from common bulls.

This made the first year's calf crop worth an additional $14,000.00 to the county. Experienced cattle men say this will be trebled by the time the cattle are matured, which will make the ultimate increased value from the use of the bulls $42,000.00. In the summer and fall of 1918 practically the same number of cows were served, so that in three years after the first lot of bulls were brought into the county, the $8,000.00 purchase price will be returning $40,000.00 annually to the farmers.

MISCELLANEOUS DEMONSTRATIONS.

Kind	Number
Orchards .....	1,837
Poultry .....	151
Livestock .....	72,926
Fertilizers .....	17,337
Manure .....	4,932
Lime .....	3,499
Silos .....	261

Under the head of miscellaneous demonstrations are given the items mentioned above, but no mention is made of the large amount of work done by the agents in advising as to erecting farm buildings, furnishing building plans, getting houses painted and white-washed, water and lighting systems installed, and homes screened. This work is being carried on regularly by the agents throughout the State, but it is hard to get definite figures on just how much is accomplished.

HOME DEMONSTRATION WORK.

Project 4.

The work of the home demonstration department is to take to the farm women and girls the latest and best information in regard to home problems. During 1918-1919 work with city women and girls was made possible by the emergency food appropriation. This appropriation was withdrawn on July 1, 1919, and the work dropped at this time.

Miss Ella G. Agnew and Mrs. M. M. Davis had administrative charge of this project during the entire year. Miss Grace Townley was employed as specialist in home economics and Miss Halle Hughes was assistant State agent in charge girls' club work. They all had headquarters at the extension division office, Blacksburg, Virginia.

HOME PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

The principal home problems attacked during the past year were as follows:

1. Production and preservation of fruits and vegetables.
2. Increased production of milk and butter and the more intelligent use of the same.
3. Introduction of labor saving devices.
4. Help in remodeling kitchen problems.
5. Urging the use of the family budget.
6. Cleaning up homes and communities.
7. Special work in clothing for the family.
8. Special work in feeding children.
9. Preparation of school lunches.

METHODS USED IN HANDLING THESE PROBLEMS.

The problems outlined above were put across largely during the past year by means of campaigns. Before a campaign was launched definite plans for the same were outlined by the State and district agents and specialists in home demonstration work. These printed outlines were put into the hands of the county home demonstration agents and all assistance possible given them in carrying out the campaigns successfully. In order to get the results of the campaigns a special report sheet was sent to the agents to be filled in and returned to the central office.

Results Obtained.

It is very hard to give definite figures to show the actual results obtained in work of this kind. It is also pretty hard to get correct figures on the number of persons addressed at meetings and the number of persons indirectly affected by the work. As close as can be estimated from figures received at this office, 341,546 women and girls were enrolled during 1918-1919 as special war workers. In addition to these, a large number of people were reached through public meetings, making the total number of people directly and indirectly reached 556,471. The number of homes reached and directly effected by the various campaigns is estimated at 50,700. In order to show the results obtained in the various lines of work the following statistics are given under various heads:

GIRLS' WORK.

During 1916-17 the girls and boys were organized into separate clubs, each holding its own meetings. The farm and home demonstration agents visited them when they could, each meeting his or her own club. During 1918 a joint organization of all clubs was formed to save the time of the agents, teachers and pupils. Agricultural and home economics clubs were organized in the schools to meet once a month. The program committee arranges and carries out the plans for each meeting. No set programs are sent from the State office. The county home demonstration agents are present if they can get there. If not, the meeting goes on and the secretary sends a copy of the minutes to the agents so that they may know what is being done. Several counties were organized during the year. The simplest type of constitution is used. The only officers are the president, secretary and executive committee, composed of one representative from each club.

Short Courses.

During the past year 34 county short courses for girls were held with a total attendance of 666. Every club girl who desires may attend these short courses. Two district short courses were held, one at the Farmville State Normal School and one at the Harrisonburg State Normal School.

The courses are financed in various ways. Usually for the county short courses each girl brings her allotment of food from home, together with a certain amount of cash. The district and State short courses are prize trips and the girls are sent by their own clubs or by some bank or organization or private individual interested in the work.

The short courses are of untold value in training leaders. In addition to canning, preserving, drying, etc., the girls are kept busy being trained in cooking, and serving meals, sewing, poultry work, nature study, personal hygiene, organized play and story telling. Every girl upon returning home gives a report to her club of her trip and helps the county agent in giving demonstrations.

Canning.

That the interest in canning work has been kept up is shown by the following figures:

Membership .....	2,214
Number containers put up.....	258,673
Pounds dried .....	13,292
Pounds fresh vegetables .....	1,591,367
Total value of all products .....	$392,947.00

This is indeed a notable contribution to the food supply of the State and helped immensely during the shortage occasioned by the war.

Poultry

The figures shown below for work in poultry include the work for both women and girls

Membership .....	1,953
Value of products raised .....	$62,485.00

Poultry

The figures given below, together with the figures already given, show how many other lines of work are given to the club girls in addition to the canning:

Membership .....	2,757
Articles made .....	4,881

In addition to the above, 2,757 girls were enrolled in the cooking clubs and 847 in the garden clubs.

WOMEN'S WORK

During the period of the war the women's work grew beyond expectations. The necessity of saving certain foodstuffs aroused the women most effectively to the fact that while many of them had practical experience, more than this was needed if they were to keep up the health of the family and still save the food necessary for war needs. This interest has been kept up since the signing of the armistice and home demonstration clubs have been organized in every county having a home demonstration agent. The purpose of these clubs is two-fold:

1. Home improvement.
2. Community improvement.

With these points in mind, progressive programs have been made to cover a period of four years. Each month suggestions are made for both home and community improvement. The following are the topics for the first year:

January—Poultry.
 February—Household sanitation.
 March—Gardens.
 April—Household management.
 May—Milk and milk products.
 June—Preservation of foods.
 July—Winter gardens.
 August—Preservation of foods.
 September—Food.
 October—Food for children.
 November—Christmas gifts; magazines in the home.
 December—Prevention of disease.

Below are some of the things accomplished by these clubs in the past year:

Home Improvement

Houses screened .....	355
Houses lighted .....	2

Brined vegetables—gallons .....	40,165
Total value .....	$560,850.86
Number lbs. cottage cheese made.....	80,284

URBAN WORK.

The work in the cities was opened as a special war measure in 1917 and was continued until July 1, 1919. The figures given below will show that it was eminently worth while.

Demonstration kitchens were opened, one in Danville, two in Richmond, four in Hopewell, one in Petersburg, and one each in Newport News, Portsmouth, Lynchburg and Roanoke. At these kitchens many women came to learn to can, dry, preserve and pickle, some of them doing most of their work in the kitchens. In addition to this preservation of fruits and vegetables for future use, demonstrations in wheat, meat, sugar and fat saving and special courses for volunteer workers were given. Bulletins were kept on hand for distribution. In fact, kitchens were clearing houses for all matters pertaining to home management. Other centers than the central kitchen were opened in schools and settlement houses, mission stations and private homes.

Back yard gardens and poultry plants were enthusiastically undertaken by many city people and fostered by the home demonstration agents. The following statistics will show something of the work accomplished with the city people by these agents:

Curb markets established .....	3
No. lbs. butter sold .....	1,087
No. lbs. cheese sold .....	225
No. lbs. poultry sold .....	5,000

WAR EMERGENCY WORK.

The home demonstration agent continued to be called on throughout the year 1918-1919 for assistance in all forms of war emergency work. Household enrollment for the Food Administration, Food Conservation, Red Cross, Liberty Loan, Thrift Stamp campaigns were assisted in every possible way.

In addition to the campaigns reported above as a definite part of the year's program, and the special health work at various meetings of women and girls, the whole force of home demonstration agents was turned over to the State Board of Health during the terrible epidemic of influenza in October. Types of work done are as follows:

Nursing in destitute private families, helping in both city and town hospitals, organizing and managing hospitals where nurses could not be secured, opening diet kitchens, and acting as distributors of food, medicine and clothing from one end of the county to the other, and taking the place of doctors who could not be gotten, but who had given her especial instructions. This is not regular demonstration work, of course, but it was a very necessary work and accomplished a great deal of good.

The most important piece of work accomplished with the women during the past year was the organization of advisory boards. The plan of organization is as follows: The county or urban agent selects at least one representative woman from each magisterial district or ward. These appoint a chairman and secretary and adopt a simple constitution. Each member associates with her as many woman as needed to assist in carrying out various campaigns. The duties of the advisory board are as follows:

1. Meet at the first of the year with the home demonstration agent and plan the work with her.
2. Assist in carrying out the plan in their several communities.
3. Enlarge the field of work.
4. Secure local financial assistance.
5. Assist in securing market for the goods of girls and women.
6. Help in the supervision of the girls' clubs.
7. Join with the men in a general county organization.
8. Meet at the end of the year to review and check results obtained according to the plans made.

This is important because of future service these women will give and have given to the work. They multiply the value of the home demonstration agent.

In the girls' work the most important piece of work accomplished during the past year was the organization of agricultural and home economics clubs. Experience has taught that greater results are obtained in club work when all boys and girls in an individual school or community are combined in one club. For this reason the Boys' Agricultural Club and the Girls' Canning Club were united as the Boys' and Girls' Agricultural and Home Economics Club. The various activities conducted with boys and girls are known as club projects, and the following are in operation in Virginia:

For Boys—

Alfalfa.
Bees.
Corn.
Calf.
Farm engineering.
Garden.
Peanut.
Pig.
Potato.
Poultry.
Sheep.
Small Grains.
Soy Beans.

For Girls—

Bees.
Butter.
Calf.
Canning.
Chesse (Cottage).
Cooking.
Garden.
Pig.
Peanut.
Poultry.
Sewing.
Sheep.

Concrete examples have demonstrated again and again that club work for boys and girls—

- Develops leadership.
- Broadens and betters social life.
- Stimulates local pride.
- Makes better communities.
- Provides organized association.
- Enlarges the vision.
- Elevates the morals.
- Awakens a spirit of co-operation.
- Broadens the education.
- Increases the supply of food.
- Influences better farming among neighbors.
- Establishes self-confidence.
- Gives training in business and up-to-date farm practices.
- Keeps boys on farms.
- Develops loyalty to and interest in entire family.
- Makes better home makers of girls and farmers of boys.
- Establishes the habit of enthusiasm.
- Develops a spirit of determination and desire to fit selves for life's vocation.
- Helps financially.
- Increases attendance, purpose and scholarship at school.

Hon. Harris Hart, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, heartily endorses the work as follows:

"The boys' and girls' agricultural and home economics clubs have already rendered a very material service in coupling up the public schools with community interests. This is a field of endeavor which must be developed in the future far beyond anything we have yet undertaken. The club work gives practical tinge to much that is learned in school and offers an immediate introduction to the needs of future life. County agents and club leaders are making a fine contribution to the proper development of rural education."

It is impossible to discuss general changes of the work at this time of unrest. Conditions are changing continually and we are forced to change plans from month to month sometimes.

One thing we feel sure will be needed next year is to insist that county agents undertake one major project and make a definite impression upon the county. See that every one in the county knows what is being done. Many other things may come in as minor interests, but she must get out of the "war habits" of responding to every call and attempting to put through every plan presented to her.

A very important piece of work carried on throughout the year under the home demonstration project was the campaign for utilization of dairy products. This campaign was lead by Miss Jessie H. Logan and was put on through the county agents. The improvement of the home dairy, the food value of milk, the production of more and cleaner milk, and the more economical use of same were the main problems attacked.

The work was put before the people by means of lectures, demonstrations, courses of study and exhibits. The home demonstration clubs were an effective means for teaching women the importance of milk and milk products. Twenty-five first-year clubs carried out the milk program for the month of May and eleven second-year clubs took the milk course as outlined in the second-year program. Fifty boys and girls were enrolled in the dairy and butter clubs. Some of them took up the study of milk as a food, and how to care for it, cottage cheese and butter making, while others are learning how to care for and feed cows. Each member of the butter club is required to take part in a contest as a county or community fair. Here they must exhibit a pound of butter, be graded on their record books and care of the milk in the home.

A large number of demonstrations were given in cottage cheese and butter making for home purposes.

CHEESE MAKING.

Project No. 5.

Work in cheese making has been carried on in this State since 1916. Prof. W. D. Saunders started the work in Virginia and is still giving a part of his time to its development. H. S. Merry is employed jointly by the Virginia Extension Division and the Bureau of Animal Industry, and gives all of his time to developing the cheese industry in the mountain sections of the State. H. F. Fralin, a practical cheese maker, has been employed to assist in this work during the past year.

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

The principal problems attacked under this project were:

1. Improvement in the quality of cheese.
2. Increasing the quantity of milk.
3. Interesting new sections in cheese making.
4. Helping market the product.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In order to improve the quality of cheese the specialists visited the factories once or twice a month and gave direct assistance and instruction to the cheese maker. When a new cheese maker was put in the specialists went to the factory and stayed until they were satisfied that this man could make good cheese. Several changes were made during the war on account of cheese makers entering the army.

Nearly all of the factories could handle more milk than they are getting from the farmers. The specialists have therefore urged the farmer to either buy better cows or to save from the good cows in his herd. Better feeding, and keeping of records have been advocated. Some assistance has been given the farmers in buying dairy cows to replace the ordinary native stock.

Newspapers have been utilized whenever possible to give publicity to the work.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

During the year ten cheese factories were assisted in cheese work and about 1,000 visits made to farmers; 200 visits were made to cheese factories for the purpose of giving instruction to cheese makers.

During 1918, 86,909 pounds of cheese from eight factories brought $24,177.18. There is a strong demand for the cheese which is of fine quality. A packing company in the State is paying Wisconsin prices f. o. b. factory for the cheese, and pronounces it equal to any Wisconsin cheese. At the National Dairy Show in the winter of 1918 all cheese from Virginia factories scored over 90 points, and the best was within one and one-half points of the highest score.

Most of the factories are in sections away from the railroads and for this reason provided a better market for the surplus dairy products of the farmer than they have ever had before. Patrons of these factories have said, "Made more money than I ever did on any kind of cattle, and am perfectly satisfied with the factory." "The best thing we ever had. I will keep more cows. Made more money on milk than on anything else on the farm." One man said that the most money he had received from his cows in one whole season by making butter was $50.00, but the first year that he supplied milk to the cheese factory from the same number of cows he received $50.00 in one and one-half months.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY.

Project No. 6.

The livestock industry is one of the principal factors in the agriculture of Virginia. Its development during the past five years has been rapid, the value of all livestock on farms increasing from $84,000,000.00 for the average of the four-year period of 1913 to 1917 to a total of $134,000,000.00 for January 1, 1919. The territory west of the Blue Ridge Mountains contains some of the best grazing lands in the United States and throughout this general area the production of cattle and sheep is extremely important. The Tidewater, Piedmont and Valley sections of Virginia are all admirably adapted to swine production, and in this area the number of hogs raised is increasing rapidly.

PERSONNEL.

Animal husbandry work during the fiscal year 1918-1919 was in charge of M. O. Cooper, animal husbandman. A. H. Ochsner acted as assistant animal husbandman during the fiscal year, with the exception of a few months spent in the army. Dungan McKinsey acted as swine husbandman, having been detailed from the Bureau of Animal Husbandry during the entire fiscal year. W. H. Burruss acted as assistant animal husbandman from February 1st until June 30th, devoting the larger part of his time to beef cattle extension work.

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

1. The organization of breeders' associations.
2. The promotion of pure bred sales.
3. The promotion of baby beef and pig clubs.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

The kinds of breeders' associations organized through the extension service are county breeders' associations, district breeders' associations, State breeders' associations, incorporated bull associations and community bull clubs.

In the county breeders' association the farmers and breeders of all classes of livestock form into one organization. The breeds of each class of livestock which are most popular in the county are selected and an effort toward broad standardization made. In some instances it is found that one breed is popular in one section of the county and another is equally popular in a different section. In such cases two breeds are adopted.

One of the best examples of a county breeders' association is the one in Loudoun county. This association was organized in 1916, and now practically every owner of pure bred livestock in the county is a member. The breeds adopted were Percheron horses, Shorthorn cattle, Guernsey cattle, Berkshire and Duroc hogs. The work of the association has developed so much that now a salaried manager is employed. A number of carloads of high-grade and pure-bred stock have been imported and distributed among the farmers. The county has become known throughout the State for its livestock, and large numbers are being sold to other sections. In April, 1919, one carload of high-grade Guernsey heifers was sold to Washington county. In addition to stock sold at private sales, annual public sales of Percheron horses, Guernsey cattle, Duroc and Berkshire swine have been held.

In the county and district breeders' associations breeders of one breed organize into an association for the promotion of the interest of that breed. One of the best examples of this type of association in the State is the Lee County Hereford Association. This organization was formed in 1915, and has held sales annually. At the time of the organization there were but a few breeders of pure-bred Hereford cattle in the county, and less than 100 head of pure-bred animals. Membership has gradually increased and now over 1,000 pure-bred Herefords are owned by members. As a result of the use of pure-bred bulls sold by the association white-faced sires may be seen grazing on almost every hillside in the county.

The State breeders' associations are organizations for membership of breeders throughout the State, and organized to promote the best interests of the breed in the State. The breeders of Hereford, Holstein-Friesian and Jersey cattle have now organized State associations. The breeders of Shorthorn and Angus cattle have plans under way to complete organizations during the current year.

Incorporated co-operative bull associations are formed for the purpose of purchasing pure bred bulls and making their use available to members and farmers in the county. Eight of these associations have been organized in the State in the past four years and have purchased from fifteen to forty pure bred Shorthorn bulls per association. The value of one of these associations to a county is hard to estimate. Basing the increased value of a calf at weaning time, sired by a pure bred bull at $10.00 more than one sired by a scrub bull, the annual return in some of the counties from association bulls has been as high as $12,000.00 to $15,000.00 per year.

The pure bred sale is perhaps the best means of keeping up interest in the breed associations and introducing and distributing pure bred stock throughout the county. The staff of the animal husbandry department of the extension division recognizes this fact and is helping to promote public sales made up of consignments of pure bred stock from association members. This division has been responsible either directly or indirectly for the majority of the pure bred livestock sales held in the State in the past year.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

During the fiscal year the specialists of the animal husbandry division traveled 61,144 miles, made 152 visits to agents, 908 to farmers, and addressed 137 meetings, with a total attendance of 9,271 people.

They helped to organize five county breeders' associations, two incorporated bull associations, three State breeders' associations and assisted in 10 livestock sales.

A list of the sales supported by the extension division during the past year are as follows:

Class of Stock	By Whom	Number Sold	Average Price
Cattle.....	Lee County Hereford Association.....	42	$ 226 00

The animal husbandry division co-operated with the State agent in boys' and girls' clubs in developing the baby beef and pig club work. The division prepared instructions for the feeding, care and management of pigs and calves, assisted in locating and purchasing the animals, and helped conduct contests at local, district and State fair. This year over 600 pigs were located and purchased for pig club members. The division furnished judges for twenty-four county fairs and club contests.

Two bulletins and thirteen circulars have been prepared and sent out by members of this department.

HORTICULTURE.

Project No. 7.

The amount of assistance given to fruit growers of the State by the horticultural department of the extension division has increased rapidly during the past few years. During the present fiscal year R. E. Marshall was in charge of the horticultural extension work; C. Woolsey and F. A. Motz were assistant horticulturists; E. C. Magill served as emergency garden specialist, and W. J. Price was emergency entomologist in deciduous fruits.

PRINCIPAL PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

1. Orchard management.
2. Home garden management.
3. Pruning and training fruits.
4. Controlling insects and disease by spraying.
5. Fertilization of orchards.
6. Thinning of fruits.
7. Grading and packing fruit for market.
8. The eradication of mice from orchards.
9. Saving mice-injured trees.
10. Apple orchard census.
11. Cedar rust control.
12. Landscape gardening.
13. Storage of fruits and vegetables for home consumption.
14. Sweet potato storage.
15. Small fruits for home and market.
16. Home or family orchard or fruit garden.
17. Market garden management.
18. Boys' and girls' garden, canning and potato clubs.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In co-operation with the county agent, a representative of this department selects a definite part of an orchard or garden which has not been producing satisfactory results. This is known as a demonstration plat. The pruning, fertilizing, cultivating, thinning, grading, packing and other treatments needed for the year are outlined in writing by the department. The operations are carried out by the owner under the supervision of the department and county agent co-operating. The owner is urged to keep a record on forms furnished him. Not more than 10 per cent usually keep reliable records, but written statements from the owners, county agent or specialist serve to show the results obtained. Most demonstrators insist upon working the whole orchard according to plans outlined for the demonstration plat, so that it is difficult and often impossible to report accurate results.

The county agent arranges and advertises the demonstration whenever possible. Two demonstrations are held in one day when local conditions permit. Several articles are prepared for the press during the season.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

During 1918 there were fifty-nine orchard management demonstrations in thirty counties. The orchards in which these were located comprise 2,640 acres, or approximately 132,000 trees.

Twenty-six home garden management demonstrations were conducted in twelve counties.

One hundred and twenty pruning demonstrations were held during the winter of 1918-1919 which 1,422 fruit growers and farmers attended.

Thirty-five spraying demonstrations were given with an attendance of 700 people.

Thirty-five demonstrations in the control of meadow and pine mice were held at which 715 people were present.

Demonstrations in bridge grafting were given in many places.

Six schools have been furnished with landscape gardening plans.

Bulletins on strawberry culture, grape culture, bush fruit culture, home orcharding and establishing the orchard have been gotten out.

Ninety-seven boys enrolled in the potato club, 1,111 in garden clubs and eighteen in tomato clubs.

Bulletin No. 46, "Twenty Lessons on Vegetable Production," has been prepared and published.

In horticultural extension work the results along most lines are slowly accumulated, thus making it difficult to show any great gain in dollars and cents in one year. Fertilizer work is an exception and largely because of the quick and contrasting results generous response has followed this line of work.

The need of orchard fertilization was realized several years ago, and the department constantly urged a more general use of nitrate of soda and acid phosphate. Many orchardists were advised to use one or both of these fertilizers, but few actually followed the recommendations until in 1918. By that time the department had succeeded in getting a few orchardists in most of the leading fruit sections to fertilize. These few served as demonstrations to such an extent that the demand for detailed fertilization advice became much greater during the spring of 1918, accompanied by fully 100 per cent more users, which brought the results to the notice of a still larger number of orchardists. Thus in spite of the high price demanded for nitrate of soda the orders from orchardists have more than doubled each of the past two seasons. Prospects for 1920 are still better. One locality that could hardly be induced to use nitrate of soda two years ago gives promise of using 400 tons in 1920.

It is believed that fully 75 per cent of the orchards of Virginia will respond to fertilizers. Fertilizer instructions were given in person and by means of correspondence to over 400 fruit growers during the year.

CHANGES IN HORTICULTURAL WORK.

With the withdrawal of the emergency appropriation, work in the horticultural department had to be curtailed. During the coming year three men will be employed instead of five. The number of orchard management demonstrations will be decreased. However, this will be partially taken care of by the county agents, who are becoming more capable of handling these plats each year.

DAIRYING.

Project 8.

R. H. Ruffner was appointed dairy husbandman July 1, 1918, but before the year was out resigned to enter other work; therefore the report on dairying is not as complete, nor does it show as much work accomplished, as is desirable.

A large part of the dairy husbandman's time while he was employed by the extension division was spent in becoming familiar with conditions throughout the State. The influenza epidemic prevented him from holding many meetings. However, he laid a foundation for valuable work, and it is regretted that he could not remain to complete it.

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

1. The organization of cow testing associations.
2. The organization of breeders' associations.
3. The organization of consignment sales.
4. The production of home-grown feeds.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In order that the dairy husbandman might do effective work the first thing he had to do was to gain the confidence of the county agents and dairymen throughout the State. This was done by means of personal visits to the agents, who took the dairy husbandman to visit farmers on their own farms. Opportunity was taken to address as many public meetings as possible. Follow-up work was done by means of personal letters.

During the period employed the dairy husbandman traveled 7,844 miles, visited ninety-three farmers, wrote 116 personal letters, judged three fairs, and addressed twenty-one meetings, with a total attendance of 1,135 people.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

Two new cow testing associations were organized during 1918, and a great deal of work was done to keep alive the associations already in existence. On account of war conditions it was practically impossible to get and keep testers, as most of them either volunteered or were taken in the draft.

Two consignment sales were put on, one by the Albemarle Holstein Breeders' Association and the other by the Virginia Holstein-Friesian Club. These sales were well attended and the cattle brought satisfactory prices. The breeders expect to make these sales annual affairs.

The Virginia Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Association, the Virginia Jersey Breeders' Association and the Virginia Guernsey Breeders' Association were strengthened and new members added. Each of these associations held banquets at the State Dairymen's Association, and much breed enthusiasm was exhibited.

The dairy husbandman gave particular attention to the formation of local breeders' associations.

Throughout the whole year efforts were made to get the farmers to produce more home-grown feeds for dairy cattle, special emphasis being placed on the production of silage, alfalfa and other legumes. Talks were made on this subject at the State Dairymen's Association and the smaller meetings throughout the State. The dairy husbandman gave personal assistance in the erecting of a number of silos.

Perhaps the most notable piece of work started by the dairy husbandman was the assistance given in organizing the first Virginia dairy calf club. This was organized in Henrico county, with fifteen members. The Chamber of Commerce of the city of Richmond advanced the money to the boys and girls for the purchase of these calves, taking their notes as security. The calves were bought from one of the best herds around Richmond. So much interest is being taken in this club that a number of the other agents are getting ready to organize dairy calf clubs in their counties.

POULTRY CLUBS.

Project 8.

The work done under this project was conducted by Mr. N. E. B. Talcott until December 1, 1918. He was a joint employee of the Bureau of Animal Industry and the extension division, giving all of his time to club work. He contracted influenza in December, which resulted fatally. This project was discontinued on account of inability to get another man for the work.

The results accomplished under this project up until the time of Mr. Talcott's death will be given under Project 19, Poultry Husbandry.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERING.

Project 10.

The work of the Department of Agricultural Engineering is steadily growing as shown by increased demands for help in land drainage, farm machinery, etc. M. L. Nichols had charge of this department from July 1, 1918, to April 21, 1919. Charles E. Seltz was associated with him from January up until the time of his resignation, at which time Mr. Seltz was made head of the Agricultural Engineering Department.

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

The principal farm and home problems attacked in this project are as follows:

1. Land drainage.
2. Terracing.
3. Land clearing.
4. Farm building.
5. Farm machinery.
6. Power farming.
7. Domestic engineering, including lighting systems, water works and farm sanitation.
8. Miscellaneous engineering activities.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In the land drainage work surveys were made of farm lands needing drainage, and maps prepared showing the location of tile systems, depth, grade, size of tile, and all information necessary to install the drainage system properly. A report is made in each case giving the cost of installation and suggestions for carrying out the work. When the tile is in place on the farm the engineer stakes out the system, gives the depth of cuts, and supervises the laying of the tile.

All of the work done in agricultural engineering is done in connection and with the assistance of the county agent. The agent locates land in his county needing drainage or terracing, notifies the engineer, and arranges for a demonstration. Other interested farmers are invited to the demonstration. This is also true in demonstrations on the use of labor-saving farm machinery. A number of these demonstrations have been held with tractors and labor-saving machinery which were attended by from three to five thousand farmers each. When a tractor demonstration is to be held the engineer arranges with the tractor manufacturers to demonstrate their machines. He then advertises the demonstration through the papers and by circular letters. The county agents in all cases co-operate.

This department co-operates with the Home Economics Department in giving farmers advice on the best methods of installing lighting and water systems in farm homes. The women agents advise their farm women to write the department for information along these lines. In a few cases personal aid is given, but these cases are necessarily limited, as the time cannot be spared from other projects.

Farm building plans of the most improved styles of barn structure, etc., are prepared by the engineer. These plans are distributed to farmers on request. The county agents advise their farmers who are going to build of this plan of service.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

During the past year eighty-one farmers have been given actual field assistance in drainage and 500 bulletins on farm drainage were sent out on request.

Demonstrations in drainage were conducted on sixty-one farms comprising 1,908 acres. Surveys were made on these farms and maps prepared. Advice on drainage was given on twenty additional farms comprising 1,000 acres of wet land.

In practically every case where the tile has been laid long enough for a crop to be produced wonderful results are seen. For example, on the farm of James Twyman, Fincastle, Va., a piece of land of about thirty-five acres were rendered useless for crops on account of wetness. After draining it he has been able to work it three days after the hardest rain. This is better than he can do on his so-called dry land, which is not tile drained. Mr. Twyman states that he will harvest seventy-five bushels of corn per acre on this land this year.

The increased yield will more than pay for the cost of drainage.

During the year two brick companies were persuaded to put in drain tile plants, and one ditching machine organization was started. The home tile plants saved the farmers at least $5.00 per thousand feet on tile.

Assistance was given to thirty-five farmers in terracing.

In land clearing problems 2,000 farmers were assisted.

In seven counties twenty-eight demonstrations in clearing were held with a total attendance of 2,000.

Personal assistance was given to fifteen farmers in erecting farm buildings.

Several hundred blue prints of barns, tool sheds, hog houses, self-feeders, etc., sent out.

In twenty-five counties 148 demonstrations were given to show the proper use of soil fitting tools in connection with the sowing of spring crops and top dressing wheat.

A one-week tractor school was held at Roanoke, with an attendance of 1,000 farmers.

Three power farming demonstrations, held during the year, with an attendance of 14,000 farmers.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

The most important piece of extension work accomplished during the year was the organization of the Rappahannock Tile Drainage Company. With the assistance of the county agent several farmers of King George county were persuaded to form a ditching company for the purpose of digging ditches for tile drainage work. The lack of labor for this type of work makes it practically impossible to do satisfactory drainage without a power ditcher.

A Buckeye Tractor Ditcher was purchased and put to work in the county. This machine cost $2,800.00, and will easily ditch 2,000 feet a day. It is doing splendid work and has created a great deal of interest in tile drainage in King George county. The farmers who belong to the organization or who hold stock in the machine have faith in it and believe it will do more for King George and adjoining counties than anything started in that section.

The agricultural engineer believes this to be the most important piece of extension work accomplished this year because it will furnish a means of draining many thousands of acres of wet land in that section of the State.

As a result of a similar organization formed by this department some years ago on the Eastern Shore over one-half million feet of tile have been laid in the past year, and two machines are now in full operation in that section, with the possibility of two more at an early date. Wherever ditching machines can be located in the State thousands of acres of land will be drained. There are now five of the latest models of farm ditching machines in the State—all of them bought at the suggestion of this department.

CHANGES IN THE WORK.

Power farming is exerting a great influence on the methods of farming in the State. Most of the farmers who are using tractors have had to change their systems of farming completely. They are rearranging their fields, changing their crop rotations, etc.

The tractor is necessitating the filling of wet places on the farm, covering up of open ditches, straightening of fences, and in this way making the farm much more attractive. Above all it is helping solve the labor problem and exerting a great influence towards keeping the boy on the farm.

PRACTICAL PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

1. Production and preservation of fruits and vegetables with a little home dairying.
2. Cleaning up homes and communities. Care of children. Prevention of contagious disease.
3. Help in remodeling homes and introducing labor-saving devices.
4. Plain cooking, planning of meals, prevention of waste. Some poultry.
5. General thrift in home, cleaning, white washing. Repairs in house and yard.
6. Encouraging native industry—making of baskets, rugs, brooms, mattresses, etc. Making and using home conveniences.
7. Caring for family wardrobe.

METHOD OF PROCEDURE.

The method varies somewhat from that used with the white people, in that more individual work is done by the negro agents. An effort is being made to get away from this method as soon as possible, but for the present, when so many of the race can neither read nor write, the individual work is necessary.

Campaigns for better health and cleaning up were put on in almost every county. These campaigns were put on in co-operation with the Negro Organization Society, after consultation with the State home demonstration agent. It seemed best to have all campaigns worked in co-operation with the negro organization because that is the strongest negro force in the State and better results are obtained by working with them. Reports are made to this office, as are those of the campaigns put on by the white agents.

In one county a splendid "better baby" campaign was carried on. During this time special emphasis was placed upon proper food for babies.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

It is difficult to give these. The figures given later as to home and community improvement speak for themselves. Fifty-four counties we have had 17,809 women and girls working along demonstration methods under one group or another. In addition to the regular workers, a low estimate of others reached through public meetings and otherwise is 36,181. Many of these are using home demonstration methods of work. Taking these figures as an estimate it is safe to assume that 10,789 homes were definitely helped.

GIRLS' WORK.

About 7,821 girls have been interested in some phase of demonstration work and 1,100 girls are doing special garden work that covers the whole year, winter as well as summer. After they have completed the courses given in their home schools, 250 girls and 150 boys have been persuaded to go on with their education.

Below are statistics of girls:

Canning.

Membership .....	7,821
No. containers put up.....	204,745
Bushels vegetables dried.....	5,972
Bushels fruit dried.....	2,277

WOMEN.

There are 6,479 negro women enrolled as regular workers. They, like the white women, were straining every nerve to "help win the war" during the summer of 1918, and, unlike the white women, they seemed willing to report all they did. Therefore, a fuller report of work accomplished than by white women is available. This report covers fifty-four counties. They were urged to take up definite home and community problems as they saw the need. Below are statistics of the 8,277 women who accomplished this great work:

Canning.

No. containers put up (fruit and vegetables).....	98,521
No. bushels dried fruits.....	8,608

Many home conveniences have been introduced, such as oil stoves, new cook stoves, patent churns, washing and sewing machines. Some work has been done towards remodeling kitchens and more will be attempted for the coming year. One county specialized on fireless cookers with excellent results.

Urban work was done in Norfolk, Newport News, Portsmouth, Lynchburg, Danville and Petersburg. No central kitchens were established, but they used the school kitchens and certain homes as centers. In this way they were able to help the women save a large amount of food stuffs. Figures for urban work are included in the statement above.

Sewing.—In this club special emphasis was placed upon the selection of suitable materials for clothes and also renovating old ones. All this related directly to the home.

Advisory Boards.—Many of the counties have organized advisory boards and are beginning to realize how much more can be accomplished if one has many people interested in helping to carry out plans.

Short Courses.—These have not been possible yet for the colored girls, but there is a growing demand and another year will find the experiment being tried out in one or two of the counties.

NEGRO MEN.

Project No. 12.

Extension work with negro farmers is carried on in most of the counties in Southeastern Virginia. The work is largely confined to this territory because most of the negro farmers in the State are in this section. J. B. Pierce and C. C. H. Thompson, assistant leaders in this project, are located at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va. The county workers are known as local agents and during the past year have been located as follows:

FARM AND HOME PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

The principal farm and home problems attacked by these agents were, first, the organization of advisory boards, community clubs, farmers' conferences and county fairs; second, conducting demonstrations with the leading crops and livestock; third, aiding the United States government in general war activities.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

As stated above, the work with the negro men is done directly from the Negro Agricultural School at Hampton. The immediate supervisor of the work is the district agent, whose headquarters are at Hampton, but this district agent is in close touch with the assistant director and the director of the extension division at Blacksburg, and formulates all plans for the development of the work that his assistants advise. The counties where the work is carried on put up from $150.00 to $300.00 each for this work, and the rest of the money for its support is appropriated from regular extension funds.

The work to be done by local agents is mapped out very definitely by their district agent with the assistance of the director and assistant director of extension work. During the past year all of the local agents have been collecting complete lists of the farming families in their counties, showing the land owners and tenants. While this survey is being made each family in a community is canvassed for membership in the community club. Every county where an agent is employed to do work with the negroes has a number of community clubs. These community clubs attack family and community problems. One or more representatives from each community are elected as members of the county advisory board. This county advisory board assists the local agent in finding the needs of the county and working out a plan for meeting them. An annual farmers' conference is held in each county and whenever possible representatives from these conferences are sent to the annual State conference at Hampton Institute.

The agents secure demonstrators in crops, livestock and home improvement as largely as possible through their community organizations, but, of course, a great deal of individual work still has to be done.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

During the past year a conference has been held in each county and progressive programs arranged. Advisory boards have been organized in every county worked and about 75 per cent of all of the communities in the counties worked are organized. Each county has held a fair, where the products of the negro farmers were exhibited.

Assistance was given in the Victory loan drive and other drives conducted for financing war activities. Assistance has also been given in finding employment for returned soldiers.

The main results of the work, however, are secured from the conducting of actual demonstrations with farmers on their own farms. The principal demonstrations with crops and livestock are given below:

Crop	No. Demonstrators and Co-operators	Acres Planted	Average Yield
Corn .....	9,076	37,158	30.2 bu.
Wheat .....	3,774	10,582	12.2 bu.
Alfalfa .....	91	118	2.9 tons
Mixed grass and clover.....	648	1,622	1.3 tons
Soy beans and cow peas.....	1,718	5,116

While the yield of the above crops, grown by the negroes, are not as large as the yields made by the white farmers, it is very gratifying indeed to note that a greater number of negro farmers are each year growing their home supplies. Negro farmers have in the past practiced less diversification than any other class of farmers in the State. However, this is rapidly being overcome where we have agents.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN LIVESTOCK.

The negro farmers have not yet undertaken to grow much pure bred livestock, but they are taking more interest in this subject than ever before. During the past year the local agents were instrumental in getting their farmers to buy twenty-one pure bred boars, twenty-eight pure bred sows and 284 grade sows. Pure bred hogs are easier to get started with than most any other form of livestock and negro farmers naturally take to this form of livestock first.

MISCELLANEOUS DEMONSTRATIONS.

Kind	Number
Orchards .....	341
Poultry .....	15
Livestock diseases .....	754
Fertilizer .....	5,431
Manure .....	4,050
Lime .....	680
Buildings improved .....	824
Homes screened .....	2,076

It can be seen from the above that the negro agents have been particularly active in improving home conditions. This is very much needed in the State, and a splendid work is being done along this line by both men and women negro agents.

MOST IMPORTANT ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Perhaps the most important accomplishment of the local agents during the past year has been the sane leadership which they have given their people during the period of inevitable race clashes and differences brought on by the war. At the annual meeting of the agents at Hampton last winter the point was strongly stressed that the local agents would be expected to give their people correct information as to the attitude of the white people toward them and to show them that the best interests of both races are the same. The agents expressed themselves very freely along this line and a splendid understanding was arrived at. Members of boards of supervisors have stated during the past year that they thought the local agent has had more influence than any other factor in keeping the proper feeling between the two races in Virginia.

It is very gratifying to note that there has been no race clash in this State during the past year, and it is believed that the intelligent leadership furnished by the local agent has largely prevented this.

MOVABLE SCHOOLS.Project No. 13.*

A few movable schools have been put on each year in counties making requests for the same. Each agent is asked to determine whether there is a demand for such a school in his county. If he reports that there is a demand he is requested to get at least fifty farmers to sign a petition asking for the school. When this petition is properly signed and sent in arrangements are made to hold a three-day school at the place requested.

These schools are conducted along general agricultural lines, giving special lectures and demonstrations in horticulture; animal husbandry, agronomy, home economics, etc. Sometimes a special school is held.

In 1918 ten movable schools on general agriculture were held in many counties, with a total attendance of 3,062 people. Plans were made for conducting a similar series of schools on a much larger scale in 1919, but the outbreak of influenza made this impracticable.

A special tractor school was held in Roanoke during the winter for one week. It is estimated that about 1,000 farmers attended this school during the week. Practical work in tractor troubles were the subjects stressed by the instructors. The tractor companies furnished fifteen tractors for instructional work. This was the first school of its kind ever held in the State and was of immense value to the farmers.

The movable school project had to be discontinued on account of shortage of funds, but it is hoped that this work can be taken up again later.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB WORK.Project No. 14.*

The club work was administratively under the assistant director, J. R. Hutcheson, but the actual leadership of the project and the development of the same was done by Charles G. Burr, State boys' club agent, and B. O.

Bradshaw, assistant State boys' club agent. The specialists in every department of the extension division were called on whenever needed and gave much assistance to the club department. These specialists were of particular assistance in preparing club literature along their special lines.

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

The aims of the boys' club department for the period covered by this report are briefly as follows:

To increase economic production of farm crops.

To encourage farm boys to learn progressive money-making farm practices through practical demonstrations on the farms, thus increasing their interest in farm life.

To win adult farmers for the progressive farming platform through the influence of demonstrations conducted by farm boys.

To bring about community organizations for economics and social advantages by demonstrating the value of organization through the activities of the boys' agricultural clubs.

In order to accomplish these aims the following clubs were organized:

1. Corn clubs.
2. Pig clubs.
3. Poultry clubs.
4. Baby beef clubs.
5. Peanut clubs.
6. Miscellaneous club organizations.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In all counties having agents the club work was put on through the agents. In counties where there were no agents school teachers and other local leaders were used. The club department furnished these agents and local leaders with all material necessary, consisting of club requirement and enrollment cards, enrollment buttons, club emblem cards, secretary's minute books, report cards, bulletins, etc.

In addition, a regular club paper was issued monthly, giving instructions and items of interest to both agents and club members.

A definite plan of club organization was initiated in the State and considerable progress made. This plan calls for the organization of club members in the various communities into regular clubs. Much assistance was given the agents in forming these organizations.

The short courses and encampments put on during the summer also helped considerably in developing interest in club work.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

Forty-five agricultural clubs were organized in nineteen counties with a total membership of 574. Regular meetings were held, at which an average of seven members and four visitors were present.

Three thousand three hundred and fifty-eight white boys were enrolled in the corn club, from whom 836 reports were received, showing an average yield of 43.6 bushels per acre at an average cost of 54 cents per bushel.

Five hundred and sixty-eight negro boys were enrolled in corn clubs, from whom 259 reports were received, showing an average yield of 34.2 bushels per acre at an average cost of 32 cents per bushel.

One hundred and seventy-eight white boys were enrolled in peanut clubs, but only forty-four of these sent in complete reports. These reports show an average yield of fifty-five bushels per acre at a cost of 62 cents per bushel.

Eighty-seven negro boys were enrolled in peanut clubs, from whom five reports were received. Reports show an average yield of 30.8 bushels per acre at a cost of 58 cents per bushel.

One thousand and sixty-three boys were enrolled in pig clubs and 346 in poultry clubs. About 600 reports received from these members show that the livestock club work is very profitable.

In addition to the above 613 white boys and 140 negro boys were enrolled in miscellaneous crop clubs.

The banks of the State loaned $9,415.00 to club members and gave prizes amounting to $10,758. The bankers are showing increased interest and co-operation each year in club work.

SPECIAL FEATURE.

Perhaps the most important piece of club work accomplished during the year was the growth of the pure bred pig club work. Pig clubs were started in this State in 1916 with 282 members, practically all of whom were raising grade pigs. In 1917 out of the 516 pigs raised by club members over four-fifths of them were grade pigs. At this time a careful study of the pig club work lead to the conclusion that the fattening pig club was practically worthless under the present conditions of hog industry in this State, and that our important need was for pure bred pig clubs. Experience taught us that the fattening pig club did not ordinarily develop an influential demonstration: that because of inferior breeding and other factors club members and their parents could not usually be stimulated to feed and care for the fattening pig except as was customary on the particular farm.

The story of the pure bred pig club is quite different. The majority of members in this club carried out the demonstration plans for feeding and caring for their pigs. This club gave the following desirable results:

1. Demonstrated the advantages of proper feeding and care.
2. Demonstrated the advantage of better stock.
3. Afforded a method of rapidly increasing the number of pure bred pigs in the State.

With these facts in mind efforts were centered upon the pure bred pig club. The enrollment for the year was 1,063, practically 100 per cent increase over the previous year. Over 75 per cent of these pure bred pigs carrying the best blood in the several breeds.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS.

Project No. 15.

In 1916 arrangements were made with the Department of Agriculture whereby community programs were furnished the community leagues organized by the Co-operative Education Association of Virginia for their regular monthly meetings. This work was kept up through 1917, and money was budgeted for same for 1918, but the work was discontinued in the beginning of the year, so there is nothing to report under this head.

AGRONOMY.

Project No. 16.

Mr. E. R. Hodgson served as leader in this project for the fiscal year 1918-1919. The principal farm and home problems attacked by him are given below:

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

1. Farm management records.
2. Increased wheat production for 1919.
3. Corn and small grain show.
4. Improved seed corn communities.
5. Variety demonstrations with corn, soy beans and cow peas.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

Consultations are held with the directors of extension and the subject matter departments of the college before any special line of work is started. After a plan of work has been outlined the matter is taken up with the district and county agents in order to secure their assistance in reaching the farm owners. Records are kept by the county agents of the names of farmers on whose farms the projects are conducted, the progress the farmer is making, and the interest shown by others as evidenced by meetings and inquiries. Where farm management record books are being kept the leader of this project visits the farmers keeping these records as often as possible.

When campaigns are put on press material is prepared in the office at Blacksburg and sent out to the county agents for use in local papers. Farm bureaus, local and county farmers' unions and independent farmers' clubs are used as a means of advertising some of the projects.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

One hundred and fifty farmers were started in keeping record books during the spring of 1918; 108 of these farmers kept the records satisfactorily; about thirty kept them partially; the remainder kept them a few months then dropped out. Those who kept complete records last year are doing the same this year, and a few others have been added.

Virginia increased her wheat acreage 15 per cent in the fall of 1918, and a large part of this increase was due to the efforts of the extension division in its wheat campaign.

One of the best corn and small grain shows ever held in the State was held in Lynchburg in the month of December. Boys' club members and members of the Virginia Corn Growers' Association had exhibits at this show. After the show the corn was sold at public auction, and in this way high-grade corn was scattered over the State.

During the fiscal year the leader of the project traveled 15,000 miles, made 150 personal visits to farmers, held sixty-five conferences with county agents, addressed sixty-five meetings with a total attendance of 5,000 people, and wrote thirty press articles, reaching approximately 60,000 people.

SPECIAL FEATURE.

The campaign put on to increase the yield of the 1919 wheat crop was the most important piece of work accomplished by the agronomy department between July 1, 1918, and June 30, 1919. The yield and acreage in the different counties were ascertained and definite increases recommended which ranged from 5 to 100 per cent. Personal visits were made, and farmers' institutes and seed testing demonstrations were held in July, August and September. Speakers from the other departments volunteered their services, newspapers and railroad bulletins gave space, moving picture houses flashed slides on the screens and many other factors helped to make this important piece of work a success.

PATHOLOGY.

Project No. 17.

Dr. F. D. Fromme has taken an active part in all plant pathology extension work, and acted as leader for this project for the extension division.

Mr. J. M. LeCato was employed in co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture from July 22nd to October 28th. During this period he devoted his time to discovering the extent of nematode disease in wheat and finding sources of seed which were free therefrom. Dr. Fromme assisted very materially in this. The nematode was found in twenty-eight counties in the State, one sample of wheat showing as high as 54 per cent nematode galls. Several fairs were attended where exhibits of nematode were made and methods of combatting smut demonstrated.

On account of the resignation of Mr. LeCato on October 28th work in this project had to be discontinued.

FORESTRY.

Project No. 18.

A co-operative agreement was entered into with the State Forester at the University of Virginia for some work under this project, but on account of the man who was to do this work entering the army nothing definite was accomplished.

POULTRY HUSBANDRY.

Project No. 19.

The work in this project is done under leadership of A. F. Treakle. Up until December, 1918, Mr. N. E. B. Talcott was associated with Mr. Treakle in the poultry work. However, most of Mr. Talcott's time was given to club work.

PROBLEMS ATTACKED.

1. Early hatching.
2. Care of baby chicks.

3. Infertile eggs.
4. Culling the non-producing hen.
5. Increase of standard bred flocks.
6. Better poultry houses.

METHODS EMPLOYED.

In the "Early Hatching," "Care of Baby Chicks," "Infertile Eggs," and "Better Poultry Houses," problems the method of procedure is to distribute circulars, bulletins, etc., along these lines at the proper season of the year and to publish articles in the club paper, Extension Division News and other newspapers. This publicity work is followed up by lectures and talks in high schools and at farmers meetings.

The work in "Culling the Non-Productive Hen" is started the same way and then followed up by actual culling demonstrations in the field and at meetings of farmers called by the agents.

RESULTS OBTAINED.

As a result of the work done in this department there has been a very large increase in the use of incubators in the State, and many raisers this year completed their hatching by the time they usually begin to set eggs. The many inquiries received as to how to meet the problems of baby chicks indicated wide interest.

Observation of many flocks and talks with a number of the farmers of the State led to the conclusion that more people disposed of their roosters the past year than ever before. Near the cities and larger towns many raisers are keeping their main flocks without males all the year round, and using males only in the breeding pens.

Much interest has been awakened in the work of culling the non-producing hen. This is evidenced by the number of calls from county farm and home demonstration agents for instruction along this line.

Frequent calls for plans and for advice as to how to build new houses show the progress that is being made in this line.

In January the prevalence of influenza, which caused the closing of so many schools, made the enrollment of poultry members very slow, but during February and March there was great activity, and the reports from the various county agents show 320 clubs formed with 2,523 members enrolled. Considering the fact that poultry club enrollment should have begun in November, and that it was impossible to do anything at all until February, the reports show a very encouraging condition.

The fact that twenty-one men agents and twenty-six women agents have undertaken poultry club work this year in contrast to four men and twenty-five women last year indicates a much greater interest in poultry work than ever before.

The poultry specialist traveled 14,449 miles during the year, made thirty visits to men agents, sixty-one visits to women agents, gave twenty-seven culling demonstrations with an attendance of 574, six caponizing demonstrations with an attendance of fifty-nine, eight judging demonstrations with an attendance of 415, and attended eight short courses, with an attendance of 1,205. He gave altogether 146 poultry lectures, with an attendance of 11,046.

CONTROLLING RODENTS.

The work under this project is outlined in the horticultural report. On account of the shortage of funds this project was discontinued July 1, 1919.

ENTOMOLOGY.

Project No. 21.

Special work in the control of truck and garden insects was started December 1, 1917, with the Bureau of Entomology, Department of Agriculture and State Entomologist, W. J. Schoene, of the crop pest office, co-operating. H. N. Gellert worked as special agent and devoted his time equally between Virginia and North Carolina until March 24, 1919. Most of his efforts were along the lines of combatting insect control with truck crops in the vicinity of Norfolk.

W. J. Price, of the Crop Pest Commission of the State, was appointed emergency entomologist in deciduous fruits December 1, 1918, in co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture. His time was entirely taken up in giving instruction to fruit growers and farmers on the proper methods of controlling insects that attack fruits, vegetables and farm crops. A more complete report of the work done under this project will be found in the report on horticulture. Many posters on insect control, circulars and letters have been distributed.

COMMUNICATION

FROM THE

COMMISSIONER OF PROHIBITION

IN RESPONSE TO A RESOLUTION OF THE

---

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
OFFICE OF STATE COMMISSIONER OF PROHIBITION,
RICHMOND, VA., February 24, 1920.

HON. RICHARD L. BREWER, JR.,
Speaker of the House of Delegates,
Richmond, Va.

HONORABLE AND DEAR SIR:

In response to a resolution of the House of Delegates adopted February 16, 1920, of which I was notified by mail on the 17th of February, requesting a memorandum of the amount of intoxicating liquors delivered by the Commissioner of Prohibition to physicians and druggists, from March 1, 1918, to the date of the adoption of the resolution, giving the names of the physicians, the amount delivered to each, together with the prices paid by them, the following memoranda is respectfully submitted:

This information would have been furnished immediately but for the labor involved of examining every transaction in ardent spirits since the law requiring this department to dispose of the same became effective, classifying between druggists and physicians and eliminating hospitals, manufacturers of flavoring extracts, eleemosynary institutions, etc. These eliminations do not amount to a great many items, but are eliminated to comply with the resolution, and will be promptly furnished also if desired.

While your resolution merely calls for the prices paid, we do not understand whether you mean the prices per gallon or a total amount of the invoice; therefore, we have given both, but your attention is called to the fact that in the amount of the invoice, there is sometimes included, when necessary, the cost of transportation permits and prohibition revenue stamps purchased in the same transaction; thus the small excess in the amount paid to the department above the amount of the ardent spirits is for permits and stamps purchased at the same time.

The aggregate quantity sold to the above two classes covered by this memorandum is 15,739½ gallons.

The amount of every memorandum listed hereunder has been received by this department, and all amounts received up to February 1, 1920, have been accounted for and settled with the Auditor of Public Accounts.

You will note that in several memoranda disbursements were made by local officers; sometimes a chief health officer, sometimes a mayor, Commonwealth's attorney or a judge. These were urgent cases during the emergency dreaded by the epidemic of influenza, when these officials kindly represented the department in local distribution among physicians.

Respectfully submitted,

J. SIDNEY PETERS,

Commissioner of Prohibition.

Chap. 352—An Act to create a commission to consider the compensation of court clerks, examiners of records, treasurers, commissioners of the revenue, sheriffs, high constables, and city sergeants, and until action upon the report of said commission to fix the maximum amount of the compensation of said officers. (S. B. 146.)

Approved March 27, 1914.

(Section 1. Amended by Chap. 110, Acts 1918.)

(Section 9. Amended by Chap. 395, Acts 1918.)

Section 1. (As amended by Act, approved March 9, 1918, Chap. 110, Acts 1918.) No court clerk, treasurer, commissioner of the revenue, sheriff, high constable or city sergeant shall receive, directly or indirectly, as his total annual compensation for his services, including all his salaries, allowances, commissions and fees, whether derived from the State, or any political subdivision thereof, or from any person or corporation, an amount in excess of the sums hereinafter named, to-wit:

In cities having a population of sixty thousand or more, said compensation for any such officer shall not exceed the sum of sixty-five hundred dollars per annum; with a population of between twenty-five thousand and sixty thousand, such compensation shall not exceed fifty-five hundred dollars per annum; with a population between twenty thousand and twenty-five thousand, said compensation shall not exceed five thousand dollars per annum; with a population below twenty thousand, said compensation shall not exceed four thousand dollars per annum; provided that this act shall not apply nor be operative as to cities or towns with a population of less than four thousand; nor shall it apply or be operative as to any office or officer where the total annual gross compensation of such office or officer received from all sources, directly or indirectly, does not exceed the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars; as of December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and provided that in determining the compensation of such officers hereunder, any additional compensation allowed city treasurers by the respective city councils for the collection and disbursement of city levies and licenses, or for the discharge of any other duties imposed upon such treasurers by the councils of such cities shall be disregarded; and provided that, in cities containing more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand inhabitants, the compensation to be paid the city treasurer shall not exceed the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars per annum.

In counties with a population of fifty thousand or more, the said compensation for any such officer shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars per annum; with a population between thirty-two thousand and fifty thousand, the said compensation shall not exceed forty-five hundred dollars per annum; with a population under thirty-two thousand such compensation shall not exceed four thousand dollars per annum.

For the purpose of this act the population of each county and city shall be as shown in the United States census report of nineteen hundred and ten.

No clerk of the supreme court of appeals shall receive as his total compensation, as aforesaid, an amount in excess of five thousand dollars per annum.

No examiner of records shall receive as his total compensation, from fees and commissions allowed by law, an amount in excess of four thousand dollars per annum, and the sums actually paid out by him for necessary office expenses and the amounts actually paid by him as premiums of the official bonds of himself or clerks, and as compensation to his deputies and assistants. Provided, however, that nothing in this act shall affect the compensation of examiners for omitted taxes for years prior to nineteen hundred and fifteen.

Sec. 2. Each of said officers, on and after the next anniversary of the beginning of the terms of their respective offices as prescribed by law shall keep a full and accurate account of all such fees, allowances, commissions, and salaries to which he is entitled under the law, and also of all such fees, allowances, commissions and salaries actually collected by him and the date of such collections and the sources from which the same were derived. And the said accounts shall be kept in a book and the form and manner of keeping the same shall be prescribed by the auditor of public accounts, and the said book shall at all times be open to public inspection.

Sec. 3. Each of said officers shall annually within fifteen days after the close of each anniversary of the beginning the terms of their respective offices as aforesaid file with the auditor of public accounts a full and accurate statement showing all such fees, allowances, commissions and salaries collected by him, and a like statement of all such fees, allowances, commissions and salaries chargeable under the law, but not collected by him, which statements shall be verified by affidavit, and each of said officers shall retain as his compensation out of said fees, allowances, commissions and salaries an amount not in excess of the same hereinbefore named, and may also deduct all sums actually paid out by him for necessary office expenses, and the amounts actually paid by him as premiums on the official bond of himself or deputies, and as compensation to his deputies or assistants; provided, however, that the amount so paid out in expenses, premiums and compensation as aforesaid shall in no case exceed the amount so paid out in the conduct of the affairs of said offices respectively during the year ending December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and thirteen; provided, further, that in case of sheriffs and city sergeants allowances for expenses shall be increased or decreased in proportion to any increase or decrease, as the case may be, in the average number of prisoners kept by them; provided, further, that each of said officers shall on or before July first, nineteen hundred and fourteen transmit, to the auditor of public accounts a statement verified by affidavit showing the amounts so paid out for office expenses, in premiums on said bonds and in compensation of deputies and assistant during said year of nineteen hundred and thirteen, and the names of the persons to whom said amounts were paid.

Sec. 4. Each of said officers at the time of filing the annual statement of his fees, allowances, commissions, and salaries as aforesaid shall pay into the State treasury in the manner prescribed by law any sums in excess of the aggregate amount of his own compensation as herein prescribed and office expenses, premiums on bonds and compensation of his deputies and assistants as aforesaid, and one-half of the amount so paid into the State treasury shall be turned into the treasury of the city or county of the said officers, respectively; provided, however, that all the amounts paid in by the clerks of the supreme court of appeals and examiners of records shall be retained in the treasury of the State.

Sec. 5. All statements filed with the auditor under this act shall be referred by him to a commission which is hereby created, and which shall consist of the governor, auditor of public accounts and the State accountant, who shall serve on said commission without compensation, and the said commission shall study said statements and compare the same, and may require further information under oath from any of said officers and their deputies or other persons, and shall report at the next session of the General Assembly whether said offices are economically administered, what compensation should thereafter be paid to said officers and how many deputies or assistants, if any, are necessary to the efficient performance of the duties of the said officers, and what should be the compensation of such deputies and assistants; what allowance, if any, should be made for office expenses and premiums on official bonds and the manner in which said compensation should be paid or such allowances made, and all other matters deemed pertinent by any member of said commission.

Sec. 6. The said commission is hereby authorized and empowered to adjust equitably all questions of the division of compensation, allowances for deputies and assistants, office expenses and premiums on bonds which may arise under this act by reason of the change of incumbents in any such offices or from any other cause; provided, however, that all such adjustments shall be made as nearly as possible in accordance with the intent of this act.

And the said commission is hereby further authorized and empowered on written application from any of the said officers and on good cause shown, to increase the allowance made to said officers or deputies and assistants, office expenses and premiums on bonds; and in case the said commission grants any increase of allowance hereunder, they shall set out in their report their reason therefor.

Sec. 7. No county or city affected by this act shall, pending action upon the report of said commission, make any decrease in the salaries, allowances, commissions or fees made to any of said officers.

Sec. 8. Any officer failing to comply with the duties imposed upon him by this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars.

Sec. 9. (As amended by chapter 395, Acts 1918.) The provisions of this act limiting the compensation of said officers, shall not be effective until January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen. Provided, however, that none of the provisions of this act shall apply to the county of Prince George until the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-one.

Sec. 10. Provided, however, that the provisions of this act limiting the compensation of said officers shall not be effective until the expiration of the terms of office of the present incumbents in cities having a population of one hundred thousand and inhabitants or more.
